HEARING HELD ON RECEIVER

But Judge Wilson Will Issue an Order Putting in a Short-Time Receiver.

HEARING HELD ON RECEIVER

As the result of a hearing held before Judge Stanley C. Wilson in Washington county court at Montpelier today, a receiver for the Barre & Montpelier Traction & Power Co. is to be appointed late today on the petition of Attorney J. Ward Carver, representing the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Co. The order for a receiver is to be made when an agreement on a receiver is reached.

HEARING HELD ON RECEIVER

Several men were present at the hearing, but as it was the desire to secure, if possible, a person conversant with railroad work the agreement on a receiver was hanging fire early this afternoon.

HEARING HELD ON RECEIVER

Attorney Carver filed an amended bill of complaint to-day, the new bill containing reference to the judgment of $5,500 secured against the trolley company by Robert Stewart; also setting forth that the plaintiff demands the continued operation of the road. Attorney Carver stated his belief that the majority of the stock of the traction company is held by the Montpelier & Barre Light & Power Co.

HEARING HELD ON RECEIVER

The receiver is to continue, it is stated, until Jan. 3, 1921, at which time the receiver is to report to the judge in chambers. The receiver shall have full authority to operate the road, collect all bills and carry on the other work of the company.

HEARING HELD ON RECEIVER

Mr. James Hastings, chairman, was assisted in the various departments by the other members of the committee, as follows: Fancy booth, Mrs. B. Humphrey and Mrs. William Reilly; candy booth, Mrs. John Murray; soda and ice cream booth, Miss Mary Jordan and Agnes Christy; fish pond, Mrs. Henry Brown; fortune telling, unknown—the lady was in disguise.

HIBERNIAN BAZAAR

Fine Program Given Last Night—Dancing Ended Entertainment.

HIBERNIAN BAZAAR

Probably no smaller gathering was ever present at the opening of any concert at a Hibernian bazaar than was present in Howland hall at 8 o'clock last evening, but it is just as probable that no audience which has attended a concert of a Hibernian bazaar, ever listened to a better or more evenly balanced program than the one presented last evening. Those in charge certainly did themselves and their order much credit in the arranging of a program every number of which was a treat.

HIBERNIAN BAZAAR

Although the gathering was small at the beginning of the festivities, a gradual increase in its size was noted as the evening progressed. By the time the dancing started, the ladies of the auxiliary to the Ancient Order of Hibernians, who had charge of the evening's entertainment, generally felt that the event was to be a success.

HIBERNIAN BAZAAR

At the beginning of the program came a tenor solo entitled, "Forgotten," by Dr. M. A. Meagher, Miss Dora Bissell accompanying. Dr. Meagher was called upon for an encore, "Evergreen," "Love You Truly." An Irish reel by little Miss Marie Pirie followed. The little lady won her way into the hearts of her audience and amid the general applause responded with another Irish ditty, "Clement McMahon," playing his own accompaniment.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

Liquor Cases Continued to File Up in U. S. Court at Montpelier.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

In Two Days the Court Has Received $8,201 in Fines.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

Violations of the liquor law continued to be heard in U. S. district court at Montpelier today when Jacob Patquette and George Mott of Alburg appeared and pleaded guilty to having liquor in their possession, the former 164 quarts and the latter 79 quarts. They were not sentenced against $100.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

Without counting the amounts that will be imposed in the two cases of Patquette and Mott, the court has received $8,201 in fines during two days, that amount being assessed against 40 persons. Seven cases were not passed and four are pending. It is the largest amount of business of that sort the U. S. court has ever done in Montpelier in two days.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

Probably the case of the government against Harmon Spooner of Swanton furnished as much interesting material as any case Wednesday afternoon, for, according to the revenue officers, he has had a checkered career in the smuggling game. Fred Webster of Swanton appeared for him, making a strong plea for a light penalty.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

Revenue Officer Lockwood was called inside the bar and Judge Howe asked him many questions. Lockwood said that Spooner, who is well advanced in age, attended McGill college and it is understood he had been a consulting chemist for Park & Davis druggists; that Spooner has placed on file in the revenue office $50 as a part of an assessment of $800, which the government made against Spooner in connection with the liquor traffic; that he went to Spooner's office and bought two bottles of gin, paying $16 for the two, getting it through local "influences"; that it came from a house that Spooner had told him of smuggling liquor across, that at one time he did it by hanging a bottle out the car window and at other times carrying it in a bag on his back.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

Spooner claimed he never saw Lockwood until he was arrested. He has three children, aged 21, 23 and 24 years. Lockwood thought he was worth $25,000. Mr. Webster did not agree with him; but that Spooner's wife had money. The court asked many questions bearing on the case and then in the selling charge sentenced him to three months in jail. After he had left the court a review of the indictment showed that the man was also charged with possession of liquor and the court recalled the respondent and then changed the penalty to three months in the county jail and to pay a fine of $500 for the violation. He could not be released.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

N. F. Toof of Sheldon attracted quite a little attention. He had sold liquor to the revenue officers. He has a wife and five children and, during the course of the discussion of his case, he was accused of having been in the court yesterday. The court remarked that he appeared the least concerned of anybody. He had been assessed $800, but a compromise was made and part of the amount was paid the revenue department. The district attorney thought three months in jail was about right. The court asked many questions and then gave the man a month but told the revenue officers to give his home attention after he was released.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

At this time the court directed the district attorney to put an injunction against the house occupied by Spooner on the grounds of a nuisance, stating that he would clean up that place.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

Gardner M. Kimball, alias Caswell, of Manchester, N. H., of Marblehead, Mass., received yesterday, namely $1,500, for bringing 540 quarts into this country. His attorney, M. G. Leary, pleaded for a small sentence on the grounds that the man did not have much money and after the court had fined him the sum, a protest was made. The court asked many questions and then gave the man a month but told the revenue officers to give his home attention after he was released.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

Howard B. Van der Meer, of Amsterdam, N. Y., was another man who comes of a good family but did not have the money and it was his first offense. His attorney, Mr. Leary, wanted a light fine. He got $1,000, which, it was thought, he could not pay, but his brother-in-law, Albert Billeaud of Burlington, paid $100 for bringing his brother into the country. He claimed to the custom officers that his brother had been here before and, therefore, no head tax was assessable against him.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

L. J. Verina and Philip Billeaud of Burlington each paid $100 for bringing five quarts of gin by train. John Gover of Lynn, Mass., paid $500 for bringing in 144 quarts of liquor, while the case against John O'Neil, his partner, was not passed, there being no evidence to substantiate the charges.

TWO MORE ADMIT LAW VIOLATION

George B. Billeaud of Middlebury was fined $50 for failure to stop when accosted by a custom officer who had reason to believe the man had liquor in his team. The charge of the same offense against John M. Huffer of that town was not passed. Apparently he had nothing to do about the trouble.
