THE MAINE ELECTION

Although there might have been elements in the Maine election Monday of which the public knows little, such as local questions, the fact remains that the rest of the states will see upon the result there as an indication of the strength of the two great parties of the nation.

Returns at an early hour today pointed to a Republican victory by over 13,000 with the probability of the election of the entire congressional ticket by the Republicans. Based on the customary majority of 20,000 for the Republicans, the result will be hailed as a moral victory by the Democrats.

Now, when a fellow is lucky enough to be able to borrow some money, he won't have to pay two cents for each hundred dollars he owes. The stamp tax was repealed.

If Cole Bleasie is nominated for governor of South Carolina today, then all decent folks will have to admit that the majority in South Carolina is not fit to rule.

From our knowledge of the candidates for railroad commissioners in South Carolina, that old state hasn't much to choose.

Both sides will explain it to suit themselves.

FALENHAYN'S DISMISSAL

This remarkable statement was cabled from Berne, Switzerland, to London and then to the United States:

"The dismissal of General Erich von Falkenhayn from the post of chief of the German general staff was due to his suggestion of a complete change in Germany's war plans, which Emperor William indignantly rejected."

"Predicting the complete downfall of Bulgaria as the result of converging attacks from the north and south, and in the end a consequent interruption of communications with Turkey, General von Falkenhayn urged that the whole Balkan campaign be abandoned, that the eastern line be shortened, and that the occupied territory in France be evacuated."

"The general expressed the opinion that the transformation of German strategy into a purely defensive campaign on a shorter front would paralyze the entente allies and make it impossible for them to crush Austro-German resistance unless they fought with unlimited resources, and then for ten years. Persistence in the present plan of campaign, he said, would lead to disaster."

"Field Marshal von Hindenburg denounced this advice as childish, cowardly, and unworthy of the Germans. Emperor William took von Hindenburg's view and dismissed von Falkenhayn."

people would believe the fight lost, and the general staff would have trouble in carrying it on.

ON RAISING CHICKENS

There is more fun watching chickens grow than there is in working a garden. Since we have conducted a garden for four years, we are in position to know, although our experience with chickens is over a period of not quite two weeks. Still, we have learned a great deal from the birds.

One usually starts in the chicken business with the expectation of spending about $15 as a starter, but by the time he introduces a few pullets to his backyard, he realizes that the cost has begun to mount.

Still, a thorough chicken-hearted man usually obtains $25 or $30 worth of pleasure the first few weeks, we are told, and never believes that his eggs cost him about 75 cents a dozen if he gets them out of his coops, or that his meat costs $1 a pound.

We have tried trucking, on the side, and when we farmed a space about the size of a street car had pretty good luck, but this thing of utilizing an acre or less is a different proposition. Keeping the weeds down is some item. Chickens should be able assistants in a crusade against grass and weeds, besides furnishing their owners with something to do betimes.

To read some of the papers for the next few days will be great fun for the fellow who cares more about a good football game than he does a political fight. The boys will be explaining how the election favored the Democrats or Mr. Hughes, depending on the politics of the explainer.

We would like to see a paper mill at Wilmington or anywhere else in the state. The railroads would make a special commodity rate on paper and publishers in the state would be able to buy from a home company.

Now, when a fellow is lucky enough to be able to borrow some money, he won't have to pay two cents for each hundred dollars he owes. The stamp tax was repealed.

If Cole Bleasie is nominated for governor of South Carolina today, then all decent folks will have to admit that the majority in South Carolina is not fit to rule.

STREET DUST AND DISEASE

Street dust has often been accused of being a cause of disease, and just recently it has been suspected as a mode of transmission for poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis. Prof. Thomas W. Hastings of the Cornell University Medical School has recently made some careful studies as to the danger of street dust and his findings show that street dust contains a variety of pathogenic organisms such as the tubercle bacilli and other germs recognized to be the causative agents of many respiratory diseases.

He says he finds respiratory diseases than people who live free from street dust. The theory that dust transmits the virus of infantile paralysis was first advocated by Dr. H. W. Hill, a noted epidemiologist of Minnesota. Since the virus causing infantile paralysis will live in the dry state, and since a greater number of cases occur in hot, dry weather, he thinks that dust is a great factor in the spread of this disease. Furthermore, Dr. Hill believes that not until some measures are adopted for keeping down street dust, which he says is fifty per cent horse manure, will we ever be safe from animal infection and whatever diseases they may carry.

ZEB ISAACS WANTED

Zeb Isaac, a white man who lives one and a half miles from the city on the Lincoln road, got drunk Sunday evening and went on a tear in Hickory, winding up his rough stuff by throwing a rock at and crippling a cow belonging to Mr. George Bolic. Chief Lentz was looking for Isaacs yesterday and today, but has been unable to find him. In addition to injuring the cow, the man cursed several ladies in this city.

GEORGIA PRIMARIES IN PROGRESS TODAY

(By Associated Press.) Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 12.—Interest in Georgia's Democratic primary held today to nominate state officials and congressmen, centered largely in the four-cornered race for governor in which Nat E. Harris of Macon, the only Confederate veteran now holding the office of governor of a state is opposed for renomination by Hugh M. Dorsey of Atlanta, Dr. L. G. Harmer of Milledgeville, Democratic nomination is considered equivalent to election. The campaign for the governorship has been made largely on local issues, and each of the candidates has virtually covered the state on speaking tours.

Even of Georgia's twelve congressmen, all Democrats, are seeking renomination, the only exception being C. G. Edwards of the First district. Seven of the eleven would return to Washington have opposition, while Congressman Edwards' place is sought by Peter W. Meldrim of Savannah, former president of the American Bar Association, and J. W. Overstreet of Sylvania.

TELEPHONE FRANCHISE FOR SALE

The city of Hickory, N. C., on 31st day of October, 1916 at 8 p. m. will award to the highest bidder offering to pay to the city, during the life of the franchise, the highest percentage of the gross annual receipts, a telephone franchise, granting the right to use the streets of the City for the purpose of operating a telephone system for a period of thirty years.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check for one hundred dollars. Sealed bids will be received, but any bidder present at the opening of the sealed bids will have the right to raise the highest sealed or oral bids.

The successful bidder, within thirty days after the awarding of the franchise, must file a bond running to the City, to be approved by the City Council, in the penal sum of five thousand dollars, conditioned that such bidder shall well and truly observe and faithfully perform each and every term and condition of the franchise.

All bids will be received at the office of the City Manager, who, upon request, will furnish any additional information desired. The City Council reserves the right under Section 4 of the City Charter to refuse any and all bids.
