"SWAT THE FLY" CAMPAIGN IS ON

The Pests Should Be Fought Now For Best Results.

METHODS OF DESTRUCTION

No Good Housekeeper Will Allow a Fly to Remain Within the Four Walls of Her Home, but the Mischief Begins Outside Her Jurisdiction in Garbage Heaps and Accumulated Rubbish.

It is a mistake to wait until the summer to kill flies. Instead, see to it now that there are fewer flies to kill.

We are threatened with another epidemic of infantile paralysis this season. Also those who claim to be weather-wise as regards flies declare that it will be a record season for these busy little household pests.

Whether or not there is any connection between the two is an open question, but we do know that the best armor against infantile paralysis is cleanliness, and we also know that flies are the filthiest things that draw the breath of life and one of the most thoroughgoing and efficient disease-carriers known to science.

No good housekeeper will allow a fly to remain within the four walls of her clean and orderly home. But unfortunately the mischief begins outside the jurisdiction of the housekeeper. Garbage heaps, stables and manure piles in the country; filthy gutters, open garbage cans, accumulated rubbish and filth of all sorts in the city form the breeding places and harbors of the big grand old flies.

Their natural habitat is the filth. But they are not at all particular and have no prejudice against the baby's milk, the food on the table or anything else that may be eaten. This means that every dirty and dangerous disease germ is carried by flies. They are the greatest menace to life and health known to the civilized world.

The best way to guard against the summer crop of flies is, first, to kill as fast as they come out all the winter flies that have been hiding in buildings; second, to clean up all manure, filth and rubbish in which flies may breed; third, to keep traps set in covers of garbage cans and on porches where the flies are thickest to catch them before they can enter the house.

Killing the flies in early spring means that the mother flies are disposed of before they can lay eggs. Cleaning up all rubbish in the neighborhood means the elimination of flies from that neighborhood, because a fly seldom travels over 500 yards from its breeding place unless, as frequently happens, it decides to take a railroad trip or horse-back ride. Trapping flies can be done successfully because they will inevitably enter a trap baited with food if no other food is left about.

The health authorities usually take care of the public measures for getting rid of flies, but each housewife is responsible for the presence of these dangerous pests in her own house and to some degree in the neighborhood.

It is important to see that there is no rubbish in the house or garden in which flies may breed and live, and, next, to enter a vigorous protest if any such places are discovered in the neighborhood or known to exist in the town and to keep on making a disturbance until the menace is removed. This precaution alone may prevent an epidemic of typhoid, infantile paralysis or some other of the dread diseases which claim so many hundreds of our babies each year.

But no matter how rigorous the cleaning up, some flies are bound to escape it; therefore it is well to know certain simple ways to kill the flies that manage to elude every other precaution.

Where there are children wire fly traps and sticky fly paper are perhaps the safest, because it is dangerous to leave any poisonous substance standing about.

But where it is safe to use poison this is an excellent formula:

A formaldehyde solution made by adding three teaspoonfuls of the concentrated formaldehyde solution commercially known as formalin to a pint of water. Similarly the proper concentration of sodium salicylate may be obtained by dissolving three teaspoonfuls of the pure chemical (a powder) to a pint of water.

Or mix together one tablespoonful of cream, one of ground black pepper and one of brown sugar. This mixture is poisonous to flies. Put in a saucer, darken the room except one window and in that set the saucer. It has been discovered that any sort of clean perfume that is especially pleasing to man is so hated by flies that they will not come near it. Therefore it is possible in a cleanly and well ordered house where there is nothing especially tempting to flies to keep them away with certain sweet and pungent perfumes.

Table 5 cents worth of oil of lavender, mix it with the same quantity of water, put in a common glass atomizer and spray it around the rooms where flies are. In the dining room spray it lavishly even on the table linen. The odor, so refreshing to most people, is very disagreeable to flies. Geranium, nignonne, heliotrope and white clover are also offensive to flies. And especially do they dislike the odor of honeysuckle and hop blossoms.

HORSE LABOR ON FARMS.

On the grain farm the heaviest work for the horses comes in April, May and in August, September and October. The rest of the time there is practically nothing for the horses to do. But enough horses have to be kept during the year to take care of the work during these busy months. When averaged up the horse on the grain farm only works three hours a day. These figures were secured in an investigation by the Minnesota Experiment Station, under the direction of Thomas Cooper, now director of the North Dakota Experiment Station. In this same investigation it was found that when the crops are diversified, the horse labor is better distributed. There is less work for the horses in the seasons that are the busiest on the all-grain farm, and there is work for the horses when there is no work for the horses on the all-grain farm.

MORE BEANS.

A farmer in Hubbard Co., Minn., planted twenty acres of beans from which he received 377 bushels, selling them in the field for $1,152. This is the highest record. The Michigan men and the Colorado men and, in fact, all states are turning to beans with a great deal of success. There are three main principles to be observed in the control of weeds. They are: first, preventing the weeds from going to seed on the farm; second, preventing the weed seeds being brought to the farm, and third, in the case of perennials, starving out the underground parts by preventing them from making top growth.
