

SPLIT SWITCH IS BLAMED FOR C. O. & P. DERAILMENT

A street car accident which came within a slight margin of proving of a very serious nature with the possible injury of over a score of passengers occurred at First and Joliet streets in La Salle. One of the big interurban cars was traveling eastbound out of the La Salle station and when it reached the Joliet street switch the front trucks stayed on the main track, and the rear wheels took the turn north onto Joliet street. The result was that before the motorman could bring the car to stop it had swung N on a position almost north and south. Had it traveled but little farther after splitting the switch the car would undoubtedly have turned over.

The affair was witnessed by First street crowds, who were terrified as they saw what appeared to be a serious accident. The car was well filled at the time and many of the passengers took a hurried departure when they realized what had happened.

The accident blocked traffic for nearly two hours.

SPREAD RAILS CAUSE CARS TO LEAVE TRACK

Three cars were derailed last evening at 12 o'clock when an east bound freight left the tracks near the Chicago Retail and Fire Brick plant. The wreck was due to the spreading of the rails. The freight train was switching at the time.

Local section hands succeeded in placing the cars back on the track without the aid of the wrecking crew from Blue Island. No damage was done to the freight, according to the advice received from the local office.

SHIP BOARD QUILTS AS RESULT OF ROW; NEW MEN SELECTED

Washington, July 24—President Wilson today accepted the proffered resignations of Gen. Goethals and White and requested the resignation of Denman. Denman, as soon as he heard of the action of the president, tendered his resignation from the board to take effect immediately. The president then appointed Edward N. Hurley of Chicago, former member of the Federal Trade Commission, to succeed Mr. Denman, Bainbridge Colby of New York to succeed Mr. White, and Rear Admiral Washington L. Capps to succeed Gen. Goethals. With these changes in the board will come a complete reorganization of its methods. It was stated officially that the president now will insist that the work of building a merchant fleet by the United States will proceed without delay. In naming Capps to succeed Goethals the president selected one of the best known and expert marine constructors in the United States.

Folly of Self Importance.

It is sheer folly for any worker to be carried away with the idea of self importance. Good men and great men die and their places are filled by others who seem to do quite as well. It is true that all employers dread chances unless forced upon them—they dread the period of probation when taking on new workers. So good workers are reasonably safe, and the employers who appreciate them are reasonably sure of a continuance of satisfaction.—Exchange.

Drinking Water.

Our physical well being would be greatly increased if we would drink a large glass of water immediately on arising and again on retiring. The morning glass may be of hot water to advantage. Then take another large glassful between breakfast and dinner and another between dinner and supper. Encourage the water drinking habit in the children as well as in yourself, for thereby the eliminating processes of the body are satisfactorily carried on.

No Hope.

Experimented With Poisons. When Antony and Cleopatra were contemplating suicide they made a collection of a great variety of poisons and tried each of them on two or more slaves in order to ascertain whether death was accompanied with much apparent suffering. The historian declares that over 200 persons lost their lives in order that the information might be obtained. The result was that Antony killed himself with a dagger and Cleopatra either with one of her selected poisons or by a serpent's bite.

Chicago, July 24—Parents of Chicago children, aroused by the second refusal of Dr. Harry J. Haiselden, surgeon at the German-American Hospital, to operate to save the life of a deformed child, were to ask State Attorney Hoyne today to act if the child died.

A baby daughter was born to Mrs. William Meter yesterday afternoon. The attending physician advised that the child be sent to Dr. Haiselden and the parents agreed to abide by his verdict. His verdict was death.

"Death would be a blessing," said the surgeon, who brought down such a storm of criticism when he refused to save baby Bollinger some months ago.

The child's upper skull cap was missing. A diminutive brain promised intelligence. It was covered only by a transparent membrane. The tiny head was attached directly to the shoulders. There was no neck. The eyes bulged from their sockets. The feet were deformed and the arms were incapable of functioning.

"The life could be saved by cutting a patch of skin from the back and grafting it over the exposed brain," said Dr. Haiselden. "But I refuse to save an absolutely worthless life. It would be preserved to a life of wretchedness and might be a menace to society."

"I will not kill it. I will feed it as long as life survives, but I will not operate. Nature will rectify its own mistake."

DOG GUARDS LITTLE GIRL.

Must Have Guided Her Away From Dangerous Places.

Boulder, Colo.—Ellen Grimes, aged four years, put a blue ribbon on her braided hair and came down to Boulder from her home on the top of Sugarloaf mountain to tell how she and her pet spent two days and nights wandering over mountains, along precipices and through canyons while a posse of 200 men, headed by a pack of bloodhounds, searched for them.

"Me and Bob jes' went walkin'," she said. "When I got hungry I picked berries and ate them. When I was sleepy I crawled in a place under a rock, and Bob crawled in after me."

Bob's nose was full of porcupine quills as evidence of at least one battle fought to save his little mistress. How often the brindle bull kept between Ellen and the edge of a precipice, how often he guided her away from the treacherous holes with which the mountain sides are peppered, how often he saved her life, Bob alone knows, and Bob won't tell.

After following for a few hours the perilous trail picked out by the girl and dog the keeper of the bloodhounds, gave up in exhaustion. He landed the leashes over to a sturdy veteran miner.

In less than four hours he fell down a fifty foot cleft in the rocks and was seriously injured. The dogs were in charge of the eighth set of keepers when they found the lost girl.

Ellen and Bob wandered from home while Ellen's mother was getting her brothers and sisters ready for Sunday school.

Bread Nosed and Sharp Nosed Eels. There is the broad nosed eel and then again there is the sharp nosed eel. The great difference between these two varieties is that the broad nosed eel is the male and the sharp nosed eel is the female, both being really of one and the same family. When summer comes young eels by the millions shoot from muddocean to shore and wriggle up our rivers. Out at sea young eels are as clear as glass and as thin as ribbon. They are about four inches long, with little heads. The young eel seems not to eat at sea and only loses its glassy look and becomes colored as it gets to shore within reach of a river.

Baldness and Dogs. A London physician says that falling hair and baldness may often be traced to infection from pet dogs. "Every hair expert," he says, "knows that in nine out of ten cases the premature loss of hair is due to dandruff. That condition often results from the presence of microbes whose great source is the dog. Ordinary cleansing with soap or shampoo preparations is of practically no use, but simple antiseptics, such as boracic ointment, usually bring about a speedy cure. As a preventive measure dispense with the dog."

The Fruit Cuckoo. The Indian fruit cuckoo, which like all members of the cuckoo family, lays its eggs in the nests of other birds and thus avoids the trouble of hatching them, is said to exhibit a great deal of strategy in dealing with crows, its natural enemies. Whereas the hen, an inconspicuous, speckled gray bird, conceals herself in the foliage, the cock, remarkable for his brilliant black plumage and crimson eyes, places himself on a perch near a crow's nest and sets up a great racket. The crow immediately rushes out to attack him, and he takes to flight with them in pursuit. The hen meanwhile slips into the nest and deposits an egg.

PICK U. S. FLYING FIELD IN FRANCE

Paris, July 8, by mail to New York. July 24—Issoudun, a town of about 10,000 in habitants, and lying 150 miles directly south of Paris, has been chosen for the American aviation camp in France. A vast plain at the outskirts of the city between Neuilly-Pailloux and LeChampenois, affords an ideal aviation field.

It would be hard to find better location as the camp is a long way from any factories and the middle of a rural district where nothing can interfere with the work of the aviators. According to the present estimates between 4,000 and 5,000 pilots with their mechanics, observers and repairmen are expected to be encamped at that place.

Issoudun has already begun to make preparations to receive the Americans and the local papers have started to comment upon the measure in which the surrounding population will "profit" from the vicinity of the Americans.

GERMANS LOSE 100,000 SOLDIERS have been driven back until they are only about six miles from the eastern frontier of Galicia, it is reported.

The German officers at the front declare that all reference to Lemberg has now been removed and that the chief task in hand now is "to clear Galicia."

The Russian forces in the Stanislau sector are seriously menaced. At some points the numerous and disorganized Russian units are retiring southward into the lower ranges of the Carpathian mountains.

Premier War Minister Kerensky, the Russian dictator, has reached the Russian front and is striving with might and main to inspire the troops with the spirit of discipline and to check the retirement, according to wireless advices.

Why We Walk in Our Sleep. The reason many persons walk in their sleep is because one part of the mind is wide awake when the other is asleep. But the curious thing about sleepwalking is that just because the walker is asleep and not conscious he can walk over dangerous spots which would probably cause him to fall through nervousness if he were wide awake. But as he is not awake and not conscious he generally walks safely and remembers nothing about it. So it is easy to see why it is dangerous to awake a sleepwalker while he is walking along a precipice or in some other dangerous place or position.—Kansas City Times.

Daily Temperature. Many people are unaware of the so-called normal body temperature of 98.6 degrees F. is not always maintained by persons in perfect health. Variations of a degree between 6 p. m., when the temperature in normal man is highest, and 2:30 a. m., when it is lowest, have been noted, and a healthy child's temperature sometimes falls in the early morning as low as 96. At other hours, however, an abnormally high or low temperature is an excellent reason for calling on the doctor.

Stevenson's Remonstrance. Publishers will wish that all authors with grievances would copy the manner of their complaint from Stevenson, who when Messrs. Black failed to bring out "Travels With a Donkey" as quickly as they had promised wrote to them, saying: "What has become of me and my donkey? She was never a fast traveler, but she has taken longer to come through Hanover street than to cross the Germanian. There must be carrots in your office. Please see to it and let me hear."—London Globe.

Two Kinds of Bird Boxes. Ordinary wooden boxes, if clean, can be made into bird houses by merely nailing on a cover and cutting out an entrance hole. Such makeshifts are rarely weather proof and are never pleasing to the eye. Branches containing red woodpecker holes, when attainable, are perhaps the best attraction that can be offered most house birds in the breeding season. By carefully fitting such a branch to a fruit or shade tree its foreign origin will scarcely be noticed.

LLOYD-GEORGE TO GIVE PEACE TERMS IN AUG. 4 ADDRESS

London, July 24—A new and more detailed outline of the allied war aims is expected to be made by Premier Lloyd George on August 4, said the parliamentary correspondent of the Daily News today. On that date, the third anniversary of England's declaration of war against Germany, will be observed and the premier will be one of the speakers. On that date, adds the Daily News, a committee will be formed to phrase itself to carry on the war to a successful conclusion.

ROOSTER AS MOTHER.

Struts About With Forty Chicks as if He'd Hatched Them.

Doylstown, Pa.—A rooster that is making an unparalleled record belongs to William Raikie. He is a big fellow, weighing nine or ten pounds, and mothers a brood of chicks with all the art and tenderness of a mother hen.

Some time ago Mr. Raikie noticed the rooster's fondness for chicks and allowed him to take a few to raise. The rooster soon grew proud of his new possessions and fed, guarded and cared for his charges with the ability of an experienced hen.

Mr. Raikie was quick to take advantage of this aptitude, and he soon increased the rooster's family, so that now the big bird is strutting around the yard with a brood of forty chicks. At feeding time he carefully pecks the food apart and then feeds it to them, and not until they have eaten their fill does he attempt to partake of nourishment himself. He is always watchful, cautious and painstaking lest he tread upon them.

Two of the chicks attempted to start a scrap one morning, but immediately Father Rooster was on the job and gently but firmly pushed his back between the scrappers, and the fight was over.

THE NEWEST REMEDY FOR Backache, Rheumatism and Dropsy.

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and legs, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes rheumatism, rheumatoid, gout or sciatica. This is the time to try "Anurie."

During digestion uric acid is absorbed into the system from meat eaten, and from some vegetables. The poor kidneys get tired and backache begins. This is a good time to take "Anurie," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce for kidney trouble and backache. Neglected kidney trouble is responsible for many deaths, and insurance companies examining doctors always test the water of an applicant before a policy will be issued. Have you ever set aside a bottle of water for twenty-four hours? A heavy sediment or settling sometimes indicates kidney trouble. The true nature and character of diseases, especially those of the kidneys and urinary organs, can often be determined by a careful chemical analysis and microscopical examinations—this is done by expert chemists of the Medical Staff of the Invalids' Hotel. If you wish to know your condition send a sample of your water to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and describe your symptoms. It will be examined without any expense to you, and Doctor Pierce or his staff of Assisting Physicians will inform you truthfully.

KNOW YOURSELF! Read all about yourself, your system, physiology, anatomy, hygiene, simple home cures, etc., in the "Common Sense Medical Advisor," a book of 400 pages. Send to Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., three dimes or thirty cents in one-cent stamps for a cloth-bound copy.
