Misses Nina Odgen and Alice Stephens entertained the members of the G. T. Club on Saturday night at a delightful slumber party at the former's home on Second avenue. The club is composed of twelve young ladies who arrived at the home of their hostess late in the evening. A very enjoyable informal social hour was spent with music after which the girls went to the lawn where a fire had been lighted. Marshmallows were toasted and light refreshments were served. The night was spent in a large tent which was erected at the rear of the house. Yesterday morning another fire was lighted in the yard where wieners were roasted and breakfast was served out of doors. The party broke up after an informal morning.

The annual picnic of the Ottawa Drama Club was held on Saturday evening in a grove near Chautauqua park. Fifteen members of the club were in attendance. The guests motored out to the grounds in the late afternoon where a sumptuous repast was served at 6:30 o'clock. Following the supper the annual election officers was held, at which time the following young ladies were chosen to serve during the coming year: President, Miss Evelyn Barry; Vice President, Mrs. Maude Haebler;

Secretary, Mrs. Rena Prichard; Treasurer, Miss Dorothy Vertney.

Miss Margaret Yentzer entertained twenty young ladies at her home in Highland Place this afternoon at a bridge party complimentary to Miss Helen Hawks who is soon to become the bride of Theron J. Byrne. Five tables of bridge were played during the afternoon, after which a dainty luncheon was served. The Yentzer home was prettily decorated with garden flowers.

NEW YORK HAS FALL HAT FAD

With summer veils at their maddest and merriest, New York has been wearing fall hats for weeks. Small hats and medium ones with the turn-up across the face are modish still in the running, and those with brims that slope down all around and then have a narrow straight edge in addition are especially favored.

INTRASTATE RATES ON FREIGHT CLIMB WITH I. C. C. RULING

BOOST NEXT WEEK WILL FOLLOW COMMISSION'S MANDATE ALLOWING LARGE INCREASES IN ALL DEPARTMENTS OF RAILROAD BUSINESS.

Washington, Aug. 2—Advances of intrastate rates—freight, passenger and Pullman—to correspond with the interstate increases authorized Saturday by the Interstate Commerce Commission will be asked of the various state railway commissions by the carriers, it was said here last night by Alfred Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives. Thom said, will not fail to take total advance provided for by the federal commission's decision, because, in submitting their estimates, the carriers calculated at a basis of increases of both interstate and intrastate rates.

Since the increases in passenger Pullman, excess baggage and bulk rates were made general for the entire country by the federal commission the railroads will ask for corresponding increases in each state. The percentage of advances in intrastate freight rates which the roads will request, however, will correspond to the percentage authorized in the territory in which the state is located. These increases requested in eastern states would be 40 per cent. In southern states 25 per cent. In western states 35 per cent. and in mountain-Pacific states 25 per cent.

Pleased by Increase. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and chairman of the advisory committee of the Association of Railway Executives, was in Chicago yesterday and expressed himself as well pleased with the increase in rates granted the railroads. "It has been a matter of common knowledge that the railroads have been unable to pay their interest charges," said Mr. Willard. "Under the new rates these charges will be taken care of and the railroads will be enabled to do development work, which has been much delayed. I am also pleased with the recent wage increase granted railroad employes. "Under the new schedules the public may look for much improved service, continued development and contented railroad workers."

KANSAS CROPS TO BE MANMOUTH THIS YEAR

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 2—With the second largest wheat crop in its history and prospects of a bumper corn crop at the same time, the great sunlit prairies of Kansas this year are expected to yield approximately half a billion dollars. There are other items, such as alfalfa, oats, barley and potatoes, to bring in a few more millions, not to mention profit money for the women folks from chickens, butter and eggs.

Many Kansas farmers have contended that a good corn year was had last year. Experience has shown them that the rains needed by the corn at the growing season were usually injurious to the ripening of wheat grains, while the blistering sun, which made wonderful wheat, bleached the life out of corn.

This year, however, mild rains fell throughout the night, giving strength to the corn and set not any much moisture, which would soften the ground. Ripening and threshing of wheat continued without interruption. Stories of the abundance of the wheat reach this city daily. There are many tales about roads being choked with volunteer wheat—grain blown from the field and growing in the highways. For instance, the little village of Menio in Thomas county, the center of a very fertile wheat district, is reported as well as might be expected by the miles of growing grain which reach right up to the village. For ten miles looking in every direction the visitor sees almost nothing but what appears one vast field of wheat. Fences, low buildings and roads are hidden by the great yellow carpet.

Menio in ordinary times is so quiet that the barking of a dog would attract attention, but today the hum of the reapers, the grinding of the best threshers, the explosion of the exhaust on the tractors and the rattle of the untrilled trucks racing along with their loads of golden grain produce a clamor like the traffic of a large city.

Threshers and other harvest machinery which had supposedly been retired after many years of honorable service, are being hauled and lightened here and there over the state for use in the present emergency.

The only thing which perplexes the Kansas farmer is the problem of transporting the grain. Governor Allen recently estimated that at the present rate the state was receiving freight cars, it would take the railroads two years to move the wheat crop. Emergency buildings are being constructed to store the grain and every leverage possible is being used to get cars to Kansas.
