In most cases showing these symptoms the child has worms, and all that it needs is some simple remedy, such as Hart's Worm Cream, to expel the worms, and the child will soon be in perfect health again. Parents, try it and let your little ones have a fair chance for life.

FOUR YEARS ON CRUTCHES.

For fifteen years I was afflicted with rheumatism, four years of which I was compelled to go on crutches. Words are inadequate to express the suffering I endured during that time. During these fifteen years of existence (it was not living), I tried every known remedy without receiving any benefit. I finally began on Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which from the first gave me relief, and today I am enjoying the best of health, and am a well man. I can only believe that S. S. S. is the best blood purifier on the market today.

A NINETY MILE BEACH.

The Love of the seashore seems to be absolutely universal. To young people especially is a trip to the margin of the great deep a source of delight. The Gipsies find no exception to this rule. Through they have much delightful scenery really accessible, the excursion which is far and away the favorite with them is still to the ocean shore, where they can inhale the ozone of the fresh sea air, and watch the great rollers of the Pacific come tumbling in upon that interminable beach which flanks the whole of the lake district.

To picnic on the shores and to wander about, searching among the sea stacks for delicately tinted shells, seems to afford as much amusement for the grown up folks as for the children.

It cannot be merely the change from inland scenes and life that gives this fascination to the shore, for those who live all their lives beside the sea are as much under its influence as those who know a sight of the ocean is an occasional treat. Facts have long and men of letters have long and long ago told us the secret of this love for it, this all-prevailing desire to get near it as if a companionship were there found. This love for the ocean shore fills the excursion steamers, which run from San Francisco and Baltimore in the summer time, with crowds of bright faced youngsters for delicately tinted shells, seems to afford as much amusement for the grown up folks as for the children.

In the year ending June, 1872, the number of vessels under the British flag to which accidents happened of various kinds, was 7,724, involving the loss of 2,541 lives. This is a melancholy record, but is less than the average for ten years of about fifty lives. There were 360 total losses, of which nearly one-third are reported as missing.

Advantages of "The Early Wink."

"Sleep is closely connected with the question of diet; 'good sleeping' was a noticeable feature in the large majority of Dr. Humphrey's cases. Sound, refreshing sleep is of the utmost consequence to the health of the body, and no substitute can be found for it as a restorer of vital energy. Sleeplessness, however, often a source of great trouble to elderly people, and one that is not easily relieved. Narcotic remedies are generally mischievous; their first effects may be pleasant, but the habit of depending upon them rapidly grows until they become indispensable. When this stage has been reached the sufferer is in a far worse plight than before.

In all cases the end-avor should be made to discover whether the sleeplessness be due to any removable cause, such as indigestion, cold, want of exercise, and the like. In regard to sleeping in the daytime, there is something to be said both for and against that practice. A nap of "forty winks" in the afternoon enables many aged people to get through the rest of the day in comfort, whereas they feel tired and weak when deprived of this refreshment. If they rest well at night there can be no objection to the afternoon nap, but if sleeplessness be complained of, the latter should be discontinued for a time. Most old people find that a reclining posture, with the feet and legs raised, is better than the horizontal position for the afternoon nap. Digestion proceeds with more ease than when the body is incumbent.

—Dr. Robinson Rouse.

What Makes Wrinkles.

The general impression about wrinkles is that they are caused by worry, but the truth is that most of them come from laughing. To know how to laugh is just as important as to know when to do it. If you laugh with the sides of your face the skin will work loose in time, and wrinkles will form in exact accordance with the kind of laugh you have. The man who always wears a stink will have a series of semicircular wrinkles covering his cheeks. A gambler, who is accustomed to suppressing his feelings, generally has a deep line running from each side of his nose to the upper corner of his mouth, which in time extends to the chin, forming the shape of a half moon. A man whose person is usually marked with two wrinkles, one on the jaw and the other under the eye, meeting at right angles at the cheek bones. The scholar's wrinkle forms on his brow, while a seaman's wrinkles come around his eyes, and look like spokes of a wheel. Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Is Consumption Inevitable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable Consumptive. Begon taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Trouble. Was given up by all my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."
