Dr. Miller is building a barn on the back part of his residence property on Capital street.

L. D. F. Poore is enclosing his residential grounds on Pine street with a substantial fence.

The railroad track has been completed to Mitchell, and regular trains are now running to that point.

The goods in the cars which jumped the track at Davis junction Tuesday reached Yankton yesterday in good order.

Street Commissioner Delmar has a force of men at work to-day improving the condition of the upper part of Second street.

City Marshal Reinhardt will occupy the council room in the truck house as an office, and can be found there a short time in the forenoon and afternoon of each day.

D. A. Magee, government flour inspector, to-day applied the usual test to a large amount of flour in the government warehouse, furnished by the Excelsior Mill company. It was found o. k.

Dudley Reily is to be tried on some more charges of opening mails, and it is probable that sentence will be deferred until these trials are disposed of. The opening of one of the Livingston cases will put off the Reily trial until the fall term.

N. B. Reynolds says he is well acquainted with James R. Loomer, the murderer of Jack Camp, and is the last person he should have suspected of such a crime. He is a boyish looking and quiet young man, with very little apparent force of character.

Parker explains that under ordinary circumstances he can ride a bicycle, but when a cloud of dust overtakes him at a cross walk, just such misfortunes as the one which makes him miserable to-day are liable to occur. He spells it this afternoon with a big D.

The trip to Montana made by Postmaster Kilpatrick, of White Swan, leaves his bondsman, N. B. Reynolds, in a position where he will have to pay the government several hundred dollars. Mr. K. went away without informing the man who is pecuniarily responsible for his presence.

A car load of thoroughbred Durham bulls was received in Yankton last night, and are on exhibition and for sale at Melvin's livery on Capital street. They are from Illinois, and are the property of E. C. Holton. They are fine, large animals, each being the size of a small load of hay.

Several up-country postmasters have been placed under bonds for their appearance as witnesses at the November term of court. Some of them who have been waiting around here two or three weeks for an opportunity to testify remark that they guess they will be here when they are wanted.

A stranger was drunk and disorderly on Third street last night, and was promptly run into the cooler. This morning he pled guilty before the police court, but having no money to pay the customary fine and trimmings, was sentenced to work out the penalty upon the streets under the direction of the street commissioner.

The owner of the chalk stone edifice on the levee in Lower Yankton is engaged in renovating the building and ornamenting the grounds. He will endeavor to remove every trace of its former occupancy; but he "may break, he may shatter, the vase, if he will; the scent of the roses will cling to it still."

The Custer City Chronicle announces the death of Edna Alice Ely, which occurred at Custer City on the 12th inst. Edna Ely was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Ely, formerly of Yankton, and will be remembered by many of our people as an unusually bright and attractive child. She was six years old at the time of her death.

The city council of Sioux City, by a vote of six to two, have preferred charges against the city marshal, Henry O'Harrow, and appointed the 11th day of May for his trial, pending which he has been suspended from office. The principal charges against the marshal are that he failed to enforce the ordinances prohibiting saloons being open on Sunday. Sioux City is, once in awhile, attacked by a moral spasm.

The assertion made by the prosecuting attorney in the United States court, in his remarks to the jury, that the government cannot get good business men to fill official positions in the upper country, causes several distinguished gentlemen who are serving their country in that region to mentally enquire, "who are we, anyway, and to what ignominious conditions have we come?" Most of them are ready to resign and preserve their reputations.

E. T. White's insurance office, in the second story of Cox's block, was burglarized last night and a wallet containing notes and bills taken from his safe. Entrance was effected by breaking a window opening upon a landing at the head of the outside stairway, turning the sash fastening and opening the window. The safe was opened with the key, which Judge White keeps hanging handy, and he never has any valuables in the safe, and don't want misguided burglars to blow the thing open. Nothing of value to anybody but White was taken.

Persons whose business requires internal revenue special tax stamps, should remember that there are but two more days in which to procure them. The law requires the stamps shall be displayed in the place of business by the first day of May.

LIVINGSTON ON TRIAL.

Beginning of the Second Trial of the Stumpage Case—Prosecuting a Jury this afternoon.

THURSDAY FORENOON.

As understood yesterday, the court, at ten o'clock this morning, directed the clerk to call, from the twenty-five United States petit jurors who were present, a jury to try the issues in the Livingston case on which there was a disagreement last term. These issues were confined to the same counts of the indictment as on the former trial.

The counsel for the defense then stated that they claimed ten peremptory challenges to jurors on this trial, as the offense charged was clearly a felony under our territorial statutes; the United States statute being silent as to what constitutes a felony, and the common law definition not being applicable here, as this is not a common law offense.

The argument occupied the balance of the forenoon and the decision was not given when the court adjourned for dinner.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

At 2 o'clock the court decided that the offense charged in the indictment was not, under the U. S. law, a felony, but simply a misdemeanor, and therefore the defendant was entitled to but three peremptory challenges.

The clerk then proceeded to call a jury. Mr. Simon F. Andrews, of Turner county, called and questioned as to his belief of Indian testimony, etc., as in the last Livingston case. He was accepted and sworn.

Andrew Erickson, of Union county, called and peremptorily challenged by defense.

George W. Hinkley, of Lincoln county, called, accepted and sworn.

Orvin D. Seaver, of Hanson county, was called, accepted and sworn.

Wm. F. Dunham, of Lincoln county, called and peremptorily challenged by the prosecution.

Israel P. Farrington, of Brookings county, was called. He said he would not believe an Indian under oath or any where else. He was challenged for cause by the prosecution and the challenge sustained.

J. R. Petrie, of Bon Homme county, called and peremptorily challenged by the prosecution.

L. W. Lowell, of Davison county, called, accepted and sworn.

Frank P. Baum, of Armstrong county, called, accepted and sworn.

H. H. Blair, of Union county, called and excused on account of weakness of his eyes, which would incapacitate him from sitting through a long trial.

W. H. Brammer, of Yankton county, called and peremptorily challenged by the defense.

The following jurors were accepted late this afternoon:

John B. Bertrand, Oliver Phillips, Mr. Vinson, A. S. Oakley, John McLaury, James A. Childs and one other, which completes the list of jurors for the case.

A splendid line of ladies', misses' and children's hosiery, at EISEMAN'S.

WE ACKNOWLEDGE THE ERROR.

To the Press and Dakotian. Rockport, D. T., April 28th, 1880.—I notice by Monday evening's Daily that W. T. McKay is credited with being a member of the council for 1873, while I claim the honor. He was admitted to a seat, but afterwards stepped down and out and I was admitted as a member from Charles Mix county. I want all the honor there is in the office when elected from a wild cat district.

Yours, &c., J. D. FLICK.

THE KILLER OF CAMP.

James R. Loomer, Who Killed Jack Camp, Opposite Rosebud Landing, on Monday, is Brought to Yankton and Lodged in Jail.

His Statement to a Reporter for the Press and Dakotian, in Which He Claims the Shooting Was Strictly in Self-Defense.

Sheriff Elisha R. Pennypacker, of Charles Mix county, arrived in Yankton at 10 o'clock last night, having in charge James R. Loomer, who on Monday last shot and killed Jack Camp in Charles Mix county, opposite Rosebud landing. Sheriff Pennypacker turned his prisoner over to the authorities of the Yankton county jail, where he is now confined. Loomer voluntarily gave himself up to the sheriff, and made no effort whatever to escape. He was brought here for the reason that Charles Mix county is attached to Yankton for judicial purposes, and consequently the trial in this case will be had here.

LOOMER'S STATEMENT.

This morning a reporter for this paper visited the county jail and had an interview with the prisoner. He is apparently about 28 or 30 years old, of medium size, and has a commonplace, harmless cast of countenance. He does not present the appearance of a man who would delight in the commission of crime, and told his story in a calm, straightforward manner. He stated that he was married eight years ago at Choteau creek ranch to a daughter of J. P. Sherman who then owned and kept the ranch. Some time after his marriage he removed with his wife to Council Bluffs where they resided for two years. A year ago last September he concluded to return to the vicinity where the recent shooting took place, his father-in-law having disposed of the Choteau creek ranch and removed to Charles Mix county. His wife left Council Bluffs in September and went to her father's place, and he closed up his affairs and followed in December, since which time, up to a few weeks ago, himself and his wife and three children have been living contentedly in a house opposite Rosebud landing. About that time Jack Camp, who was employed as mail carrier between Rosebud landing and the east side of the river, commenced visiting his house, and it soon became apparent that he had gained a power over Mrs. Loomer and was leading her astray. She abandoned her home and children and went away with Camp. Loomer says he made no protest, and concluded to let his wife go if she chose to abandon him; but about a week before the shooting, Camp and Mrs. Loomer came to where he (Loomer) was working and brazenly confronted him. This angered him and he demanded of Camp why he had interfered with and broken up his family. A dispute and angry words followed but no threats were made. Afterwards Camp armed himself with a revolver and stated to a number of persons that he was going to shoot Loomer at sight. This coming to Loomer's knowledge he, too, armed himself, but tried to keep out of Camp's way. Twice he went away from home to prevent meeting Camp when he came over with the mail. On Monday last Loomer was in his house with two of his children when Camp appeared with a mail sack on his shoulder. Loomer says he stepped to the door to close it in order to avoid a meeting with Camp, but that one of the children was in the way and he could not close it as soon as he desired. As soon as Camp saw him he reached for his revolver, but the mail sack being in the way he was delayed in getting hold of it. Seeing this motion, Loomer drew his revolver and called out: "Hold on Jack! Throw up your hands—throw them up—throw them up!" Camp paid no attention to the order, but continued his efforts to draw his weapon. Loomer then fired and immediately sprang towards Camp and took his revolver from him. Just before he fell Camp called to Rev. Williamson and J. C. Cowgill, who were sitting in the boat in which the mail was brought over, but they did not come up. After Camp had fallen to the ground Loomer asked him why he had made the threats to shoot him, and why he had not thrown up his hands when called upon to do so; that if he had they could have compromised their difficulty. The only reply the dying man made was: "It hurts! It hurts!" He died in twenty minutes.

Mr. Loomer made his statement in a quiet, candid manner, speaking as one conscious of telling nothing but the truth. He thinks that the shooting was strictly in self-defense, and that it was necessary to save his own life. This is Loomer's statement of the tragic affair. The other side of the story, if there is one, remains to be told.

Stacker & Gadsden will arrive on Saturday, May 1st, with a car load of horses, which they will have for sale at the Smithsonian Hotel stables on Second st.

Safety from a Pestilential Scourge.

Protection from the disease, not a medicinal agent which merely checks the paroxysm, is the grand desideratum wherever the endemic scourge of malaria prevails. Quinine does not afford this protection. The chief reason why Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has won such immense popularity is that it prepares the system to resist the malarial pest. This it does by bracing and toning the physical organism; regulating and promoting an equal flow and distribution of the animal fluids, and establishing digestion on a sound basis. Not only is fever and ague prevented, but the worst types of the disease are conquered by it. Such is the only just conclusion to be drawn from the overwhelming evidence in its favor. It is equally efficacious in dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and general debility, and rheumatic complaint, and is a reliable diuretic and nerve.

PERSONAL.

Lawyer Grigsby went home to Sioux Falls this morning. M. Brady, of the firm of Elwanger & Brady, distillers, Dubuque, is in town to-day selling goods.

Joseph Allen, of Swan Lake, succeeded yesterday in being excused from further service as a United States petit juror, and left for home.

Postmaster McAuley, of Springfield, and Postmaster Reynolds, of Wheeler, left this afternoon for home, having been temporarily excused by the United States court.

Hirshstein started this afternoon for Springfield and Niobrara with a wagon load of cigars. He is working up a large and profitable business in southeastern Dakota.

Herman Ellerman, county assessor, came in from his home at Jamesville this morning. He informs us that the new flouring mill at that place was put in operation last week, and has been kept running night and day to meet the demands made upon it by the surrounding farmers.

We received a call this morning from E. R. Pennypacker, sheriff of Charles Mix county, who brought down and lodged in our jail James R. Loomer, the slayer of Jack Camp. The sheriff had no particulars in regard to the tragedy further than those given yesterday and in another column of to-day's paper.

Bismarck Sun: Hon. D. T. Bramble, of Deadwood, D. T., was in the city over Friday of last week, discussing freight, freighting routes and other matters of importance to his constituents in the Hills, with Superintendent Maratta, of the Condon line steamers, and Supt. Seims, of the Northwestern Stage company. "D. T." opened the first store in Yankton in 1861, and is a heavy business man there now in the firm of Bramble, Miner & Co., although he is located in Deadwood most of the time managing the heavy freighting interests with which he is connected. He is a true blue democrat and has filled a good democratic seat in the legislature at Yankton during several sessions. He was the first prominent democrat in Dakota, and at one time was urged to accept the democratic nomination for congress. He gives it as his opinion that Acting Governor Hand will be confirmed as the successor of Gov. Howard. He favors Bismarck as the proper place for the democratic congressional convention, and has promised to consult Chairman Meyer on his arrival in the Hills.
