

FIVE YEARS FOR PONZI FOR RECEIVING PEOPLE WITH BIG PROFIT PLAN

Man Who Defrauded Thousands of People Out of Millions of Dollars Pleaded Guilty to Using the Mails in a Scheme to Defraud the Public.

SENTENCED ON ONE COUNT IN 43 FOUND

Ponzi Had Represented Falsely That He Was Able to Pay Interest at the Rate of 50 Per Cent in 45 Days From Profits Made in International Reply Coupons.

Boston, Nov. 30.—Charles Ponzi, promoter of the quick-rich scheme in which thousands of persons invested millions of dollars before it collapsed last August, pleaded guilty to using the mails in a scheme to defraud in the federal district court today.

Sentence of five years in the Plymouth county jail was imposed by Judge Hale. The court took into consideration only the first count of one indictment of 43 counts, in which it was charged that Ponzi had represented falsely that he was able to pay interest at the rate of 50 per cent in 45 days from profits made in international reply coupons.

In arguing on the question of sentence, Daniel H. Coakley, senior counsel for Ponzi, told the court that it was only after strenuous advice from counsel and members of the discredited financier's family that he agreed to retract his plea of not guilty and plead guilty. "Mr. Ponzi insisted, and still insists, that there was in his mind no intent to defraud anyone," his counsel declared.

The little Italian who, with prison sentences in Canada and this country behind him, developed a supposed scheme of exchange in international postal reply coupons to proportions that made him a marked man, and who managed to have his name and his money tangle over on him when the props of income from investors were pulled out, had an air of swagger when he faced the court. He was the same dapper man-about-town when he stepped from the Cambridge jail this morning as in the days when he was the idol of the street crowd. A new tailored suit, smart cravat, handkerchief in breast pocket and feet adorned with spats, made Ponzi again a man of presence. As he faced another long prison sentence, with his youthful wife sobbing on his shoulder, he peered in a memorandum block his parting words to the public: "Sic transit gloria mundi" (thus passes away the glory of the world), and handed it to the press.

When he went up to the bench to plead a moment later he was emphatic when he said "I do," to the clerk's question whether he wished to change his plea of not guilty, and was equally assertive as he made the plea "guilty" in loud tones in the next breath. Then Ponzi leaned over, resting his head on an arm, while he listened to his counsel's plea for a light sentence.

Ponzi was given a sentence of five years in the county jail in Plymouth with 85 counts of the federal indictments against him on file, and with charges of larceny in many counts outstanding against him in the state courts. He is due also to face his creditors, of whom there are more than 11,000. Dec. 8, when he will be subject to their interrogations as to what he did with the millions entrusted to him, of which his federal receivers have been unable to retrieve only a small part.

MAY FIGHT IN ENGLAND If No Suitable Place Can Be Found in United States for Boat.

New York, Nov. 30.—In the event that no suitable place can be secured in this country to hold the forthcoming heavyweight boxing championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, the contest may be staged in England, it is reported.

The proposition to shift the bout abroad has been prompted by coldness exhibited by members of the state boxing commission toward holding it in this state.

FIVE DRY SPOTS IN SCOTLAND

As Result of "Local Veto" Liquor Poll Taken Under the Temperance Act.

Edinburgh, Nov. 30.—Scotland has at least five dry spots: Kilsyth, Santhar, Kirkcaldy, Auchterarder and Rutherglen, as the result of the "local veto" liquor poll taken this month under the temperance act.

Two towns, Newport and Laughmole, voted for a limitation in the saloon traffic and the 37 other Scottish localities voted for "no change."

Everywhere the polling caused great excitement, and there was a lively post-campaign. Robert Burns' dictum, "Freedom and whiskey gang together," was the slogan of the anti-prohibitionist forces.

In Aberdeen, "dry" placards appeared bearing the words: "Hell is the well of whiskey." To this, "wet" supporters retorted with a placard, inscribed, "O death, where is thy sting?"

In Glasgow, 24 wards voted "no change," nine for limitation and four for abolition of saloon licenses. As a result, Glasgow's 1,694 saloons will be reduced by 99 and there was much drinking of health to William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, the American campaigner, with empty glasses turned down.

"We are not disheartened," said Colonel Kyle, who led the prohibitionist attack. "It is good work to have abolished 99 saloon licenses in Glasgow, and when we attack again, it will be different."

The people most perturbed are the church leaders. In the light of the results they are asking if the churches have the influence in national life which they usually claim.

It will be three years before another poll can be taken. Although Glasgow, where the battle raged most fiercely, remains wet, prohibitionists derive encouragement from the large number of individual votes in that city on their side: 142,343 as against 182,560 for "no change," and the London Evening News judges that next time these figures may change places.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson is quoted by the London Daily Graphic as saying that the no-license people of Scotland, particularly of Glasgow, did far better in this first prohibition poll than was ever accomplished in any American no-license election.

"The returns from Glasgow show," he said, "that nearly as many voted for no-license or reduction of licenses as for 'no change.' This is better than any American city since Glasgow did after 20 years' balloting."

BARRICADES IN STREETS

And Extra Guards Are Patrolling in London Government Districts

SINN FEIN PLOTS ARE GREATLY FEARED

Explosion in Warehouse Is Generally Ascribed to Sinn Fein

London, Nov. 30.—With Downing street and its immediate neighborhood shut off from the rest of the city by a high fence which was constantly in the eyes of uniformed men and with the Parliament buildings sentinelled by government sections of London today assumed the atmosphere of an armed camp.

Public buildings in London and in many of the other large cities of England were closely guarded against Sinn Fein attacks by heavy detachments of police and detectives last night. In the city the patrol was not limited to the streets but armed motor boats moved up and down the Thames in front of Parliament buildings.

There is nothing to connect the Sinn Fein with the explosion of a bomb in a warehouse in Old Swan Lane, this city, early this morning, but the people of the city ascribed it to that organization. The bomb which apparently was carried into the warehouse in a traveling bag and left there to be exploded by means of a time fuse was heard over a wide area of the city and blew out the windows of buildings nearby. It started a fire, but the police and firemen who were on the scene almost immediately extinguished the flames before they had gained headway. The street where the warehouse is situated has been closed by the police and a narrow thoroughfare near London bridge and contains no dwelling houses.

Experts from Scotland yard examined the building today. It seemed evident the damage from the fire was but slight. Several firms, shipping agents and manufacturers used the building.

Several men suspected of setting fire to warehouses in Liverpool on Saturday night are under arrest. It is claimed by the police that "American gunmen" are in that city and are plotting to shoot the British in Ireland for shooting policemen and soldiers have crossed the Irish sea to Liverpool. The financial loss occasioned by Saturday night's fires in Liverpool is estimated at a million pounds sterling.

The killing of 15 police recruits at Maeroussire, Ireland, yesterday, has already been followed by reprisals by the "Black and Tans" and it is reported there is an exodus of frightened people from towns near where the recruits were attacked.

Masked men entered and set fire to the building housing the Dublin Free Press last night. Considerable damage was done to the building. Scores of new arrests have been made in various districts of Ireland, among the places raided by military forces being a lunatic asylum near Ennis.

In Glasgow and the Clyde shipbuilding districts have been placed under close guard, and it is declared by the authorities that many Sinn Feiners are known to be in Scotland.

BOLLING DENIES TAKING MONEY

For Purpose of Influencing of Disposition of Contracts

INVESTIGATION WANTED BY HIM

Of Charges Brought By T. K. Sands, Former Washington Banker

New York, Nov. 30.—A denial that he had ever taken money for influencing the disposition of contracts or machinery by the United States shipping board, as charged by T. K. Sands, former Washington banker, coupled with a request that all of his business transactions with Sands be investigated, was made before the Walsh congressional committee today by R. W. Bolling, president Wilson's brother-in-law, and now treasurer of the shipping board.

He told of business associations with Sands dating back to 1916 and earlier years, out of which grew several financial transactions. He said that his personal records were all available for the committee. Sands has testified that he received $40,000 from the Downey Shipbuilding corporation for representing it before the board and that out of this he paid money to Bolling.

Bolling said that after banking with the institution with which Sands was connected for several years he had taken a contract in 1918 to build a house for the banker and in making a settlement for his cost with Mr. and Mrs. Sands had foregone any profits because of objection by the Sands to a charge for extras.

MISERY IN AUSTRIA. American Relief Agencies Are Feeding Children Under 14.

Paris, Nov. 30.—The misery of Austria's hungry children is told by Pierre Lacroix, writing in a Paris weekly. He tells the headlines before the soup kitchens where American relief agencies are feeding all those under 14 years of age.

At the door each child must show a card and when they leave they are searched, says M. Hamp.

Because there is not enough for all the hungry to be fed, the children may not carry away food. Yet the intelligence of the young sometimes outwits the watchfulness of their elders.

"To be sure," one of the managers told him, "we should have to address the children. One little girl put her slices of bread in her stockings. She hid them under her apron. I watch them the bread they leave on the table is taken by others."

Another little girl, wearing men's shoes, in which her feet were lost, tried to crowd in ahead of her turn. Sent back in the line, she cried. Asked why, the child explained she was waiting for the only shoe in the family. She wanted to hurry back so her brother might have the shoes and come, in his turn, where there still was food.

"They are people," said the manager, "whose pride is not yet dead. They would not let their children be seen in the street barefooted."

At the children pass in line and have their bowls filled with cocoa they begin at once to drink and to eat the white bread. They are too hungry to wait until seated.

Sometimes, as the children leave, they are held hidden bread in their aprons; and sometimes they are searched for many would, if they could, conceal food for the hungry mother at home.

MONTPELIER. Milford Abair Fined $25 for the Larceny of a Coat.

Milford Abair, a young man about 20 years of age, was arrested last night by Chief of Police Connelly on the charge of larceny of a coat from Kenneth Smith while attending the dance in the armory Saturday evening. The youth admitted that he took the coat but claimed he had nothing to do with any other articles taken at the dance. Later he called the police station inquiring relative to the matter and then came to the station where, after considerable questioning, the youth admitted taking the coat, claiming at first that he was intoxicated and then did not remember taking it, but later he broke down and told the truth when he found he was to go to jail for the night. This, however, did not make any difference and he went to jail just the same. The coat is valued at $50 and Mr. Smith bought it in Lowell, Mass., before he came home for the Thanksgiving vacation. Abair appeared in court this morning, pleading guilty to the charge of petty larceny and was given a fine of $25 and costs, which he arranged to settle. The return of the coat was used as argument for a small fine.

FOUR ARRESTS IN HOMICIDE

Attorney General Archibald Alleges Owen Hayes Was Murdered

MAN DISAPPEARED ON OCTOBER 6

His Body Was Found in the Castleton River a Week Later

Rutland, Nov. 30.—Peter Longe, Lawson Bardwell and Joseph S. Duffany are under arrest in Fair Haven, and Herbert Lowell, alias Ernest Lovell, at Proctorville for the alleged murder of Owen Hayes of Fair Haven. Attorney General Frank C. Archibald of Manchester charges that the four men were implicated in the death of Hayes, who disappeared on the night of Oct. 6, after displaying a large sum of money.

His body was found in the Castleton river a week later.

The arrests of the four men are said to have come about through the statement of the 15-year-old daughter, Madeline, of Peter Longe. The girl is said to have made the statement after being urged to do so by Louis Bishop, who is at present in Addison county jail awaiting trial for a statutory offense, it being alleged that he assaulted the young daughter of Longe.

Constable Brown of Fair Haven, while committing Bishop to the Addison county jail, developed a conversation with the young prisoner, in which he divulged some startling information. He was "sore" on Peter Longe, who entered the complaint against him which sent him to jail. Young Bishop, who is not rated as high mentally, told Brown that "Longe's girl has got a story that is more interesting than mine." Brown persuaded Bishop to write a note to the girl, and the constable, on his return to Fair Haven, took it to her. The epistle urged her to "tell the officers what your father has done."

As soon as Brown returned, the girl divulged the whole story.

"Lowell told me that father and his companions had killed a man," she said, "he urged me to keep still and not say a word about it. Now I've spilled the beans."
