

Stops Lameness

Sloan's Liniment is a reliable remedy for any kind of horse lameness. Will kill the growth of spavin, curb or splint, absorb enlargements, and is excellent for sweeny, fistula and thrush.

Here's Proof.
"I used Sloan's Liniment on a mule for 'high lameness,' and cured her. I am never without a bottle of your liniment; have bought more of it than any other remedy for pain."
Barry Kiser, Cassady, Ky.

"Sloan's Liniment is the best made. I have removed very large shoe boils off a horse with it. I have killed a quarter crack on a mare that was awfully bad. I have also healed raw, sore necks on three horses. I have healed grease heal on a mare that could hardly walk."
ANTHONY G. HYER, Oakland, Pa., Route No. 12.

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is good for all farm stock.
"My hogs had hog cholera three days before we got your liniment, which I was advised to try. I have used it now for three days and my hogs are almost well. One hog died before I got the liniment, but I have not lost any since."
A. J. MCCARTHY, Idaville, Ind.

SICKLY CHILD

Made Well By Vinol—Letters from a Grateful Mother

New Haven, Conn.—"My little girl, ever since her birth, was frail and sickly and nothing seemed to do her good until I tried your cod liver oil and iron tonic, Vinol. As soon as I commenced to take it, I noticed improvement in her health and appearance. She has now taken three bottles of Vinol, and from the good it has done, I can say it will do all that is claimed for it in building up and curing frail and delicate children. (Name furnished on request.)
The mother of Chicago, Ill., writes: "I can not say too much in praise of Vinol for delicate, ailing children."
"I am every mother of a frail, ailing child in this vicinity. What on our agreement to return your money if it does not do all that is claimed for it."
W. W. PARKER, Druggist, Henderson, N. C.

THE CHECKROOM BOY.

Blessings on thee, little man,
Checkroom boy, with subtle plan
To secure the tricky dime
When I come at luncheon time!
How thou smilest when I appear!
How thou seem'st about to cheer,
Deferential, confident,
Seeming not to care a cent
Whether ere I leave I slip
In thy palm the hard wrung tip!

Though I'd rather take my hat
With me, thou wilt not have that.
Firmly dost thou take the thing
As thou'dst catch a bird on wing.
Aye, and how thine optics gleam
When thou grab'st my overcoat!
Sometimes greatly do I fear
That some day when I appear
Thou wilt check my coat and vest,
Tie and shoes and all the rest!

And thy blithe companion, too,
He whom thou with trembling view
When we go to wash our hands,
In the wash room there he stands
With a whisk broom in his grasp.
We cannot escape his clasp.
Merrily he flicks his broom
Like a shuttle in a loom.
How his whisk broom blades and blips
As he brushes out the tips!

Blessings on thee, little man,
One of the tip getting clan!
Couldst thou know the thoughts we think
Thou wouldst never even blink,
For with checks for hats and coats
Thou dost also get our goats.
Blithely brush and gayly check
And take tips in by the peck.
But some day, I am afraid,
Thou wilt cause a new crusade.

Language Chance in Diazland.

"Mexico is a good country for the Esperantists to foregather in."
"What's the answer?"
"Fifty-two Indian tongues are spoken there."

The Gentle Hint.
A north country collier anxious to pop the question to a girl whom he honestly admired, but unable to sum up courage to ask her the question outright, adopted a method of sounding her as to her idea of matrimony.
"Jenny, ma lass," he said nervously, "Ah've insured my life."
"Has ta, lad?" said Jenny indifferently.
"Aye, and Ah'm a silly for doin' so."
"How's that?"
"Why, supposin' Ah get killed t' pit, where dust t' think t' money go?"
"Why, to thy fether, for sure."
"True enuf, an' it isn't fair. It ought to be paid to ma wife."
"To thy wife! Why, tha hasn't got one."
"That's just it!" said Bill. "But thou's a nice lass, Jenny, and I want thee to hev that money."
"Why couldn't tha say so at first?" cried Jenny joyfully.—Tit-Bits.

Not Wanted.
The old timer looked up from his rickety and asked:
"You think that story on Bill Sims is a good one, eh?"
"Good or bad, it's true."
"Well, so is this," said the old timer, "and it happened down in Texas, by the Rio Grande. I used to live down that way for awhile, and in the village which I graced with my presence a certain old horse doctor was elected justice of the peace. What he didn't know about the law was sufficient. He knew nothing; he should have made an ideal justice of the peace."
"His first case, however, was that of a man accused for stealing a horse."
"GUILTY or not guilty?" asked the justice.
"Not guilty," answered the prisoner.
"Then what the deuce are you doing here?" demanded the justice of the peace. "Get out!"—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Swindle.
Hiram had just returned from a trip to the city and was telling of the wonderful sights which he had witnessed at the theater. He had saved the stub of his ticket for a souvenir of the great occasion.
His father picked up the piece of cardboard and, after looking at it closely, exclaimed, "Lad, sakes, Hiram, what did you say you paid for that ticket?"
"One dollar, paw," said Hiram, "an' it was worth it."
"Well, son," exclaimed Hiram, Sr., "you got swindled, sure as fate! Here it says on this ticket, in plain English, 10 Center."—Judge.

Experienced Defining.
"Pop, what's a tip?"
"You've heard, my son, haven't you, of parting a fool from his money?"
"Yes, pop."
"Well, a tip is what they do it with."

Longest Indian Word.

The longest Indian word on record is the following, that was printed in an Indian Bible in 1661:
Wutappetitukquassunooohwehtunquoh.

It signifies "kneeling down to him." When the Rev. Cotton Mather, primitive Boston's Puritan pastor, first saw this consolidated phrase it prompted him to jestingly observe that the words of the language must have been growing ever since the dispersion at Babel.—New York Telegram.

Proved Himself Great.
With a sigh she laid down the magazine article upon Daniel O'Connell. "The day of great men," she said, "is gone forever."
"But the day of beautiful women is not," he responded.
She smiled and blushed. "I was only joking," she explained hurriedly.—Western Christian Advocate.

Too Late.

His Mistake.
"What cured him of flirting?"
"He started a flirtation with a lady who turned out to be selling an encyclopedia at $200 a set."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Dr. Francis S. Packard, of Greensboro, N. C. ONE DAY ONLY. Consultation and Examination Confidential, Invited and FREE.

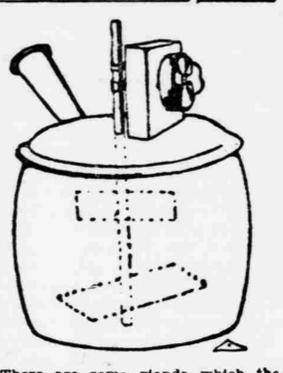

From a Late Snapshot

To see all of his regular Patients and such new Cases, as may wish to consult him. Dr. Packard enjoys a state wide reputation, among the profession and the Public of North Carolina, where for more than 25 years he has devoted his entire time to the Study, Treatment and Cure of Chronic Diseases. The Doctor has had wonderful success in his chosen work, that of curing chronic sufferers, Men, Women and Children. The Patients he has restored to Health after they had given up all hope of being Cured are numbered by the thousands. He is a kind, generous, democratic gentleman to meet, of high scholarly attainments, and dignified personality. Coupled with a Brotherly interest, in all who seek his advice. He does not take a Patient for Treatment unless he can force a Cure of the Case. The most commendable feature of his work, and one that appeals to the ordinary sick person, is the fact of his charges being so reasonable and moderate as to make it within the reach of even the very poor. At no time do the charges amount to more than $7.00 a month or about $1.50 a week. He gives his own medicines, and there are no extra charges. It takes him never more than from four to six Months to Cure a Case under Treatment. All Cases, even those who have been given up as Incurable or Hopeless, have been Cured and restored to perfect health by this Brilliant Physician and the wonderful methods he employs. If you want to meet him and have him examine you, go to see him, and talk the matter over with him. It will cost you nothing if he does not put you under treatment. If he takes your case, it will cost you a very small sum to get well.

Remember the Date, Wednesday, November 15th, and come early.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Clockwork Device For Stirring the Saucepan.

There are some vands which the cook is compelled to prepare frequently which must be stirred constantly while they are on the stove or else they will burn. This is particularly true of some cereals, and the temptation is strong on the part of the cook to divide her attention with other articles also in the course of preparation, with the result that one or the other often suffers.

The automatic stirring saucepan is a new invention which is likely to meet with great popularity.

A rod fitted with transverse blades runs through the center of the saucepan and is fastened to a clockwork attachment on the lid of the pan. When the spring is wound up the rod moves around and the two blades agitate the contents of the saucepan far more effectively than an ordinary spoon would.

Homemade Soap.

Take two boxes of lye and five gallons of water, nine pounds of grease and a half pound each of rosin and borax. Dissolve the lye in the water, add the rosin broken fine and boil until dissolved, stirring well; then add the grease and borax and boil two hours or until the grease is taken up and becomes soapy. If the grease is not salty put half a tumbler, if not a full tumbler, of salt dissolved in half a gallon of warm water and stir in. Continue boiling half an hour longer. Soak a tub in cold water, then put in the soap and let stand till cold. Cut out and put in a dry, cool place to dry.

To Boil a Ham.

Scrub the ham thoroughly, put into a good sized receptacle, cover with cold water and close the dish securely to keep in the steam. Heat slowly to the boiling point. After boiling about five minutes draw the dish to a cooler part of the range and let the ham cook at a gentle simmer until it is tender. It will take six hours or more. Remove the ham to a baking pan. Cut the skin around the shank in points and peel off the skin below the points. Dredge the surface from which the skin has been taken with fine cracker or bread crumbs and set the ham in the oven to brown the crumbs.

Steak Roll.

Season highly a flank of steak with salt, pepper, cloves and bay leaf. Make a stiff dressing of stale bread, season with onion and sage. Spread steak about an inch thick. Begin at the small end and roll tightly. Wrap in cheesecloth and tie. Drop in boiling water sufficient to cover. Boil slowly two hours or more. Slice like jelly cake. Thicken the contents of kettle with browned flour and serve very hot. This is also delicious served cold with parsley.

Lentil Soup.

One cupful washed lentils, two medium sized potatoes cut into small cubes, one onion and two pieces of celery cut into small pieces, ham bone or small piece of lean ham, two quarts of cold water, season to taste. Put all together in a saucepan and boil about five hours. Thicken with butter and flour; cook together until it begins to turn brown; stir it into soup; boil a few minutes longer and serve. If lentils are soaked overnight two hours cooking is sufficient.

Tomato Marmalade.

Scald and pare four quarts of ripe tomatoes. Cut two pounds in halves lengthwise and then slice very thin. Seed one cupful of raisins. Weigh out four pounds (eight cupfuls) of sugar, granulated, and put all the ingredients into a preserving kettle in layers. Heat slowly to the boiling point, then simmer until the mixture is of the consistency of marmalade. No one flavor should be recognizable. Seal while hot. This makes two jars.

Okra Soup.

One can of okra, three cups of milk, two cups of white stock or even water. Heat, strain and season with plenty of butter, pepper and salt. Serve with toasted crackers. This is one of the quickest and nicest soups on the emergency shelf, and it is too little known.

To Pickle Tripe.

To pickle tripe cut into squares and lay in an earthen pot and pour over boiling vinegar enough to cover in which a blade of mace, a dozen whole cloves and a stick of cinnamon have been boiled. It will be ready for use in twelve hours.
