Lexington Thursday when his name was called from the docket. Vail is charged with kidnapping a small white girl, of Thomasville, and is also implicated in an automobile larceny case.

When the two cases came up for trial early last week Vail was accounted for as being ill. The cases were continued until Friday and still Vail did not put in his appearance. Investigation disclosed that the High Point man had evidently disappeared.

Vail is out on a $500 bond. Attorneys T. J. Gold and L. B. Williams, counsel for the defendant, were in Lexington Thursday and requested that the bond be held until the last of the present court term. Attorney Gold informed the court that he believed Vail would show up within the next few days.

That corns and bodily ease are incompatible is the most trite of truisms. That of the two bodily ease is the most to be desired, likewise needs no proving. Therefore, eliminate the corn. That you can do it by using needs only a single trial to demonstrate the fact to the most skeptical. Try it and you will be convinced, because the corn will be gone.

CORNEASE

Don't think that because various "Corn Cures" have not succeeded, CORNEASE will fail you also. If it does, you get your money back.
