LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITIES AT MONTPELIER

Farmers' club that he hoped to have some figures ready to submit to the legislature Friday morning, as a result of this plan.

Mr. Sanders gave information about the reporting of crops and the aid which the crop statistics give to the farmer. It is understood that there is a plan for the six New England states to co-operate in continuing this work, and that each state will be asked to appropriate $1,000 toward it.

Ex-Gov. Gates Favors Present Town Representation Lines.

Ex-Gov. Charles W. Gates of Franklin brought forth much applause last evening when, in speaking before a reunion of the legislature of 1915 in Representatives' hall, he said while others are urging the re-districting of the state for the purpose of electing representatives, he favored the present system of representation, with the town as a unit. Former Governor Gates was again applauded when he said that he had never favored the direct primary and he felt that no man has any chance for election to a high state office in Vermont unless he is pretty well fixed financially.

There were about 60 members of the House and 13 members of the Senate of the legislature of 1915 present at the reunion last evening. The Senate and House first met separately, former Lieutenant Governor Hale K. Darling presiding in the Senate and Speaker John E. Weeks in the House, with Secretary of State Harry A. Black as clerk of the House. Later they met in joint session and were addressed by Ex-Gov. Gates and Mr. Darling, who presided.

The usual reminiscences were indulged in, Daniel O'Brien of South Burlington and Marshall Hapgood of Peru figuring prominently in the humor of the evening. With many ladies in the audience, Mr. O'Brien gallantly conceded that his election to the present session of the legislature was due to the efforts of the women of South Burlington, and he hoped to see a woman representative in the legislature of 1923. Mr. Hapgood introduced a resolution to the effect that the members of the legislature of 1915 should either make an attempt to get elected to the legislature, or support a woman for the honor.

RECEPTION IN HONOR OF MRS. W. W. SLACK

President of Vermont Federation of Women's Clubs Also Gave an Address.

The visiting ladies of the general assembly and members of the Woman's club were guests at a reception held at the Kellogg-Hubbard library last evening in honor of Mrs. W. W. Slack of Springfield, president of the Vermont Federation of Women's Clubs.

The guests were received by Mrs. Ella Brown Bailey, president of the Woman's club; Mrs. James Hartness, wife of his excellency the governor; Mrs. Abram W. Foose, wife of Lieutenant-Governor Foose; Mrs. J. Borden Estee, wife of Senator Estee; Mrs. H. M. Farnham, wife of Senator Farnham, and Mrs. Edward D. Field, wife of Representative Field.

Those who presented the guests were Mrs. Herbert Johnson, Mrs. W. S. Teasont, Mrs. W. R. Harkness, Mrs. William Stratton and Mrs. Pearl Cleveland, and the ushers were Mrs. Carl C. Bancroft, Mrs. Clair Templeton, Mrs. Raymond Briggs, Mrs. Pearl Blodgett and Mrs. R. Leslie Hackwell.

The rooms were attractively decorated in red and green. Handicraft baskets of poinsettias and spruce on the tables furnished a charming scheme effectively furnished a charming scheme of decoration, while poinsettias, spruce and oak leaves were arranged effectively over the electric lights.

Proceeding the reception a business meeting of the club took place and at the close Mrs. Ella Brown Bailey, president of the club, introduced Mrs. Walter W. Slack, who gave an address. Mrs. Slack said it was the first opportunity she had ever had to address such an illustrious body as the wives and ladies of the state legislators and she considered it a great honor. She should speak, she said, on a subject dear to her heart, that of "The Club Woman, Her Abilities and Her Responsibilities." Club women are beginning to want to keep up with current thoughts and purposes. Clubs have come into being because from that banding together one gets something more than otherwise get. In Vermont practically 6,000 women have joined themselves together to get and to give and to do.

Mrs. Slack spoke of 1920 as a year of wonderful accomplishment for women, with prohibition secured and suffrage ratified, and said that, whatever her feelings on those of others may have been about the question of equal franchise, she was certain that women were taking their new duties seriously. She wished, because of this new political power which had come to women, every club would spend a part of its time studying the proper use of the franchise. The women of the country are undertaking and carrying to completion enormous pieces of work, and the speaker wished the club women and the business men of the country might join hands in big conferences on things in which both are vitally interested.

The speaker referred to the attempt to get women's clubs to go on record as in favor of collective bargaining and industrial democracy but she thought if men prominent in industrial affairs for years could not arrive at a definite agreement with employees worthy of common sense's clubs should not endorse it but rather hold to the doctrine of fair play and a square deal for both employer and employee.

Delightful musical numbers were given preceding and at the close of Mrs. Slack's address. Proceeding the address Mrs. Fred L. Laird, Jr., Mrs. Fred Lang and Mrs. Cheves played a piano trio, a march by Mozart; and a vocal quartette, "Mamma's Let Pigeon," was given by Miss Helen Mitchell, Miss Eleanor Lowe, Mrs. David Burns and Mrs. Joseph Sibson, with Mrs. F. Barnaby Leach as accompanist. An encore quartette sang, "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes." Dorothy Dexter.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. Topics of the Home* and Household.

Honey, butter and nuts make an excellent sandwich filling.

Never leave uncooked meat wrapped in paper. The paper will absorb the juice of the meat and waste it.

Put the required amount of soap flakes in a strainer and pour your boiling water through and you never will find specks on the garment washed.

Impromptu cakes—One-half cupful each egg cream and sugar, well beaten, then one egg and beat again. Sift in one-half teaspoonful soda and flour to make the required thickness. Bake in gem pans and serve either hot or cold with a sauce or fresh fruit.

Do not throw away your used victrola needles, for they can be made to serve in another capacity. When the pins in your curtain stretchers break replace them with the used needles. Use a broad blade, thin knife to open the frame that hold the pins, then insert the needles wherever needed. If this is properly done, the slit will close and hold the pins firmly.

Food Value of Cheese.

In practically every restaurant, tea room, hotel or cafeteria, cheese and cheese dishes are becoming more and more popular. They also figure most attractively on the printed club book menus. This should be a tip of the tongue to the manager that these dishes will be welcomed on her table, says the Springfield Republican.

Cheese needs only to be melted when cooked with other foods. If submitted to a high temperature for a long time, it becomes tough and leathery, and people complain of its being too difficult to digest. A low temperature process always should be used in preparing cooked cheese dishes.

Uses of Cheese.

Uncooked cheese—Sandwiches, grated in soups, salad, with pie or pudding with crackers and coffee.

Cooked cheese—In escalloped dishes, rarebit, sauces, croquettes, souffles and fondue, biscuits, muffins, cheese sticks and topping for baked dishes.

Cheese toast—One-eighth pound of strong American cheese, two table-spoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one-half cup of cold milk, two table-spoonfuls of tomato juice, two slices of bread. Melt the butter. Add the flour and mix until smooth. Add milk slowly and boil for three minutes. Add the seasonings and the cheese, which has been chopped. Return to the fire and stir until the cheese is melted. Serve on toasted bread.

Cheese puff—While cheese is not a vegetable, it is sometimes served in place of a vegetable. To make a cheese puff, a cupful of dry bread crumbs are soaked in two cupfuls of milk, mixed with the beaten yolks of three eggs, a tablespoonful of melted butter, seasoning, the beaten whites of the eggs and a half cupful of dry grated cheese. This is poured into a baking dish with dry bread crumbs scattered over the top and baked in a quick oven until brown. It should be served immediately, as it quickly falls if allowed to stand. Cheese puffs are a delicious novelty.

Cheese fondue—Two cups of milk, one tablespoon butter, melted; one salt-spoon salt, one-half teaspoon paprika and one cup of cheese. Soak bread crumbs in milk one quarter hour. Beat eggs light, add butter and seasonings. Mix with soaked crumbs and add cheese. Pour into buttered baking dish, bake 15 to 25 minutes in moderate oven. Serve hot.

Cheese balls—To serve with green or vegetable salads, mix together one and one-half cups of coarsely grated cheese, one tablespoonful of flour, one-quarter of a teaspoonful each of salt, paprika and mustard and the stiffly whipped whites of two eggs. Shape in balls one inch in diameter, roll in sifted crumbs and fry in deep hot fat to a rich brown. Drain on brown paper and serve hot as an accompaniment to a crisp vegetable or plain green salad. Dress the salad with French dressing when serving these balls.

Cheese straws—Rub four tablespoonfuls sifted flour with two of butter and four of grated cheese. Add one egg, season with salt and cayenne pepper. Roll very thin, cut into narrow strips three inches long and bake a pale brown in a hot oven.

Roquefort salad dressing—One-half small can Roquefort-American cheese, four to six tablespoonfuls olive oil, a pinch of salt, a dash of paprika, a small amount of lemon juice, emulsify to a creamy consistency and serve. The above can vary in amount to suit individual taste. Sufficient for four people in above proportions.

NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY IS SOUGHT IN INDIA

Was One of the Matters Debated at Indian National Congress at Nagpur.

New York, Feb. 3.—Details of the debates in the session of the Indian National Congress held at Nagpur, central India, in December, have just been received in the mails by the India information bureau of New York, with the texts of resolutions, addresses, etc., at the congress, which have been briefly referred to in cable advices. Twenty-two thousand delegates from all parts of India, including several thousand women, assembled at the congress, including non-payment of taxes as an extreme measure.

One of the resolutions adopted amended the constitution of the congress, so as to secure "the attainment of self-government" (national sovereignty) by all peaceful and legitimate means. A significant omission from the resolution was a clause referring to the use of "extraordinary methods for the attainment of self-government within the British empire."

Other conferences held at Nagpur took the general attitude expressed by the congress. The All-India Students' Conference passed a resolution in favor of "immediate and unconditional boycott of the government and government-aided schools and colleges." Lajpat Rai, presiding at a conference held for the purpose of protecting cattle against slaughter and export, declared that the cattle question could not be settled until national sovereignty was obtained.

The opening speech of the presiding officer of the congress outlined a plan for the immediate boycott of British trade. In order that the ruling power may be "gradually exhausted," he advocated a plan by which English planters, merchants, traders and manufacturers in India may be faced with a security of labor. This he maintained, would produce national strikes of unskilled workmen in the railway, postal and telegraph departments.

M. K. Gandhi, leader of the movement in moving the resolution to amend the constitution of the congress declared, "If India's wrongs are not redressed, and if elementary justice is not done, we have no wish to

OLD MAINE TOWNS.

Four This Year Can Celebrate the Completion of the First Century.

The Maine centennial towns for 1921 are Concord, Peru, Canton and Cumberland, rather less than the usual number. Concord is a little farming town far up the Kennebec valley, in Somerset county, bordering on the river. It does not appear in the records why it was named Concord, but its name may have suggested something to the late incorporators of the next town to the west, which was called Lexington. Concord was settled soon after the Revolution by Major Ephraim Heald, who came from Temple, N. H. There are people enough to have a celebration with the help of neighbors. Peru and Canton are adjoining towns in Oxford county, on the Androscoggin river, and may possibly have a combination celebration. If they don't it will be a rival old preparatory school. Cumberland Foreside has numerous summer residences and on Chebeague island there are half a dozen summer hotels and cottages are numerous.—Lewiston Journal.

incorporated on the same day, Feb. 5, 1821. Canton is a lively town and will have a big centennial celebration some time in the summer. It has about 2000 people, three churches, an opera house, summer hotel, several garages and all the outfit of an up-to-date town.

Peru with the village of West Peru and East Peru has about 1000 people, in its borders. The town was originally a grant of land to citizens of Falmouth who moved there, the Knight, Lunt, Brackett and Bradish families, followed by the Walkers, Trasks and Baileys. Peru will no doubt have a celebration. Cumberland is a town on Casco bay and may be a part of Greater Portland some time. It takes in numerous islands of shore, including Chebeague island, where there's a post-office, also, Crow, Goose, Hope, Bangs, Sand, Sturdivan, Stave, Ministerial, Bates, Broken Cave and others of the 365 islands in the bay. Cumberland Center is the largest community in the town and Greeley institute is an old preparatory school. Cumberland Foreside has numerous summer residences and on Chebeague island there are half a dozen summer hotels and cottages are numerous.—Lewiston Journal.

Thomas Desgardins, barber, 10 Merchant St., says: "I was in a very bad shape which I think was caused by being on my feet all day. My back was very bad when I stooped over and it got so at times I would have to sit and rest. After I stood very long I was all in and very nervous. At times the kidney secretions passed too frequently and then again would be scanty. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills from the Red Cross Pharmacy fixed me up."	Mrs. D. Webster, 63 South Main St., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills a couple of years ago when my back and kidneys were weakened by a cold. My back was very lame and my kidneys were weak and irregular. My mother advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a few boxes at Cummings & Lewis' Drug Store and was relieved. I would not be without Doan's for they have never failed to give me instant relief when I have used them."	J. A. Field, carpenter, 108 Washington St., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are fine.
