SLAYER OF JAP MAY HAVE BEEN LIQUOR CRAZED

Beas Murderer Is Said to Have Been Addicted to the Use of Moonshine Whisky.

Vague hallucinations continued today to cloud the incentive for the murder of George Nakayama, Japanese manager of the Moline Y. M. C. A. cafeteria, yesterday, by Andrew Postelnyk, Russian Y. roomer, who killed his fancied enemy by running him through with a sword just before the noonday luncheon hour.

The first move to clear up the motive for the crime was made this morning by Coroner John Mayberry, whose verdict caused Postelnyk to be held to the grand jury without bond on a charge of murder in the first degree. The Russian was committed to the county jail and may be tried at the next term of court.

Investigation by Edward Eagle, assistant state's attorney of Rock Island county, advanced a possible motive for the tragedy in the fact that Postelnyk was known from time to time to have consumed various potations of moonshine liquor. Alleged disclosures purported to show that Postelnyk's brother Walter had been importing large quantities of moonshine from Chicago.

The theory that Postelnyk was so addicted to the consumption of the moonshine that hallucinations concerning the jovial Japanese crazed him to the point of cold-blooded, premeditated murder, is at present the volatile chain of circumstances which the county officials hope to enmesh the real motive for the crime.

Postelnyk himself would not or could not reveal the incentive for his murder of the cafeteria manager. The Russian appeared today to comprehend fully the consequences of the crime, for in replying to questions of Alderman R. W. Entrikin, state's agent for property formerly occupied by the accused man at 1818 Third avenue, he asked:

"Will they kill me the way I killed him?" Despite all protestations to the contrary by friends and associates of the murdered Japanese, Postelnyk adheres doggedly to "the stick" with which Nakayama is alleged to have annoyed him. Incoherently, at times almost unintelligible, he recounts what officials say he believes to be justifiable murder to which he was goaded by relentless persecution.

Thoughtless Harmless. Alderman Entrikin, who has the Russian's affairs in hand for the state, told the police and coroner that Postelnyk had always appeared to him as a mild, harmless type of foreigner, who had also been thrifty and industrious. The alderman, like other officials, is baffled completely as to ascertaining a motive for the crime.

The theory of premeditated murder was established when Postelnyk explained to Alderman Entrikin that he had sharpened his sword for the express purpose of killing Nakayama. However, he said, he today's inquest depicted such graveness as Postelnyk might have entertained by testifying that they knew nothing of an embittered nature that existed between the murderer and his victim. Nakayama's agreeable disposition was established as a fact.

As an aftermath to the inquest the state's attorney will probably apply for a commission of alienists to examine Postelnyk as to his mental condition, although no date for such action has yet been determined. State's Attorney Eagle requested at the inquest that the insanity theory be minimized as much as possible, indicating that the state believes Postelnyk was not insane when he killed the Japanese. The coroner's verdict, verbatim, was: "George Nakayama came to his death at the hands of Andrew Postelnyk by a stab wound in the abdominal vortex, with murderous intent in the Y. M. C. A. building, Moline, death being almost instantaneous." The jury also recommended that Postelnyk be held for murder without bond.

Nakayama's white widow broke down on the stand after affirming that she had been the lawful wife of the murdered man. She collapsed and had to be led from the inquest, weeping bitterly.

Probes for Race Hatred. Interrogations by State's Attorney Eagle at the inquest appeared to rely on the theory that race hatred, not insanity, drove Postelnyk to commit the crime.

First, he asked Joe Kuwa, "Yook, if Nakayama had served in the Japanese war with Russia, Kuwa replied negatively. He also testified he did not know whether Postelnyk had served with the Russian forces during the same strife. Kuwa said he never conversed with the Russian, nor did he ever see Nakayama in conversation with the accused man.

The cook's initial word-picture of the crime was that he had seen Nakayama about to go upstairs at the rear of the cafeteria as Postelnyk came dashing down the same stairway brandishing his heavy sword above his head.

"You kill me, I kill you," Kuwa told the jury he heard the Russian blurt hoarsely. Then, according to Kuwa, Postelnyk stabbed the Japanese and that he saw him fall dead on the spot.

Sought Only Lives. Kuwa then described how the Japanese passed him through the door and down the dining room stairs. He said he saw the Japanese and that he saw him fall dead on the spot.

MOLINE OBITUARY

Mrs. John A. Westberg. Funeral services for Mrs. John A. Westberg, 1425 Eighteenth avenue, Moline, were held at 2:15 yesterday afternoon in the residence and at 2:30 in Salem Lutheran church, Rev. Edward Ekstrom having charge. The floral offerings were both profuse and beautiful and the number of friends present was large. Rev. Carl Nilsson of Rock Island assisted with the services and vocal selections were rendered in the home and at the grave by the church quartet and Mrs. Ekstrom also sang in the home. John Peterson, William Johnson, N. G. Ellstrom, C. P. Davidson, O. F. Carlsson and Adolph Berger were pallbearers. Burial was in Riverside cemetery.

Gustav Lindquist. Funeral services for Gustav Lindquist, 523 Seventeenth avenue, East Moline, will be held at 2:30 Friday afternoon in the home, with Rev. C. O. Morland of the First Lutheran church officiating. Interment will be in Riverside cemetery. Mr. Lindquist was a member of the First Lutheran church of Moline. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Peter Larson, of Fairfield, Iowa.

Maynard Peterson. Rev. W. Wilbur Babcock conducted funeral services for Maynard Peterson, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Peterson, at 2:30 yesterday afternoon in the Peterson home, Thirty-fifth street and Sixth avenue, Moline. Many friends were in attendance and there was a large display of flowers. Martin Anderson, C. M. Carlstedt, C. A. Carlson and Carl Blomgren rendered vocal numbers. Bearers were Victor Carlson, Carl Carlson, Lawrence Scherer, Mark Vanacker, Forrest Beck and Ben Goldberg. Interment was in Riverside cemetery.

"I never saw Postelnyk before," said Mrs. Turcott, "I saw the Russian go after Joe in the dining room. Then he turned back and went after me. He gave a great big scream and said something about someone being after him with a big stick. "He had the sword in his right hand and the scabbard in his left. There was blood on the sword and I saw he had done murder. I put him on his shoulder and told him to give me the sword. Then I gave it to Mrs. Nakayama. She asked him 'What do you want?' and he didn't say anything. I turned around and saw Joe carrying in George. Until then I thought Joe had been killed."

Capt. Testifies. Mrs. R. Turcott said she knew of no quarrel between Nakayama and Postelnyk. She declared the Russian was sweating violently when she first saw him and that he rushed at her with sword pointed at her stomach. Miss Fay Higden, Policeman Negley and Dr. H. A. Beam also testified. But their testimony added nothing new to the mystery. Dr. Beam stated Nakayama was dead when he arrived at the Y about 11 yesterday morning. Burial Thursday afternoon. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 in the Knox chapel. He was born in Japan Nov. 11, 1884. He came to America about 15 years ago. As far as Mrs. Nakayama has been able to learn he has no relatives living in America. She added that George had not heard from relatives in Japan for a long time. Before coming to the trial she employed for four years ago he was employed in a hotel at Kansas City, Mo.

WELFARE HEAD SCORES MOVIES

Dr. Artman, Boy Psychologist, Claims Pictures and Jazz Are Deterring Influences.

Movies and jazz were condemned last night as deterring influences to development of the American boy, by Dr. J. H. Artman of Chicago, boy psychologist, in an address at the Moline council by scout dinner at the Moline Commercial club.

"We would perpetrate a lie upon childhood by insistence that it has to have this 'jingle-jangle' music," he explained. "Movies are setting a mad pace. Ninety per cent of their themes are slams at the home, filled with smutty suggestion. These are setting the pace for the development of American life."

Dr. Artman also scored "art for art's sake" as practiced in American life by the "man who gets away from the stream." He made a forceful plea to the men to take deep interest in boy welfare work, predicting that "the man who gets away from the unfolding of human existence is walking the gangplank."

"Ready cash contribution is easy escape from the responsibilities of adult life," he insinuated. "Pocketbook support is small and medium support. Understanding is absolutely essential. Every boy has remarkable capacity within himself, but he has not had the conditions that release such capacity."

Dr. Artman closed by declaring that, with all the intelligence, finances, etc., communities are giving nothing worth while to the boys. He urged the men to permit boys to play in conditions to which boys respond, but warned them to let the boys be first to respond.

ALEDOAN MAKES CON CON FIGHT

Caristrom Contends for Chicago Representation According to Its Voters.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 1.—Limitation in Cook county's representation in the legislature to one-third the membership in each house, seemed to be the prevailing purpose of downstate delegates to the constitutional convention, who resumed their caucus this morning, after it had been decided that debate on the floor of the convention was a waste of time. Adjournment until 2 p. m. was taken.

Led by Leo Mighell of Aurora and Senator Dunlap of Savoy, one faction in the downstate caucus declared their firm intent to uphold limitation. The Anti-Saloon league, represented by State Superintendent Scott McBride, and the Chicago Law and Order league, had letters on the desks of all delegates this morning, approving the plan to limit Chicago as a protection of limitation in one house, these two organizations suggested, would in reality be no limitation at all.

Chicago's delegation, while outspoken against limitation, made the first advance toward compromise. A committee of three, composed of Delegates Hamill, Davis and Traeser, was named to wait upon a similar committee of downstate, composed of Delegates Todd of Peoria, Rinkler of Carlinville and Mighell of Aurora. The first conference together was productive of nothing.

Assembling of the downstate caucus again this morning showed a well defined tendency away from the limitation plan. Classing themselves as "pirates" and "outsiders" there was a group headed by Captain Oscar Caristrom of Aleo that would give representation according to electors.

"Persons who take interest enough to vote should be represented," was Captain Caristrom's stand. He would give Chicago representation according to its voters. This, he said, would not give Chicago a majority in the house for another 20 or 30 years. He would limit the senate to one-third. This plan, Mr. Caristrom said, passed the constitutional convention last spring and is acceptable to Cook county.

DAMAGED CROPS IN ARGENTINA BOOST MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Storms in Argentina had a tendency today to strengthen the whole wheat market here. Severe damage to Argentine crops was reported. Considerable attention was also given to domestic advices that stocks of wheat in country elevators of the surplus producing states are low except in a few localities. Opening quotations, which varied from 1/4 decline to 1c advance, with December at 1.56 to 1.57 and March at 1.59 to 1.61, were followed by slight downturns and then by a material advance all around.

Signs of good export demand led to a subsequent further upturn in values. Clearance of 48,000 bushels of wheat from New York to a Russian Black Sea port was construed as very bullish. The market closed strong, 5c to 2 1/2c net higher, with December, $1.62 to $1.62 1/2, and March, $1.55 1/2 to $1.56.

Corn paralleled the action of wheat. After opening at 1/4 decline to 1/4c advance, with May at 72 1/2c to 72 1/2c, the market scored a general gain. December shorts covered freely owing to lack of deliveries on December contracts. The close was firm, 1c to 2 1/2c net higher, with May 73 1/2c to 74c.

Oats were firm with other cereals, starting unchanged to a shade higher, and continuing to harden. Provisions reflected steadiness of the hog market.

TODAY IN ALEDO AND MERCER COUNTY

PARENTS OFFER $50 REWARD FOR LOST DAUGHTER

Seek Information Concerning Former Aleo Girl, Missing Since Fair in September.

Fifty dollars reward is offered by Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lawrence, formerly of Aleo, but now living at Morrison, Ill., for information concerning Valva, their 17-year-old daughter, who left Aleo last September in company with an unknown man who came to Aleo to run a stand at the Mercer county fair.

All attempts to locate the girl failed until the middle of October, when the parents received a letter from her written at Beaver Bend, Wis., stating that she was well and did not intend to return to Aleo. She was later seen on State street in Chicago in company with two men, and an appeal was made to Chicago police to find the girl and return her to Aleo, but the attempt to locate her failed. The missing girl is tall and slender and appears older than 17 years. She has light hair and blue eyes and usually wears bright colored clothing. Any information concerning her should be sent to the parents at Morrison or to Sheriff Fleming of Aleo.

YOUTH LOSES TWO OF HIS FINGERS AS ACCIDENT RESULT

Physicians at Mercy hospital in Davenport found it necessary to amputate the third and little finger and a portion of the hand of Kenneth Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Holt of Millersburg, who was accidentally shot while hunting last Saturday. Dr. A. C. Sells of Aleo, who accompanied the lad to the hospital, stated this morning that the boy was recovering nicely.

SERVICES MONDAY FOR MRS. PARKER

Funeral services were held last Monday at 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist church in North Henderson for Mrs. William Parker, who died Nov. 26 at her home near North Henderson. Rev. E. R. Horton of the Methodist church conducted the services. Interment was in Mt. Vernon cemetery.

Mrs. Parker is survived by her husband, a 10-day old baby and three other children, boys of 7 and 11 years of age and a girl 9 years old. The cause of Mrs. Parker's sudden death was a most unusual one, death being pronounced by Coroner Mackey of Aleo as being due to stoppage of circulation due to a blood clot.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good drug store and use it like a cold cream.
