Carsen and Misses Hattie Alexander, Ella Phillips, Claudia Emma, Annie and Grace Sample, Susie McCullough, Laura Stinespring and Minna Fishback.

Gay Benefit Party at Terrace.
The biggest and most interesting social event of the past week in the gay whirl of pleasures at the Carolina Terrace was the eighteen table card party given Friday afternoon in the ball room, by the ladies of the Terrace hotel for the benefit of the food sufferers of Henderson county. The scene was a very animated one with lovely women in the most fashionable costumes in the fascinating game of bridge. About one hundred ladies and gentlemen enjoyed the festivities of the occasion. Punch was served during the progress of the game, and was passed around by Misses Ollie Ellis, of San Antonio, Texas, and Margaret White, of Atlanta. The ladies presiding over the punch bowl were Mrs. Thos. B. Whitted, of Charlotte; Mrs. G. W. Martin of San Antonio, Texas; Mrs. H. C. Small, of Macon, Ga.; Mrs. W. H. Mixson of Charleston, S. C.; Mrs. James A. Robinson, of Durham, N. C. Those receiving trophies for the highest scores were Miss Tillie Brown, of Savannah, Ga.; Mrs. John White, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Frank Stedman, of Fayetteville, N. C.; Mrs. N. S. Neilson, of Greenville, Miss.; Mrs. L. W. Hinton, of Charleston, S. C.; Mrs. L. N. Tison, of Savannah, Ga.; Miss Charlotte Erson, of Hendersonville, N. C.; Dr. T. H. Tuten, of Alameda, S. C.; Miss Dorothy Marx, of New Orleans, La., and Master Orin McCarty, of San Antonio, Texas. A silver offering was taken and $41.20 was the total amount contributed. Dedicating the incidentals expenses the ladies had the pleasure of turning over to Mayor Brooks, of Hendersonville, for the benefit of the flood sufferers of $32 county, the handsome sum of $32. Much of the success of the party was due to the energetic efforts of Mrs. James A. Robinson, of Durham, and Mrs. W. H. Mixson, of Charleston, S. C.

Medical Value of Piece of Wood.
In the curious old "Virginia Almanac," published in the eighteenth century, among other quaint prescriptions and receipts is an amusing "Receipt to keep oneself warm a whole winter with a single billet of wood." Mr. Paul Leland Haworth records it in "George Washington—Farmer": "Take a billet of wood of a competent size, fling it out of the garret window into the yard, run downstairs as hard as you can drive; and when you have got it, run up again with it at the same measure of speed; and thus keep throwing down and fetching up, till the exercise shall have sufficiently heated you. This renew as often as occasion shall require. Probatum est."

It Never Does.
We have implored nobody to run for an office and do not expect to. But that fact is not holding any of the boys back.—Houston Post.

Score One for Esau.
Esau was a better business man than most of the spendthrifts. He got the mess of pottage for which he traded his birthright.

CAUGHT ON THE CURB

Lee Whitney of this place, had the left side of his face painfully bruised when an automobile in which he and several others were riding was overturned Saturday night.

Two Sunday school classes of the First Baptist church of Biltmore, picked at Laurel Park Tuesday. The classes were accompanied by their teachers and Rev. C. N. Rock, pastor of the church, the latter coming with a part of the party in an automobile and the rest by train. There was 32 in all who attended on this very pleasant occasion.

Many persons from far and near are daily visiting Bat Cave and Chimney Rock, viewing the changes wrought there by the high waters last week. The road from here to Bat Cave is in good condition for the use of automobiles, and from Bat Cave to Chimney Rock can be reached over a bridge path.

The Kanuga Lake dam will be rebuilt at a point nearer the club house and the lake will be somewhat smaller, according to George Stephens, of Charlotte, the owner, who has been spending some time at Kanuga. It is also planned to build another 9 hole golf course nearer the club house. Mr. Stephens does not think that the Henderson county authorities will sue him for the loss of bridges as noted in last week's Hustler.

The breaking of Kanuga dam and the rushing of waters down the gorge was the subject of an illustration in Leslie's Weekly last week. A photograph made at the time the dam broke was enlarged by Leslie's and it took its place in the paper alongside other recent important news illustrations.

The Sixth company coast artillery corps North Carolina National guard, returned to Hendersonville Sunday morning from their annual encampment with the five other companies of the state at Fort Caswell near Wilmington. The men enjoyed their trip immensely and returned in good health.

Rev. F. G. Morgan, pastor of the Lutheran congregation here spent the greater part of last week at his home in Hickory. He made the trip going by Ridgecrest and Old Fort, using a wagon down the mountain, and returning by way of Gastonia and Spartanburg. Mr. Morgan will leave early in September for Hickory to take up his duties as a member of the faculty of Lenoir college and his place here will be supplied by different Lutheran pastors during the winter.

The Henderson County Milling company resumed operation of its mill near Flat Rock last Tuesday afternoon for the first time since the floods of last month. This mill sustained heavy damages in having part of the concrete dam and some of the machinery washed away.

W. O. Jordan, the proprietor, says that he is now in a position to receive all the corn and wheat that the farmers of the county can deliver. In fact he remarked that owing to the short crops this year he could contract for all the surplus corn and wheat raised in Henderson county and then he would have to go outside and buy more. The daily capacity of the mill is 25 barrels of flour and a moderate amount of meal and by products. Mr. Jordan leaves next week for Tennessee and Kentucky where he expects to buy wheat.

TO EXTEND SERVICE.

Hendersonville-Asheville Traffic Service to Add More Cars Next Year.

The Hendersonville-Asheville Traffic Service, Inc., operating big twelve passenger cars between here and Asheville this summer, plan next year to extend their service and take in Waynesville and Black Mountain. This year the company has two cars in service between here and the mountain "metropolis" and enjoys a splendid patronage, and it is planned next season to have more cars and operate them upon more frequent schedules. An automobile trip over the splendid highway between here and Asheville has the pleasure that one gets from being carried swiftly through the bracing mountain breezes and offers exhilaration that one does not meet when riding on trains, hence many take advantage of this method of transportation.

Mr. Andrews, who has been active in the management of the cars during this summer, is a clever man, and is always on the job when it comes to looking after the comfort of his passengers. His associates are all good business men and we are glad to see them making a success out of the venture.

HERZ ON THE SCREEN IN "THE PURPLE LADY."

Ralph Herz, the popular stage star, will make his debut in the silent drama here at the Queen on Tuesday, Aug. 29, in "The Purple Lady," a five-part Metro-Rolle wonderplay. Irene Howley, the beautiful and vivacious little actress who has been seen in many elaborate Metro pictures is featured with Mr. Herz in this production. "The Purple Lady" is a picturization of the play of the same name written by Sydney Rosenfeld. It was selected by Metro for Mr. Herz's debut because of the many possibilities it offered for screen production. Besides the humorous side of "The Purple Lady" there are many thrills in this feature, for there is a strong and absorbing mystery and a love story told in a new and novel manner.

and the following, each, received a prize for the best entry from their respective townships: Mrs. Kinsey, from Mills River; Mrs. R. H. Sumner, from Indian Cave Park; Mrs. Dicie Hyder, from Blue Ridge; Mrs. Connell, Dr. Wm. Scheppegrell, Mrs. Steadman, Miss Mary Brown and Miss Wilfong; additional prize winners were, Mrs. W. A. Smith, Mrs. W. M. McPeeters and Mrs. Basil C. Aitwine.

A floral parade at 11 o'clock heralded the show. A committee composed of Mrs. L. R. Barnwell and Mrs. Edward Perry, of Hendersonville and Mrs. J. S. McKenzie, of Florence, S. C., awarded the prize for the most beautifully decorated car to Miss Harriett White, of Fort Pierce, Florida. Miss White's car was covered with sky blue streamers with silver stars and was very representative, as one of the judges remarked, of the "Beautiful Land of the Sky," whence Miss White, with her family journeys each summer to escape the heat and discomfort of her Florida home and enjoy the beauties of nature and other attractions of Hendersonville. Miss White drove her car herself and had with her a charming bevy of girls who were prettily attired in white with blue and silver decorations in harmony with her car color scheme and who were Misses Ruth Smith, Gladys Gover and Elsie Ficker, of Hendersonville, Miss Bess Lee, of Statesboro, Ga., Miss Mary Denmark and Miss Anna Earning.

Mother of Vice Presidents.

Discussing the candidacy of Fairbanks, one of our esteemed contemporaries jocularly referred to Indiana as "the mother of vice presidents." The claim is unfounded, for this distinction belongs to New York. Our state has been the home of no less than ten vice presidents: Aaron Burr, George Clinton, Daniel D. Tompkins, Martin Van Buren, Millard Fillmore, William A. Wheeler, Chester A. Arthur, Levi P. Morton, Theodore Roosevelt and James S. Sherman. What is more, four of them were presidents later—Van Buren by election, Fillmore and Arthur to fill accidental vacancies and Roosevelt to fill a vacancy and also by election. But Indiana can claim only four vice presidents—Schuyler Colfax, Thomas A. Hendricks, Charles W. Fairbanks and Thomas R. Marshall. In the running mate rivalry, however, Indiana leads New York in one respect. Since the Civil war she has furnished three unsuccessful nominees for vice president—Hendricks in 1876, William H. English in 1880 and John W. Kern in 1908—as against New York's two—Whitelaw Reid in 1892 and Sherman (who died before the close of the campaign) in 1912.—Sfrazuse Herald.

Spooks Took Him to the Hills.

Chairovants, whom he frequently consulted, convinced Fred Sherman, son-in-law of William C. Nevin, president of the Nevin Candy company, that a fortune lay within his grasp in a prospect hole, high on the Medicine Bow mountains in Wyoming; so Sherman went there with his twenty-two year old bride, Edna Nevin Sherman, who was fresh from high school and society, and took up his residence in a dilapidated log shack with a dirt roof through which rain and melting snow poured in muddy streams. Months of life in this rude shelter obliterated Mrs. Sherman's love for her husband.

This is the substance of an answer filed by William C. Nevin to the $10,000 alienation suit filed against the candy manufacturer.—Denver Rocky Mountain News.

Meaning of the Ballet.

A recent contributor to the Unpopular Review reminds us soberly that, as the democratic state cannot rise above the level of its voters, and as nationality means for us merely the will of the people, it might not be amiss to guard the franchise with reasonable solicitude, and to ask something more than unlimited ignorance and the absence of a criminal record as its price. If every man—alien or native born—who casts his ballot could be made to know and to feel that "all the political forces of his country were mainly occupied for a hundred years in making that act possible," and that the United States is, and has always been, the nation of those "who would be Americans," citizenship might become for us what it was to Rome, what it is to France—the interpretation of honor, the symbol of self-sacrifice.—Agnes Repplier, in the Atlantic Monthly.

Immensity of Jupiter.

Everything connected with Jupiter is so colossal that our utmost efforts fail to grasp a definite idea of the immense scale on which it is constructed. It is next to impossible to form an adequate idea of its great size by the use of figures as used in the science of astronomy. To grasp an idea of the dimensions of this huge planet we must compare it with something with which we are more or less familiar. To this end what will serve our purpose better than to increase, as it were, the size of our earth to that of Jupiter, for who is not familiar with the geography of our globe?
