Some Things We Miss.

The rounder rises to remark:
That the man who burns wood is not worrying about the present cost of coal.
That many more householders are using wood to-day than there were a few years ago.
That, speaking of wood and burning, it is noticeable that matches have not so many free boxes as of old.
That he also should mention the fact that many of us miss the kitchen stove oven, where we could dry our feet when they were wet.
That we also miss the wooden chair in which we could sit and tip back.
That the kitchen range has other conveniences which the modern heaters do not possess—ask him who smokes.

His Sense of Duty.

They had been taking in the car about the disarrangement of the world, when one asked of another:
"What do you think of the winter? Are we going to have an open winter and an early spring?"
"No, sir," was the decided reply. "We are going to have the darndest winter yet ever seen, and it is going to hang to us until the first of June."
"Your prediction is a very gloomy one. Why do you make it so?"
"From a sense of duty," answered the other. "I am in the coal business, and my first duty is to reserve every body that he needs as much coal as he ever did."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

MONTPELIER

Montpelier post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will receive the benefits of the showing of the motion picture, "The Three Musketeers," with Douglas Fairbanks, beginning at the Playhouse on Thursday of this week.

The feature of the second evening of the service company fair being held in armory this week was a blackface skit, "A Brotherly Quarrel," put on by Lyman Sumner and friends Sweeney. The skit was worked up in a short time, but went across well, and will be repeated next Friday night by special request. The lines were clever and the audience was kept in a roar of laughter and applause. The solos "Ain't Nature Grand," sung by Sumner and "You Know What I Mean," by Sweeney, received much applause. A crowd of about 500 attended last night, and many stayed for the dance, for which Sumner's orchestra furnished music. The feature of to-night's program will be drill by the service company. On Thursday night, Scotch dances will be presented by young ladies from Barre, with bagpipe music.

A verdict for R. G. Dun & Co., plaintiff in a contract case in Montpelier city court, to recover $100 with interest of about $18 from John Doble, a local candy manufacturer, was returned by a jury yesterday afternoon after about 35 minutes' deliberation. Costs of the trial follow the verdict as a matter of law. George L. Hunt represented the plaintiff and Fred E. Gleason the defendant. The company brought action on a contract for their service signed by the defendant, who claimed fraud on the part of the plaintiff. The jury followed as directed at a retrial, the jury having disagreed at the first trial of the case.

In probate court, Florence Johnson has settled her final account as administratrix of the estate of the late Harvey Burnham of Calais. The will of Carlo Lamperti, late of Barre City, has been presented for probate. Edwin A. Colton has settled his final account as administrator of the estate of Mary F. Colton, late of Montpelier.

Another of the series of entertainments which are being held in the Knights of Columbus rooms will be given to-night.

Merritt D. Chittenden, state supervisor of his schools, left for Burlington yesterday afternoon.

The afternoon session of Vermont supreme court yesterday was occupied by arguments of the Essex county case of Glenn P. Tarbell vs. Grand Trunk Railway company. Amey & Cameron were attorneys for the plaintiff and John Redmond for the defendant.

Fred S. Pease, deputy commissioner of industries, left yesterday for Bethel to inspect factories and industries there.

B. Cuto, a laborer employed by the L. D. Willcutt & Sons company on the new National Life building, was injured about the right eye while at work on Feb. 13, according to a report to the commissioner of industries. Cuto was holding a chisel while a fellow workman was striking the chisel to split a rock, when a piece of steel flew up and hit his right eye, slightly fracturing the lower lid and eyeball. He was attended by Dr. F. W. Harriman. Orders went out from the office of Adjutant General H. T. Johnson to-day appointing Sergeant Major George A. Jones a second lieutenant in 1st battalion headquarters company of the 12th infantry (at Vermont), and Rutland; 1st Sergeant Leon C. Lemore a second lieutenant in 2nd battalion headquarters company at Burlington; and 1st Sergeant Dwight A. Pickard a second lieutenant in company C of the 12th infantry at Ludlow.

Mrs. Ella Hartwell was called during the night to Waterbury by the critical condition of Amos Hartwell, her husband, who has been in poor health for some time and who died this morning. He is survived, among other relatives, by his wife and a son.

The state treasurer has received from State Highway Commissioner T. W. Dix the sum of $1,920.26 for use of state machinery on projects from G. L. Gregoire & Co.

The plans for the winter carnival in Montpelier were completed Tuesday evening at a meeting held in the Community house. The present plans are for a full day's program, including in the morning sports on the ice street in the city. There will be skiing, obstacle racing, a relay race and snow races while in the afternoon ski jumping will take place on the course at Aldrich flats. It is hoped to get the Dartmouth team here, including the well known jumper, Carlton, while in the evening the ice carnival will take place at the rink on lower State street, when Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hill of Northfield, will give the same program that they gave last evening in the arena in Boston. Costumes will be worn and prizes will be given for the persons appearing in the best of these. The relay race, planned for four teams representing the National Life, State House, high school and Community club, respectively each team of two boys and two girls should be an interesting factor. Mr. Lopien, who has been chairman of the ice sports, has resigned but the plans will be carried out just the same as originally arranged.

Mrs. B. J. Stewart won the highest honors at the whist party which the Pythian Sisters conducted in their hall Tuesday evening with enough players in spite of the several other attractions in the city, to surround 10 tables. Refreshments were served.

Colonel E. R. Gibson left this morning for the southern part of the state for the purpose of inspecting National Guards companies. He will be joined later by Adjutant General H. T. Johnson who is remaining here in part because of the illness of his brother, who was recently operated upon in New York.

S. B. Bates of Derby Line was in the city to-day to attend a meeting of state highway commission, of which he and Governor Hartness and Dr. Bryant of Ludlow are members.

George C. Caried of Manchester, N. H., was in the city yesterday looking after the work of R. G. Dun company. Mr. Carter formerly resided in Vermont. He has charge of the New Hampshire and Vermont districts for the company and was interested in the trial of the Dun-Dobbs case in city court.
