THOROUGHLY EQUIPPED

The Hickory Daily Record probably has the best equipped newspaper office in the state. It is small, but large enough for present purposes, and will be enlarged from time to time. The office is equipped with the latest modern machinery, including a Linotype machine, which is driven by electricity, and the metal for the type is also heated by electric current. The Whitlock two-revolution cylinder press prints from 1,000 to 400 papers an hour, and it too is driven by an individual motor. The public will receive a cordial welcome to the Daily Record office.

The Boy Scout Idea.

Baltimore American.
The movement which has spread into twenty-seven different countries, and which now includes an enrollment of over 2,000,000 enthusiasts, has surely reached a stage of development where further development is not reasonably to be looked for. It might reasonably be expected that the novelty having worn off, the Boy Scout movement would by this time be showing some signs of decline. But according to the indication it is reaching into new territories continuously and has gained a status in the United States that puts it on a basis of permanent acceptance comparable to that of the public school system.

Several of the leading universities have provided a course of training for scoutmasters. A scoutmaster is the captain, the general, the trained man of knowledge, who organizes Boy Scout companies and spreads the Boy Scout gospel. Columbia University has introduced such a course and there are fifteen students who are taking it, including two from China. If there is any new idea floating around in Occidental regions the new up-to-date China is out for it.

The professor who is in special charge of the scoutmaster course at Columbia believes in his mission and believes in the mission of the scoutmasters that he is sending out. Of the Boy Scout movement he says: "I consider it to be the greatest and strongest factor in education introduced within a century." It is to be overlooked that the applied sciences of the Boy Scout movement are of a practical nature above and beyond the theoretical.

CAPT. AND MRS. HOLLER

Well Known Couple Surrounded by Relatives and Friends.

The following description of the golden wedding anniversary of Capt. and Mrs. A. D. Holler of Rock Hill, taken from the Rock Hill Evening Herald, will be of interest to the many friends and relatives in this section. This happy event—a golden wedding anniversary—comes to so few of us that the interest in it is evermore absorbing than that of a wedding.

The celebration of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Capt. and Mrs. A. D. Holler was an occasion of unusual interest and pleasure to the many friends of this beloved couple. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Holler had been most fittingly decorated for the occasion by the loving hands of children and grandchildren, and a more interesting and beautiful scene cannot be pictured than that presented in the Holler home last night—the honored couple seated amidst a profusion of yellow flowers, and surrounded by loved ones of three generations. So youthful and happy the couple looked that one could almost imagine the fifty years' narrative away and one was beholding the young and happy bride and groom of '65.

Mrs. Holler held in her arms a most beautiful shower bouquet of white asters and ferns, tied with an exquisite lace scarf, an heirloom of the family. This bouquet, which would have one credit to any city green house, was arranged and presented to Mrs. Holler by her niece, Mrs. Elmore Miller, whose artistic skills are much admired. Perhaps the most touching feature of the evening was the beautiful little service held before the guests began to arrive and was participated in by the family, which counts its members in three generations. At the first sounds of the familiar wedding march, the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren mended into the parlor where the couple sat and most fittingly opened the program with the old hymn, "Blessings Flow from Whom all Blessings Flow." Following this Rev. John D. Holler, ofasley, son of Capt. and Mrs. Holler, offered a beautiful prayer. The next number on the sweet simple program was the presenting to Capt. and Mrs. Holler of "Golden Wedding Hymn" in a handsome gold frame. The words of this song were written by the gifted pen of Mrs. E. A. Holler, wife of Rev. E. Holler. This song was then sung by a number of young folks, and some of the words were given to

A MESSAGE.
I'd like to catch a tiny cloud
And whisper to it, not too loud,
To waft along,
To rock and rill,
And dale and hill—
The little song I faintly would sing
To love, who's gone vacationing.

I'd like to snare a pretty bird
And teach it just one simple word,
Then set it free
To bear for me,
In speedy flight,
Through all the night,
And thus at dawn the message bring,
To love, where she's vacationing.

I'd like to coax a gentle breeze
To breathe a message through the trees,
From tree to tree
A word from me—
A tiny song—
Four letters long,
'Tis love I'd send by cloud, breeze,
and wing,
To love, who's gone vacationing.
—O. C. A. Child, in New York Times.

Getting Ready for 1915.

While one can sympathize with the president in his feeling that it hardly "looks right," as the humbler political personages put such situations, for him to appear in any way furthering the political fortunes of himself or his party at a time when naturally the whole nation is standing behind him by virtue of his office and its demands, there can be no doubt that his friends are fully justified in going ahead with dignity and diligence in seeing that the fences are in good repair and that his re-nomination will come in 1915 without any trouble.

It is of course beyond the tolerable that there should be a switch in presidents as early as 1916, because none of our international troubles will be so settled by that time as to permit of a new man at the wheel, while to consider anybody else from the Democratic side is sheer nonsense. Therefore it might as well be "cinched" for the president now in his own party anyhow and get that much done as quickly as possible. As the entire country wants him president again, the entire country is looking to the Democratic party to go that much and do it without much delay.

We are inclined to believe Roosevelt will be his opponent, because Roosevelt is the only man who could at such a time make a race with power to it. With the backing of the Bull Moose and the Elephant he can pull a big vote, but not enough to dislodge the Democratic president. The people won't swap horses in the middle of the stream, besides they think pretty well of W. Wilson, anyhow.

Golden Wedding Hymn.

(Tune: "Sweet Home")
Fifty years of joy and pain,
Fifty years of shine and rain,
'Tis on this golden wedding day,
Swift years have slipped away,
Yet I'm happy you and I—
Sweet home, you can never die—
We are happy you and I.

Chorus.

Ring golden wedding bells, clear
Of... their chiming tells.
Sweet true love can never die,
We are happy you and I.
We are the bride of fifty years,
We kiss away your tears,
Our hearts in thankful song,
Your hand has guided long,
We see the wrinkles on your brow,
You are fair and lovely now,
We are divinely fair,
We are the silver in your hair.

Slipping the years have slipped away,
Leaving us time-worn and gray,
But together we will stand,
Hand in hand together to Glory-land,
We are happy you and I,
We think of days gone by,

You're to me divinely fair
With the silver in your hair.
Stalwart boys to manhood grown,
Girls with children of their own.
Only one from out our seven,
Gone, long years ago, to Heaven.
May we all that dear one meet
Some day at the Savior's feet.
When the roll is called on High,
Each one answer "Here am I!"

See our new Autumn Woolens, more than 500 of them.

Oh, Those SCHOOL SHOES!

How they do wear out.
Just as soon as school opens there is a demand for some school shoes.
Last year's are worn out with the summer playing.
Well, we have shoes your children want. We will fit them so their feet will be comfortable and dry and warm both in school and outside.
It pays to put good shoes on your youngster's feet. Poorly shod boys and girls can't walk right or feel right. They can't study right. If you can't bring them, send them. We'll treat them right if they come alone.
