Sugar, under the McKinley law, was retailed (the granulated), 18 pounds for a dollar; now, under the Gorman-Wilson law, the same grade of sugar is sold only 15 pounds.—Webster Herald.

The "purchaser" can get 18 pounds of granulated sugar for $1 in Asheville as of yet.

AMMUNITION FOR BAYARD said in his speech the other day at his home in Delaware, in speaking of many things that attracted his attention in London, that he "never saw a policeman carrying a bill," etc. If the distinguished statesman will cast his vision into the direction of this mountain city he will see a Big Chief who not only carries a bill, but is almost crazy to use it on himself for the way Lusk, Pearson & Co. have "messed things" for the Republicans.

THE PLEDGES FULFILLED.

In order to redeem all the pledges of the Chicago platform, it is absolutely necessary that the legislative tickets of North Carolina Democrats should be elected, for upon their election hangs the political complexion of the United States Senate.

Some of those pledges have been redeemed already, among which are the repeal of the Sherman law, the repeal of the McKinley law and the repeal of the force bill. But one other measure of prime importance remains unsecured, and that is the enactment of a law for the relief of the financial stringency. If the Republicans get control of either branch of Congress the Democrats will be powerless to give any relief in money matters, and the country will go on as it is now going, without a sufficient circulating medium with which to carry on its business.

While the McKinley law has been repealed, and the Wilson law has been placed on the statute books in its stead, thus saving the people at least 33 percent, the Democrats do not mean to stop there in their efforts to reform the tariff. By no means. The party does not intend, either, to bring about another long tariff agitation. But it does intend to make all raw material free, and to get out of the clutches of the sugar trust. This, however, can only be accomplished by having a larger majority in the next Senate of the United States than it now has; for past experience has shown that three recalcitrant senators were able to defeat all efforts to bring about these desirable results. Still, nothing is to be done in any event to discourage business or unsettle values. There are only a few articles to be affected by the proposed additional tariff legislation, coal, iron and sugar being the chief, and when the time comes to act, the Democrats propose to strike quickly and effectively at these protected articles, without long discussions or unnecessary delays. The country has already spoken its mind, and discussion is useless.

But in addition, the Democrats propose to move more than make their pledges good on the financial question. They are determined to give to the people all the money their business requires, every dollar of which shall be as good as the best gold dollar ever coined.

SQUEALERS.

The Philadelphia Record says the following card is circulating in that town:

YES, BUSINESS IS GOOD!
 DON'T SQUEAL, BUT ROAR!

This reminds THE CITIZEN that the whole tribe of Republican speakers, from McKinley clear on down, down, down to Richmond Pearson are doing nothing these days except squeal. They are howling calamity from the beginning of the week even to the end thereof. Their speeches are as valuable, and are of the same order, as the fog caught under the gate. They stand with backs to the future, painting the immediate past in dark colors and predicting that the country is ruined by the Democrats who, in all other walks of life except the political ones, they will acknowledge are as successful, as able, as enterprising as are the Republicans. The inference from their miscreant remarks is that they would wish the country would go to eternal smash while the Democrats are in power, so that over one half of the people of the United States might be convicted of violating support a party that is not the equal of the Republican party in the management of public affairs. They stand around with long faces, shrouded in gloom and steeped in croakings of the dire disasters that are to come if the Democrats are to be continued in power.

"What about the income tax," a hearer asked of McKinley; and the great man of one idea whines back: "Wait till there are any incomes to tax."

Well, the procession continues to move forward toward complete prosperity, better business, lower taxation and economy in the administration of affairs of the general government; and this while of the Republican orators comes near to being criminal. The man who gets up to make it ought, as was once said in the North Carolina Legislature, to have his "right hand cleave to the roof of his mouth," and stay there till some sense had been borne in upon him from a reliable source.

Out upon the calamity howlers and breeders! They should go to the swamps and croak with their kind.

Notice.

All persons holding claims against the city of Asheville contracted prior to May 15, 1893, are requested to present them at once at the Mayor's office.

"TO A REBELLIOUS NATION."

The sermon of Rev. Dr. R. F. Campbell Sunday Morning.

Yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church, the Rev. R. F. Campbell preached from the parable of chapter second:

And he said unto him, son of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: they do send thee unto them and thou shalt say unto them, thus saith the Lord God, etc.

Mr. Campbell said: "People come to church from many different motives: because they have nothing else to do; to break the monotony of what is to them a long and dull day—or from force of habit. How few there are that come from the right motive. Let us consider it in morning what God's word teaches us on this subject. In the first place, the preacher is called a 'son of man.' He is only a man, with the weaknesses, frailties and shortcomings of other men. He can do nothing of himself. He needs the prayers of his people. How many of you this morning before coming to church tell upon your knees in prayer to God for your pastor? It is what you ought to do. Do not forget to pray for your pastor; to ask God to help him. God to reach the souls of men does not send angels, but a son of man, that he may draw souls by the bonds of love and sympathy. When he sent his only begotten Son into the world, he sent him as a son of man, that he might know man's nature and be a merciful and just judge.

"We learn, too, that the preacher is sent of God. 'I send thee.' When you read the message the preacher brings to you, you do not set aside the words of the man, but the words of God, and the preacher must remember that he is God's messenger, and must deliver the message faithfully. He must preach the law and the gospel in its entirety. He must preach Sin and Calvary; he must tell his people that God is angry with the wicked every day, and that God reprobeth not in the death of the wicked, but rather that he turn from his wickedness and live. He must preach God's wrath and God's infinite love and mercy. Let us be thankful that there is so much pure gospel preached today. But there are pulpits where are preached the doctrines of human philosophy, the doctrine of morality divorced from religion and sentimental humanitarianism. It is a great temptation to preach an easier way of salvation, to preach peace, peace, where there is no peace, and to change the law of God's commands to suit the customs of the age—and the preacher while he may draw from nature, from books, from art to illustrate the lessons he would teach, must take care not to use these illustrations to impress his hearers with his own learning. He must use them only to bring home the message to the hearts of his hearers, not to exalt himself.

Today, as in the days of Ezekiel, the message comes to a rebellious nation. The natural heart of man does not receive the word of God willingly. The sainted Doctor Peck once told me that before he was converted he used to leave God's house grinding his teeth in wrath against God. No doubt there are men and women before me today who are angry with God. I beseech you in the name of Christ Jesus to be at one with your God. By his agony and bloody sweat, by his cross and passion, by his precious death and burial, by his glorious resurrection and ascension, I beseech you to be reconciled to your God."

CAMPBELL NOTES.

New Democratic Clubs Organized Saturday Evening.

Joseph S. Adams and Chas. A. Webb addressed a good crowd at Pickett's school house, Swannanoa township, Saturday evening. It was the occasion of the organization of a Democratic club. The new club began with a good enrollment of members who will work for the success of Democracy. The Democratic speakers were applauded at every point. They divided time with T. J. Lottan and H. C. Long. The Democrats of Swannanoa are hard at work.

A Democratic club was organized at Jarrett's school house Saturday evening, with 28 members enrolled. W. K. Whitson and D. M. Luther were the speakers of the evening, and their talks were enjoyed by the audience.

Chas. A. Webb will speak at Beversdam this evening, and the Republicans have said that this time they will have a speaker there for him to divide time with.

YOU MUST REGISTER.

If You Do Not, You Cannot Vote November 6th.

Every voter in Buncombe county should remember that he must register before October 27th, or he cannot vote. It makes no difference how many times you may have registered before; it must be done again. This new registration was made necessary because of the declaration made by Richmond Pearson that he would challenge every voter in the Ninth Congressional district who was not registered strictly in accordance with the letter of the law. Pearson is the only politician who has ever come before the people of Western North Carolina making such a threat.

If you are not registered anew, with all the 'i's dotted and 's' crossed, Pearson has pledged himself to see to it that your vote is thrown out.

REFLECTED.

I see the summer stars upon the river.

They glitter where the water lies like fire.

Because they rest and those lowly blossoms

Think you they left their home in yonder sky?

Our souls are like the waters of the river.

Our dead are like the tremble stars above;

Their presence comes to us no leaves to Heaven.

But lies reflected in our dreams by love.

WEARINESS

In women, that nervous, aching, worn-out feeling, comes to an end with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It restores your strength; it puts new life into you; it brings you back into the world again.

It is a powerful general, as well as uterine, tonic and nerve, especially adapted to women's delicate wants. It regulates and promotes all the natural functions, and builds up, invigorates, and cures.

Tryon, N. C.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Sir—My wife improved in health gradually from the time she commenced taking "Favorite Prescription" until now. She has been doing her own housework for the past four months. When she began taking it, she was scarcely able to be on her feet, she suffered so from uterine debility. I can heartily recommend it for such cases.
