ACTIVITY IMPRESSES VISITORS

A. C. L. General Office Addition-The | this time of excitement. Bear Building, Sternberger Building, Elks' Temple and Gaylord's Racket Store-Front Street "a Fair Sample." Numerous Substantial Residences. Wilmington in the Lead.

There is no city in the state or out of it either, said a gentleman yesterday who travels extensively, which impreses me so forcible with the magnitude of her building interests as does Wilmington. When a visitor get off the train at Front street depot and starts down town to the hotel, before he goes a square he sees he work in progress at the Atlantic Coast Line general offices, clearing up the site for the mammoth addition to be erected there involving the expenditure of many thousands of dollars. A little further up Front street, at the corner of Grace, there is the handsome Bear building with its buff brick and brown stone finish, alive with carpenters and brick masons. Two doors below this building there are the Sternberger building and Elks temple going up side by side, the two aggregating a cost of nearly $30,000. Then right across the street and almost opposite is the big George O. Gaylord racket store building nearly three stories of the walls of which are up, the building to cost probably $15,000. The traveling man asked if it was possible that other streets in the city showed a building activity in keeping with that on Front street and was assured that this street was only a "fair sample". And in proof of this assertion were sighted the handsome residence of Hon. John D. Bellamy on Market street; that of Captain Donald MacRae on Dock street; that of Mr. W. H. Sprunt on Third street and hundreds of less costly but really handsome residences going up in all parts of the city and last but far from being least, the splendid $30,000 Walker memorial hospital, corner Tenth and Red Cross streets. All this building shrdlucmfwypcmf too, 34 too, is, the gentleman was assured, a monument to the benefits of "white supremacy" which has dominated the city government since the revolution of 1898 since which time every avenue of Wilmington's commercial life has been quickened many fold. It is generally conceded that there is no city in the state making such rapid strides in the matter of internal and commercial improvement as is

Mr. Lonnie B. Southerland Goes as Private Secretary With Paymaster Hugh R. Belknap.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean of July 21st announces that Major Hugh R. Belknap, paymaster for the department of the lakes has received orders from the war department transferring him to San Francisco and he leaves for his new post to-morrow, accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. Lionnie B. Southerland.

Mr. Southerland is a Wilmington boy, a son of Mrs. T. J. Southerland, of

In an interview regarding the probable purpose of the transfer Mr. Belknap "told an Inter-Ocean reporter that he does not know whether he will ultimately be ordered to China from the Pacific coast or not. It is probable he thinks, that he is to succeed one of the numerous paymasters on the Pacific coast who will be sent to China.

A GREAT DAY AT CLINTON

AYCOCK GREETED BY 4,000 PEOPLE-MANY MEN ARMED TO THE TEETH

They Were Indignant at Threats That Aycock Should Not Speak and Went Prepared to Enforce Order-Procession a Mile Long six Floats With Ladies-800 Red Shirts in Line-Powerful Speeches by Woodward and Aycock-Some of Aycock's Sayings.

The vile threat made by some populists that Aycock would not be allowed to speak at Clinton according to the schedule and arrangements of the democratic executive committee caused gust 2nd and roll up a tremendous such a wave of indignation to sweep over Sampson and Duplin and the other adjacent counties, that fully four thousand people, most of the men "armed to the teeth," were at Clinton yesterday determined that Mr. Aycock should address the people. Among the number were about 800 red shirts, 300 of whom were from Duplin, and about 1,000 of the county's fairest

The procession that met Mr. Aycock and Mr. Woodward to escort them to the speakers' stand was over a mile long. It was lead by the K. of P. band of Goldsboro, followed by six beautiful floats filled with ladies all dressed in white. Then came the Clinton band, followed by the long line of red shirts. The procession itself was a magnificent demonstration, the long line of men and women gaily waving miniature flags and cheering lustily for Aycock and white supremacy, and the stirring music from two bands caused the blood to thrill and was a sufficient warning that trouble might be expected if the speakers were in any way interfered with.

Arriving at the speakers' stand which was decorated in white and covered with ivy and flowers and was situated in a beautiful grove of state-THE WAY WILMINGTON'S BUILDING by elms, the chairman called on Rev. Mr. J. O. Carr introduced in a short speech Hon. F. A. Woodward, of Wilson. For one hour and a quarter Mr. Woodward made one of the most powerful arguments and clearest expositions on the pending issues of any of the campaign. He was often interrupted with applause and as he would score point after point on the populists and republicans the crowd would cheer most heartily.

Mr. E. W. Carr, in a short but impressive talk, closing with the words, "In the presence of these beautiful women and brave men, I crown you come you among us," he introduced Mr. Aycock who as he advanced to the calculated to do much good. front of the rostrum was greeted with prolonged cheering, lasting for several minutes amid cries for "Aycock," "White Supremacy," "Down with nigger rule," etc. Mr. Aycock spoke for for over an hour, making one of the most masterly political addresses ever heard in this state. His impassioned manner of talking, and his impresive words, all so earnestly spoken, mixed with his brilliant humor and apt anecdotes so well illustrating his points, make him an ideal campaigner for the great mass of people. His thoughts are conveyed in beautiful yet exceedingly simple language. Oftimes his reference to different subjects would cause pandemonium to break loose and when he finally concluded the crowd yelled as one man "go on," but Mr. Aycock said this was the one hundred and third speech of this campaign delivered by him and he did not control." feel able to continue longer. And so on he went speaking words of wisdom to the multitude and doing the cause great good. Space prevents any attempt to make a longer report. At the conclusion of his able address Mr. Carr came forward and said that on next Tuesday there would be a joint discussion between Hon. Rodolph Duffy and Cy. THESE SPEAKERS WILL GLOSE THE CAMPAIGN HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Will be at Market Street Grand stand or in Court House First Ward Meeting Monday Night kivalry Among the Wards for white supremacy Banner (ampaign (onditions-The People Will Brooke no Injunction or Other Interference With Holding Election.

The constitutional amendment campaign in Wilmington so far as speaking is concerned will be brought to a close on Tuesday night when Hon, John D. Bellamy and Hon, A. M. Waddell will address the white men of the city on the issues of the campaign. The speaking will be at the firemen's tournament grand stand if the weather is good and if it rains the court house will be used. As previously announced ladies will be especially welcomed and there will no doubt be many of them present whether the meeting is at the grand stand or in the court house. This will be the first and only opportunity the people will have to hear these two popular leaders.

The first ward white supremacy club will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Hibernian hall. The club officers have arranged to serve refreshmentsice cream, etc-and the meeting will be a stirring climax for their series of Bradstreet's Report.

New York, July 27.-Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Important changes in trade and speculation are notably lacking this week, but counter-currentsof demand in various sections and industies lend a rather more than usually irregular appearance to the general situation. Among the favorable features calling for notive are the practical assurance of an immense corn crop by the recent copious rans in the further west, the continued cheerful reports from the sections which have gathered and are now marketing a large winter wheat crop, advices of continued improvement in tone in the northwest, with reports of renewals of earlier canceled orders for fall goods, way earnings, less weakness in prices of the country's leading cereal products based apparently on renewed buying for export and rather more inquiry for raw wool by manufactures. Ufavorable elements in trade probable find their cheif and greatest exposi-That industry, is, if possible, more gust and September 5 13-64d@5 14-64d depressed than at any time for three years past, and expectations that price declines would be checked by the arture. That a large ton tage of this material and of southers, pig iron has been worked off seems certain, but it is still a buyers market, with everything that this implies. Export business would undoubtedly expand if ship room were available. The trade in drygoods, at the east particularly, seems to be backward, pending an early realization of the cotton goods situation. Bleached goods have been reduced, but gray goods and brown cottons are steady. Some re-selling of their raw cotton by eastern mills for export is reported the growing American and Egyptian crops and the margin between old and
