

MEAT BURNS AND FIREMEN CALLED TO JANSEN HOME

A meat roast, burned to a fragile and filling the home of H. Jansen, 661 Pittsburg street, full of smoke was responsible for a call to the fire department at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Jansen had placed the roast on the gas stove and had gone out of the house and into the cellar to return and find that the door had been locked on her. Her husband, who works in one of the factories, had gone away with the key and she went after it. Returning, she found the house so filled with smoke that she could not enter. She called the firemen, who rushed into the home to combat what seemed to be a bad fire. Making their way into the kitchen they found the source of trouble. A perfectly good meat roast was burned to a crackling.
