FIGHT TO GET WOMAN FREE

Friends of Mrs. May B. Ford Try to Raise $25,000 for Bail

SHE PLEADED NOT GUILTY

When Arraigned at Detroit for Plotting To Slay Her Husband

Detroit, Dec. 9.—Friends of Mrs. May B. Ford, charged with plotting to slay her estranged husband, Ney J. Ford, a wealthy farmer, renewed their efforts to-day to obtain freedom for the prisoner. Mrs. Ford spent last night in jail unable to raise the $25,000 bond required by the Recorder's court, before which she pleaded not guilty yesterday.

EAST CORINTH

The annual meeting of the woman's union will be held with Mrs. A. C. Jackman Dec. 12. Be sure to be there and learn what has been done the past year, and get a look for the future in 1923; also see if you get into office.

All our young people were here for the Thanksgiving vacation.

Charles Young was taken very sick with pneumonia Saturday, but at this writing he seems to be coming along nicely. Mrs. Arthur Brown is nurse.

Owing to having lost two weeks, the school only had a recess from Thursday to Monday.

There is talk of having a local talent minstrel show here sometime before Christmas, if they can get it ready.

The Christmas exercises and trees are to be in Community hall and will be a community affair. Mrs. I. M. Worthley and Mrs. H. T. Metcalf have charge of the exercises.

East Corinth will get to be quite a radio center, A. C. W. T. and H. A. Jackman having had them put in already.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taplin and Miss Harriet F. James left for Iowa Tuesday, where they expect to spend the winter.

One of the largest Thanksgiving dinner parties in this vicinity was at W. H. Thompson's, where nineteen sat down. Of this number there were brides of less than a year and one other couple had only been married a year and a half. Quite a record as one of each couple were cousins.

COUNTER PROPOSALS MADE BY TURKEY

Concerning the Control of the Straits of Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

Lausanne, Dec. 8 (By the Associated Press).—Turkey presented to the Near East conference to-day counter suggestions concerning control of the straits of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. The Turks ask:

First—Guarantees against surprise attacks from land or sea threatening the security of the straits of Constantinople or of the sea of Marmora.

Second—Limitation of naval forces bound for the Black sea so that they will not constitute a danger to the zone extending between the two straits to the Black sea. Turkey expresses the view that these forces might be composed of light warships, employed for the protection of international commerce.

Third—Interdiction upon the maintenance of warships in the Black sea.

Fourth—Liberty of passage for merchantmen in time of peace and of war.

The Turkish position on the question of the straits was presented by Ismet Pasha, who gave a historical sketch of the problem of the straits, declaring Turkey had never acted contrary to international treaties concerning that waterway.

Ismet mentioned certain points in the inter-allied proposals which he considered particularly harmful to Turkey. Of these the first was the inclusion of the sea of Marmora in the definition of the straits because preparations for defense on the shores of this sea were necessary for the defense of Anatolia and Thrace and yet would not affect the liberty of passage for vessels.

Another point he made was that it was needless to have a demilitarized zone around the Bosphorus. It was sufficient, he considered, to indicate that there would be no fortifications, either land or naval, on either shore.

His third point was in connection with the allied suggestion that in the demilitarized zones there should be no movement of troops. He thought on the contrary, that such movement should be permitted, because the zones in question connect the two parts of the country.

Again, he contended that in order to defend the shores of the sea of Marmora by a fleet Turkey would have to keep arsenals and other naval equipment in Constantinople and the straits. He thought also that the limits of the demilitarized zones were too great, and contended that the four islands in the straits should be recognized as under Turkish sovereignty.

As to the Gallipoli peninsula, he thought a minimum means of defense ought to be assured to preserve it against surprise attack.
