Let us tell you something.

When you feel this slick bracing fit of this Walk-Over model under your instep and around the heel you know that there is something new under the sun.

Let us fit you to a pair.

Rogers' Walk-Over Boot Shop

In claiming six poets in Burlington, the Burlington News may have indulged in poetic license.

Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania is trying to add a little to a speechless campaign by telling what a conscientious man President Harding is.

The conduct of the so-called international race of fishing schooners reminds us of some pasture baseball game we have seen—the spirit of the contest was there but it was very poorly directed.

Gross Point, Ill., forced into debt by the advent of prohibition, its revenue from fourteen saloons having been cut off, advertises its city hall for sale. Municipal maintenance based on nothing so unstable as liquor may expect to go floating off any time.

A new form of college activity, the college hike, found 150 Middlebury students in line one day recently, and they roamed over a considerable territory in the vicinity of the ancient seat of learning. If they try hard enough, the students may bring the art of walking into public favor again.

Signing of a court order affirming the judgment of the referee ought to constitute the last court chapter in the family affairs of the Stillmans of New York. The legal actions incident to the divorce proceedings have occupied altogether too much attention of the court and of the public.

Lloyd George may have outlived his usefulness as prime minister of Great Britain but he still retains his reasoning powers, as we note by his declaration that Great Britain must pay her war debts to the United States. The debts were contracted fairly and squarely; the United States loaned the money with the understanding that the money would be repaid. What could anyone expect other than that a self-respecting nation would desire to pay those obligations?

Decision by the trustees of Goddard seminary to place a memorial tablet in the school chapel in honor of Ira C. Calef, who died a few years ago at his home in Washington, was most fitting, for Mr. Calef was not only a liberal contributor to the financial support of the school but he also was deeply interested in the welfare of the school over a long period. Much of the success of the school and of its present financial position is due to the contributions and the activities of Mr. Calef.

Entry of Franklin D. Hale of Lunenburg into the Vermont speakership contest seems to remove the possibility of a North Country candidate being elected to that position inasmuch as there already was one candidate from that section in the person of Aaron H. Grout of Newport. Lunenburg is in Essex county and Newport is in Orleans county, two counties which generally pull together when they want anything and which cannot expect much if they pull apart. If both Mr. Grout and Mr. Hale stay in the contest it is probable that they will stand little chance as the North Country vote would be split up.

THE NEW LEGION COMMANDER.
 Election of Alvin Owsley of Texas as commander of the American Legion might be considered by some as a tactical error if the bonus legislation is to be pushed by the Legion, inasmuch as a man from the Democratic South would have little influence with a Republican Congress and a Republican administration. But as an indication "From Washington comes the report that 1922 will be a year of bumper crops. Records will be broken in several items; wheat, corn, potatoes, apples, etc., and export demand is reviving.

This means our crop of high class clothing will be in demand.

We have harvested some of the finest suits and overcoats. The tailoring and the fabrics go hand in hand to make the most satisfactory clothing you ever enjoyed.

Take a look at our $50 suits if you want to begin at the top.

You remember the garments of the past at—$80! These are better.

Overcoats for $15 to $60.00.

Suits $18 to $50.

F. H. Rogers & Company

that the Legion is really a national organization, not merely sectional, like some of the older patriotic organizations, the election of Mr. Owsley is quite convincing, just as was the fact that the recent convention was held in a city on the southern fringe of the country.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Candidate Wilson on the Phosphate Duty.

Editor of Times: I hate to trespass on your good nature, yet some things ought to be stated. One of leading newspapers supposed to support Vermont interests, but feeling compelled instead to support its party candidate (like so many voters feel) stated that the farmers who had to buy phosphate and did not raise their own fertilizer, ought to be Democrats. They talk about a rise of only a cent and a half a pound, suppressing news of rise of $30 per ton.

Now this is only a sample. They might as well originate a rise of only a cent a pound on coal which would make a rise of only $20 a ton. That might have helped the Vermont farmers as much as the potash tax would hurt them, by doubling price of fire wood at the expense of us poor fuel buyers in the villages. That is the trouble with the idea of protective tariff run wild, helping certain classes at expense of great majority. They are just as ridiculous as harmful and hateful when fairly considered. Any intelligent farmer knows that wise use of silos and of phosphate doubles the producing capacity of an average farm in very few years, at same time doubling the amount of home-made fertilizer.

The Republican candidate for U. S. senator admits that the only thing that saved the Vermont farmer from this heavy phosphate increase was what he calls a "Democratic trick," and he admits that it was the Republican plan to add this burden on the farmers' shoulders. They insist that concerning the many necessities the tariff only adds a cent or a few cents per pound, and try to blind the people to what the

"He Is Thrifty!"

Can they say this of you? The thrifty man is not a miser. He is thrifty not in the sense of being close-fisted, but in the sense of being progressive and enterprising. His thrift is the elimination of waste. If more thought was given to the subject of thrift, millions would be saved that are now wasted. The Savings Department of this bank invites your account.

Silent Eloquence

Have you ever been a-fishin? Did you ever sit in a boat for hours with a fisherman in the other end, a real, genuine fisherman who did not attempt to flood you with conversation (for real fishermen never do that) one with whom you could feel an intimacy of spirit without resort to words? If you haven't done this then you have never been a-fishin.

The silent calm of the clear water, darkened now and then by the shadow of some silent sentinel looming up from the not far distant shore, seems to speak eloquently of the glory of the universe and the value of living.

So it is with money or credit. It moves from place to place with comparative silence but it speaks eloquently of many things; it speaks of fond hopes and it tells of miserable despair; it relates the triumph of victory and it records the infamy of defeat.

What a power for good or bad and what a responsibility rests upon us as trustees of the resources of present day civilization. When one wastes money he is throwing away a precious legacy, an endowed opportunity to enjoy the worthwhile pleasures which money can bring.

Can you afford not to have a savings account? One dollar will start you right.
