

TURKISH DEMANDS TO BE OPPOSED BY GREAT BRITAIN AT LAUSANNE

Memorandum Forwarded By Telegraph to French and Italian Governments Declares That the Main Points Are Not Regarded Favorably in London

WILL STAND BY AGREEMENTS WITH ALLIES

Three Points To Which Great Britain Demurs Are: (1) Pleiscite in Western Thrace; (2) Rectification of Syrian Frontier in Favor of Turkey; (3) Abolition of Capitulation

London, Nov. 15 (By the Associated Press).—The British foreign office, it was stated in authoritative quarters to-day, has telegraphed to the French and Italian governments a memorandum in which Great Britain declares that the main Turkish demands which are to come before the Near East peace conference at Lausanne are not regarded favorably by the British government.

Great Britain stands by the agreements previously made with her allies, according to the memorandum. She regards unfavorably the three main Turkish demands, namely, a plebiscite in western Thrace, rectification of the Syrian frontier in favor of Turkey, and abolition of the capitulations.

The Lowly Peanut Gets in Trouble. The peanut war has gone into court, thanks to the Sherman act. According to The Nation's Business, if international unpleasantness would follow the example of the imbroglio over peanuts and resort to the tribunal of justice, it would be a happier world.

The affair of the peanuts has not been without its bitter feelings, and has not involved matter of small consequence. When peanuts come from the ground, they need cleaning and shelling. In course of time the growers have organized a co-operative association. The concern making a business of cleaning and shelling peanuts have formed a trade association.

Between the two organizations there has been something of a feud. The growers alleged that the cleaners and shellers depressed prices, to the loss of the former and the gain of the latter. The growers even undertook to have their peanuts cleaned and shelled by a concern which was not in the membership of their trade association.

A query that bobs up in the mind of the casual observer is, where did the cleaners and sheller association expect their members to get business when the growers had been reduced to bankruptcy and switched to some other crop like mushrooms or chickens, upon which peanut machines cannot be profitably used, so far as yet known in these parts.

In the peanut case the growers' organization takes the initiative. In Wisconsin, however, a milk producers' co-operative marketing company has been summoned by the state officials to show why it should not discontinue practices that are unfair. The practice chiefly in question is a "services" charge exacted by the association of dealers. The allegation is that through this device members obtain a higher price for their milk than farmers who are outside the association.

Stand Properly.

There is probably no more important exercise of training than that of assuming a correct posture over and over again, many times a day, all through life, until it becomes a fixed and constant habit.

Correct posture has to do not only with external appearance (which, remember, makes for success in life), but it serves to keep all the organs within the body in their proper position and enables them all to function easily and efficiently.

Stand with back against the wall, touching it with heels, legs, shoulders and head, feet together, arms at sides, little fingers touching thighs, palms facing outward. Take a deep breath, lifting the chest high. (This breaths through the back and lifts all of the vital organs into their natural and healthful position). Holding the body in this position, take two steps forward, bring feet together, throw weight slightly forward on the balls of the feet, and go through the shelling movement as follows: Arms fully extended straight at sides, then describe circles with the hands, keeping the arms stiff and the palms upward so that they would hold water. Eight circles starting forward, and eight starting backward. Arms at sides again, step back two paces, and by touching the wall, see if you have retained the correct posture. Repeat until the correct posture is learned and finally becomes a fixed habit. Be careful not to strain.—The Delinquent.

NON-RESERVATION HELPS.

Automobile Registration Department Is Less Inconvenienced.

The new system of non-reservation of automobile registration plates and issuance of plates strictly in order of receipts of application, will make for greater efficiency in issuance of plates, according to Charles T. Pierce, chief clerk of the automobile business in the secretary of state's office.

The boxes of plates are being stored in order in the cellar of the State House, and it will not be necessary to disturb the bulk of the plates in order to provide special registration numbers on request, because this practice will not be followed.

Formerly it has been necessary to place all the plates in upright racks where any plate could be secured. The plates arranged in this manner occupied much more space than they will under the new arrangement, and much needed storage space will be provided.

Numbers were sometimes lost and confused under the old arrangement. The new system will allow the running of the registration business without extra help, which has been necessary formerly. The department has been running two or three short on its help all during the fall, Mr. Pierce states.

All states are working toward this system, Mr. Pierce says, and while there may be some dissatisfaction with the system this year, it is not expected that this will continue as the primary purpose of the plates is to identify automobiles. The 1923 plates, which are being stored in the cellar from 100 to 44,000 for pleasure cars.

BOY DROWNED IN WELL.

Mrs. Charles Weaver of Bristol Discovers Body.

Bristol, Nov. 15.—Unable to find her two-year-old son whom she had left playing in the yard of her home, Mrs. Charles Weaver instituted a search, Monday afternoon and finally found the small boy dead at the bottom of a well into which he had fallen and been drowned.

District Health Officer G. F. Edmunds was summoned and pronounced drowning as the cause of death. The lad is survived by his father and mother. There are two other small children.

The tragedy occurred at about 4 o'clock when the little fellow was playing in the yard by himself. It is thought that he had been in the well only a few minutes when the body was discovered. The well is about 12 feet deep and contained about two feet of water. The opening is unprotected by any railing, there being merely a covering with square hole through which water is drawn by means of a pail and a hooked pole.

The mother's search of the premises took her past the well and she saw the lad's head floating on top of the water. Peering closer she was able to discern the boy.

The Weavers live on a small farm on what is known as the Scrabble hill road three and one-half miles north-west of the village.

IN SUPREME COURT.

Clara E. Platt vs. Shields and Conant Heard.

The case of Clara E. Platt vs. Charles A. Shields and David S. Conant, contract, from Caledonia county, was argued in Vermont supreme court to-day. The attorneys for the plaintiffs were George Platt and George Le Hunt, for the defendant Stickey, Sargent and Skeels. The original suit was concerned with the costs of attorney's services by the firm of Shields and Conant of St. Johnsbury. The services were rendered in a case involving the death of Fred S. Platt in a railroad accident.

DRY DIRECTOR ACCUSED.

Of Having Accepted Bribes in Montana Work.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 15.—O. H. P. Solly, national Republican committee man from Montana and former state prohibition director, to-day was under indictment on two counts. A federal grand jury yesterday charged him with having accepted bribes during administration of his office. Solly furnished about $4,000 to appear for trial in Helena during the January term of the federal court. He was appointed prohibition director in July 1921 but was removed a year later on orders from Washington.

Sunday Thoughts of a Horse.

The automobile puts me of the same basis with the horse—one day off in seven.

I am glad I don't have to pull the reins up to drive any more and stand out in the cold and mud for an hour or more listening to the music and sermon. It must sound better inside.

Last Sunday the auto wouldn't start so the boss fell back on me. It was a mighty disagreeable forenoon. The boss family was out of humor because I couldn't go thirty miles an hour and then the hair from my back blew all over them. They didn't seem to appreciate my efforts at all.

One thing about Sunday that I don't like is that I get only two meals—one so late in the morning and the other in the afternoon. I like my meals more regular even if I am not working.

I hope it's not storming next Sunday so I'll be put out in the pasture. It gets monotonous standing in the stable all day.

It amuses me to see the boss all dressed up on Sunday. I'd hardly know him if it wasn't for his voice and even that fools me sometimes. He doesn't use so many curse words as during the week.

I have my Sunday evenings to myself now, and young Oscar the auto. He said the other day, he liked me some ways best.—Farm Life.

DEMANDS HALL-MILLS LETTERS

Husband of Slain Choir-Singer May Sue Daughter's Lawyer

OR WANTS MONEY NEWSPAPER PAID

New Witness Revealed As Grand Jury Time Approaches

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 15.—Apparently confident that the chain of evidence is complete, officials continued to-day preparations to present the Hall-Mills murder case to the grand jury Monday. Witnesses for the first day will include Pearl Bahmer and Raymond Schneider, who found the bodies of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, and County Detective George Totten, who had charge of the preliminary investigation.

Tuesday, Deputy Attorney General Mott said, he would present witnesses to show that Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall had knowledge of the relations between Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills. The grand jury will be in session from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. daily until the case is completed.

George Kuhn, owner of a small cigar store, who has not previously been mentioned in the case, has been called upon to testify before the grand jury. It was authoritatively learned, he claims that "Willie Stevens," brother of Mrs. Edward W. Hall, widow of the slain rector, was one of his regular customers.

The authorities investigating the case declined to indicate what Kuhn's testimony would be.

Detectives announced to-day that they had been devoting considerable time endeavoring to check up the story told by Mrs. Jane Gibson, who claims to have witnessed the murders. Doubt was cast to-day upon the authenticity of a statement made yesterday by two detectives that one of the witnesses to be called before the grand jury would testify that Mrs. Hall ran hurriedly to the home of her cousin, Henry Carpenter, on the night of the murders. Some officials denied that such a witness would be called and counsel for the widow emphatically denied the story of Mrs. Hall's alleged visit.

James Mills, husband of the slain choir singer, to-day made demand on Florence North, attorney for his daughter, Charlotte, for the return of letters alleged to have been sent by Mrs. Hall to Mrs. Mills and a diary in which the chorister is said to have recorded details of her relations with the minister.

These are the letters and diary which the woman attorney sold to a newspaper a short time after the discovery of the murders.

These letters and the diary belong to my wife's father, Mrs. W. A. Wheaton and Mrs. William Barclay, declared it was sold almost as fast as it was brought in.

The candy was dispensed by Mrs. N. E. Lewis, Mrs. C. F. Robinson and Mrs. Arthur Sprague and these ladies were busy most of the time making sales.

A new departure was the "book show" where Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Frank Cate, Mrs. A. W. Badger and Mrs. G. A. Wilkinson having charge of this department of the fair.

CABOT BOY HURT

When Struck By Automobile of K. D. Allen.

A Boston & Maine switching engine struck an automobile driven by J. W. Brigham of Lyndonville at the Main street crossing in Lyndonville about 8:25 p. m. Friday night, according to a report from a Boston & Maine official to the secretary of state. The report states that the switchman, a man named Richardson, had blocked the crossing against highway traffic and was holding four automobiles on the east side when Mr. Brigham drove down Main street and ran into the crossing without braking speed, the car being caught, breaking a fender on the right side and crushing in the front door on that side.

K. D. Allen of Cabot reports that his automobile struck a boy in Lower Cabot village last Friday, knocking his jaw out and loosening two or three teeth. The boy crossed the road three or four times, Mr. Allen states, and finally jumped in front of the car.

ONE JUROR DISQUALIFIED Because He Took Members of Grand Jury to Scene of Fatality.

The case of State vs. William Perry was continued in Washington county court this forenoon because it appeared that one of the jurors, Edward Gill of Montpelier, had taken some members of the grand jury to the scene of the death of Kelsey Freeman, out of which the case grew, at the time of the grand jury investigation. Mr. Gill was disqualified from service because of this.

State Attorney C. B. Adams said this morning the case will probably be taken up at the March term. The respondent is charged with manslaughter.

SAYS HEIRESS WELL TREATED

And Dorothy Gordon's Commitment to Asylum Regular

ACTING GOV. FULLER INVESTIGATED

Hearing For Removal of Girl's Guardian Suspended Ten Days

Boston, Nov. 15.—After a forenoon of inspection at the McLean hospital for the insane at Waverly, acting Governor Alvan T. Fuller to-day declared he was convinced that the commitment to the institution of Dorothy Gordon, heiress to a $400,000 estate, and her treatment there, were proper in every way.

The acting governor had gone to the asylum to investigate reports of irregularities concerning her commitment and treatment, that have grown out of the hearing before a master of a controversy over her guardianship.

Beyond satisfying himself that everything was regular, Mr. Fuller said he would make no comment on the case. He referred inquiries to Dr. George M. Kline, commissioner of mental diseases, whose department has charge of institutions for the insane. At the latter's office, it was said, Dr. Kline was absent from the city, and until he returned no action would be taken on the petition of Dr. Roland D. Sawyer of Ware, a member of the legislature for an investigation.

Hearing of the petition of Miss Gordon's uncle, John Gardner of Baldwin, L. I. for the removal of William F. Jardine of Winchester as guardian of the girl has been suspended for ten days.

Acting Governor Fuller, after attending a meeting of the executive council, gave out the following statement: "I talked with Miss Gordon. She is entirely satisfied with her treatment in the hospital, indicated to me that she knows her rights fully, and stated to me that she desired to remain there and would prefer to be left alone by those on the outside. She denied specifically the allegations that have been made to the effect that she has been abused."

"DEACON'S SECOND WIFE" Was Presented at Congregational Church—Last Evening.

The annual sale of the woman's association of the Congregational church, in progress yesterday and to-day, is receiving as usual a large patronage, and depleted stocks last night attested that such a witness would be called and counsel for the widow emphatically denied the story of Mrs. Hall's alleged visit.

James Mills, husband of the slain choir singer, to-day made demand on Florence North, attorney for his daughter, Charlotte, for the return of letters alleged to have been sent by Mrs. Hall to Mrs. Mills and a diary in which the chorister is said to have recorded details of her relations with the minister.

ENTHUSIASM PRECEDES RED CROSS DRIVE

Workers Look for Generous Response from People of Barre To-morrow.

To-morrow is the day of reckoning for the Red Cross. To-morrow is the day when Barre will determine the measure of support that is to be accorded the splendid work of the Barre chapter and its home nursing service. If the enthusiasm exhibited at the rally last evening is an indication of the public's attitude toward the welfare service that has been so signally successful this year, then the public's response to the drive to-morrow will be a generous response.

Captains and canvassers were among those who joined the general committee in the meeting at 7 Keith avenue last evening. Definite assignments of territory were made and the team captains were decorated and given instructions. Owing to the illness of W. P. Scott, the ward one captaincy was taken by Alderman Fred H. Rogers, while N. S. Love will serve as captain of the second ward canvassers in place of Harold Pitts.

There will be an even bigger round-up in Keith to to-morrow morning, for the campaign managers are planning a whirlwind start which will summon every captain and some sixty canvassers to the vicinity of Red Cross headquarters. At 9 o'clock Keith avenue will be scratch-line for every workman who will be decorated and from this point the solicitors will rally in every direction to cover the city.

Members of the Barre chapter will be on hand from 9 o'clock until evening to check returns and throughout the day and early evening refreshments will be served. Captains and canvassers will make a pre-emptive effort to have their returns complete and checked at headquarters before 7 p. m.

The opportunity to strengthen and perpetuate the telling work of the local Red Cross nurse should not be lost. Contributions of $5 yield $4.50 to local uses, and $9.50 of each $10 sustaining membership can be used for work right here at home.

Service on the part of the solicitors to-day is wholly voluntary and gives in both the business and residential sections should show their cheerful and willing public spirit by being ready to receive them, remembering that each team has a large area to cover, that it aims to cover it thoroughly, and what is more, that all of the campaigners' intensive efforts are being centered on a single day's drive.

MAYOR SHIELDS'S APPEAL To Barre People to Enlist in the Red Cross Cause.

To the Citizens of Barre: This week Thursday is the annual roll call of the American Red Cross and I sincerely hope every citizen of Barre will do his best to make the membership 100 per cent this year.

There are two special reasons why the public generally should assist the Red Cross at the present time. One is that it has been of real service to the former soldiers, who have been disabled and that it has co-operated with the government in looking after their welfare. The second is that it is giving great aid to the distressed people of the Near East.

We are all familiar with the good work the Red Cross has done in Barre, both through the efforts of the local chapter and our capable Red Cross nurse. I, therefore, hope that all present members will renew their membership and that those who have not joined heretofore, will deem it their duty to do so this year.

Waldron Shield, Mayor. Barre, Vt., Nov. 15, 1922.

K. OF P. GAVE $25. In the Red Cross Drive to Be Conducted in Barre.

The annual roll call, or membership drive of the Barre chapter of the Red Cross was given a fine boost when an initial subscription of $25 was voted by members of Vincinia lodge No. 10, Knights of Pythias, in regular meeting last evening. The gift is the first to be made by a fraternal organization in the city and is worthy of emulation by others. The rank of page was conferred on Laurence Campbell and Dean Davis, followed by a luncheon.

COLONIAL HOMES. And Art of Interior Decorations Lectured About.

Members of the Barre Woman's club and friends, who listened at a goodly audience that gathered attentively to an address on "The Art of Interior Decoration," in the opera house last evening, the subject being handled by Miss Mary H. Northend of Salem, Mass., an authority on home decorations. There would have been many more but for the conflicting attractions.

Miss Northend, who is a direct descendant of one of Salem's old settlers, brought to her hearers a message that was full of inspiration and she displayed on the screen 75 colored slides, exact reproductions of many of the colonial homes in and around Salem. In justice to the speaker it should be stated that she fell to the opera house in the morning, in which her glasses were broken, cutting her face quite badly and being injured otherwise, very nearly prevented her from delivering her lecture. As it was she worked under considerable of a nervous strain.

The thanks of the committee are due A. W. Badger & Co. for the loan of colonial furniture, used in giving a reproduction of the Wallace Nutting paintings, and also to the many others who assisted in any way.

Miss Northend was privileged to inspect the colonial homes in and around Barre and also the quarters through the kindness of William Barclay, who is deeply interested in Miss Northend's subject. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon Miss Carrie Wharlock entertained Miss Northend and a few of the older residents of the city. The lecture was given under the auspices of the home economics department.

BAFFLED BY ORFORD CRIME

Investigators Look Toward Theory of Revenge in Davis Murders

RECOVERY OF SOME VALUABLES

Has Weakened Somewhat the Theory That Robbery Was Motive

Orford, N. H., Nov. 15.—Investigation of the killing of the aged brothers, John and Charles Davis, in their home here last week was divided to-day between tentative theories of robbery and revenge.

While arrangements were being made for the funeral this afternoon of the two men, whose bodies were found Sunday night, county authorities and private detectives tried without success to obtain a later trace of the men than last Wednesday in order to get a more definite starting point in the search for the murderer.

The theory that robbery was the motive had lost strength somewhat by the finding of ten watches, other jewelry and two bankbooks belonging to the brothers. A bundle of bills, said to amount to $1200, is still missing, but it was said to-day that the belief that John Davis carried this hoard on his person was more a matter of report than of knowledge.

The question of installing a new compressed air fire alarm system to take the place of the one now in use, which is unreliable, was brought up and on the motion of Alderman Rogers the city clerk was instructed to write to some of the towns of this county with the aged brothers, who were killed by the fire, in finger prints its bloodstained handle. These were under expert examination to-day.

REV. P. M. McKENNA ALWAYS FAVORED PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

Corrects Impression Gained from Remark of One Speaker at Recent City Meeting.

In a statement to The Times to-day, Rev. P. M. McKenna of St. Monica's church corrected an impression gained at the city meeting Monday night from the remarks of one speaker that he, Rev. McKenna, was personally opposed to the establishment of a parochial school in Barre. He declares that he not only is and has been in favor of such a school but has himself contributed to the fund for that purpose.

Rev. McKenna said to-day: "In Tuesday's issue of The Times, in the report of the Monday evening city meeting, Mr. A. G. Fay is quoted as having said he understood that the Rev. P. M. McKenna had not been personally in favor of establishing a parochial school in Barre.

"To obtain any misunderstanding on the point I wish to say that I have been, and am, personally and decidedly, in favor of a Catholic school for Barre; that I have for years worked to prepare the way for it; that I have donated over $5,000 to the parochial school fund; that I am heartily co-operating in every way with the determination to institute a parochial school here; and that I know of no city or town of considerable size in Vermont where a Catholic school is more needed.

"For the peace of mind of those who injected the Catholic school issue into the discussion concerning the sale of the Summer street school building, an issue, by the way, with which a city meeting had nothing to do, I may say now that the decision not to sell that building will neither prevent, nor long delay, the establishment of a Catholic school in Barre. "P. M. McKenna."

Nov. 15, 1922. ENTERS B. W. HOOKER & CO. Gerald A. Bixby Becomes Member of Barre Corporation.

Announcement is made to-day that Gerald A. Bixby has been admitted to membership in the corporation of B. W. Hooker & Co., the well known Barre firm of furniture dealers and undertakers. Mr. Bixby is a son-in-law of B. W. Hooker, head of the corporation, having married Bertha, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hooker. During the winter Mr. and Mrs. Bixby and two children will make their home at 17 Park street.

Mr. Bixby's former home was in Chelsea. He was graduated from Norwich university in 1918, served as second lieutenant in the U. S. field artillery in the south during the war and since that service has been associated as civil engineer with the Illinois state highway department. He has already begun his active duties at the store of B. W. Hooker & Co. and will be cordially welcomed into the commercial life of the community and as a resident of Barre while Mrs. Bixby's many friends will be pleased to welcome her back to her home town.

NEW FIRE ALARM SYSTEM PROPOSED

Aldermen Will Investigate Merits of Compressed Air System.

The regular meeting of the Barre board of aldermen last evening was probably one of the shortest on record, there being a scarcity of business before the board, and the low condition of the city treasury would not warrant any member of the board suggesting any project.

A communication was received from Secretary Tudor Bradley of the Barre Outing club asking that the club be given permission to cross Nelson and Camp streets with a toboggan chute this year. Alderman Averill made the motion and on the request of the club he granted provided that they live up to the restrictions placed on the Board of Trade last year when the streets were closed.

The question of the Nelson Lumber company using water from a city main was brought before the council again, an investigation having been reported by Alderman Averill. Several years ago when a barrel faucet was used at the mill a charge of $6 yearly was made for the use of the water. For the past few years they have been using water in their boilers, etc., and have paid no fee for the same, it was said. An estimate on the amount of water used yearly placed the amount at over $100 and the council decided that the water superintendent should investigate the case and report back to the committee.

Colonel W. A. McIntyre of the Salvation Army had a communication before the board asking for an investigation and signing of a quit claim deed and waiver on the old city hall building which the Army is purchasing. The waiver and deed were presented and signed and a certified check of $2,500 on the property accepted.

The question of installing a new compressed air fire alarm system to take the place of the one now in use, which is unreliable, was brought up and on the motion of Alderman Rogers the city clerk was instructed to write to some of the towns of this county with the aged brothers, who were killed by the fire, in finger prints its bloodstained handle. These were under expert examination to-day.

The license committee reported favorably on its investigation of Luke Gallagher's new pool room on North Main street. The license was granted and was granted to Mr. Gallagher to conduct the parlors.

The building inspector reported the request of F. Palato to build a six-foot addition to his piazza on 6 George street the roof to be of fireproof material, and the request of A. L. Boyce to build a garage on the rear of his home on 75 Merchant street. Both permits were granted.

The following warrants were read and ordered paid: City clerk, payroll, $86.07; street payroll, $378.49; engineer's payroll, $41.15; water payroll, $74.53; fire payroll, $19.85; police payroll, $86.75; election officers' payroll for work at polls Nov. 7, 8, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1922, $2,647.50; C. L. Booth, $20; D. M. Gilbertson, $9.00; H. Wm. Scott, salary as overseer of the poor, $150; R. E. Avery, services as city physician, $50.

Board of charities and probate, $17.77; J. H. Hastings, $28.35; Kempton Mills, $15.00; Lowell, $27.00; B. W. Hooker and company, $6; Allen Lumber company, $1.15; Harvey and Mower, $23.05; H. G. Bennett, $8.34; J. J. Lamb Co., $8; Granite City Press, $77.52; N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co., $9.57; city treasurer, cash paid out on superintendent order No. 287; park commissioners, appropriation and rents for 1922, $450.

MAINO-REDMOND. World War Veteran and Red Cross Nurse in Ireland Married.

Wedding bells rang joyfully this morning when Helen Redmond, nurse in the Red Cross, and Frank Maino of 24 Maple avenue, was united in marriage to Frank Maino of Granite street, the ceremony taking place at St. Monica's church at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. P. M. McKenna pronounced the vows, the single ring service being used.

The couple were attended by Miss Emma Carmichael, cousin of the groom, and John T. Redmond. The bride was prettily gowned in blue georgette, with shadow lace, and hat to match and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Her maid wore a dress of blue headed, castanet crepe and carried pink roses.
