TWO SETS OF OFFICIALS.

Political Affairs at Terre Haute, Ind., Badly Tangled Up.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 10.—Terre Haute has a double set of city officials. The new Republican council has abolished the office of city attorney and then re-established it and elected a Republican to succeed a Democrat. The offices of city engineer, chief of the fire department and street commissioner were elected to succeed Democrats. City Attorney Foley told the council that he would continue to hold office until September, because, he claimed, that his term continued until that time under the new McHugh law. Lawyer Beasley, for Fire Chief Kennedy, informed the council that Kennedy would not yield.

The law reads that the city officials holding office at the time the law went into effect shall continue in office until September, 1894, but another clause declares that the council can remove at its pleasure. The Democrats want to go to court for a restraining order, and there is sure to be a test case of this law which will be of interest to all the cities in the state except Indianapolis, Fort Wayne and Evansville, which have special charters.

MORE TROUBLE MAY ENSUE.

Great Northern Men Object to Discharges of Strike Leaders.

ST. PAUL, May 10.—The situation on the Great Northern is unquestionably serious, as the men are manifesting a disposition to consent to no discharges of those connected with the late strike. They resent emphatically that their understanding of the recent settlement was that all should be reinstated in the positions they formerly occupied, and they say positively there will be further trouble if this is not done. President Hill said:

"The company has made one settlement with the men and it proposes to abide by the agreement. It was provided in the agreement that all of the men who had not been guilty of destruction of the company's property or of violation of the company's rules should be reinstated. The company does not intend to employ those who are thus barred."

DASHED OUT HER BRAINS.

Thrown Down an Air Shaft by the Breaking of an Extremized Bridge.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Mrs. Emily Recksteiner and Mrs. Rosalie Huerlin were tenants of fourth-floor flats at 496-498 Brooke avenue. To pass from one flat to the other it was necessary to walk down three flights of stairs and up three flights. The women became great friends and were not content to chat across the area, but exchanged frequent visits.

The stair-climbing was a serious obstacle to their intimacy, and to overcome it Mrs. Recksteiner laid an ironing board from her window to that of Mrs. Huerlin. For several days the women passed to and fro over the extemporized and fragile bridge. As Mrs. Recksteiner was returning to her own apartment, the board broke and she fell to the bottom of the shaft, striking upon her head upon the flagstones and dashing out her brains. She was 25 years old.

READING, Pa., May 10.—N. C. He says that he himself is a Protestant clergyman, yet he would consider it a breach of etiquette if he were to fail to address a priest or a nun by the proper ecclesiastical name.

SHERIFF CALLS FOR STATE MILITIA

And the Governor Tells Him to Wait. Awhile. Meantime Sending Colonel Boyle to Look at the Situation—Text of the Telegrams That Were Exchanged—Strikers Hold a Mass Meeting, Which Crawford Addresses—No Trouble Reported.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., May 10.—Governor Altgeld has received the following telegram from Stanton, Ills.: "There is in this place about 1,200 men, having assembled here today for the avowed purpose of taking the miners from work in the coal mines here. There is about 500 men here who want to work, and have been working up to this time, and will keep on working if they get protection. I have gotten 150 deputies sworn in, which is all I can get, but the men are afraid to go into the mines with this protection. It is said that they have threatened violence to all men working, and I now ask you to send a regiment of militia, or the works will have to stop. I am satisfied that if an attempt is made to work the mines there will be trouble, and that it will be out of my power to preserve the peace." This is signed by H. J. O'Neill, sheriff.

Two More Urgent Telegrams.

The above as well as the following were received early in the morning—between 1:30 and 2 o'clock. Shortly after the above was received the following came to hand:

"It seems settled beyond question that not less than 1,200 strikers are camped here tonight. Neither the sheriff nor our company can cope with this crowd. I hope you will feel justified in complying with the sheriff's call for troops. Otherwise the purpose of the mob will be accomplished, which is to intimidate our men so that they will be afraid to go to their work."

CHARLES RIDGELY.

"I have read Sheriff O'Neill's telegram to you. In my judgment there will be loss of life unless militia are sent here immediately. The governor desires that you talk with the leaders on both sides, as well as with the sheriff, and report as soon as practicable in the morning."

WILLIAM A. VINCENT.

Altgeld's Reply to O'Neill.
The governor sent the following reply to Sheriff O'Neill: "I sent Colonel Boyle to Stanton last night. He will be there by daylight. Information received here in the evening is that the strikers do not intend to resort to violence and will only try persuasion. Your telegram does not bring the case within the law, because it does not state positively that violence is threatened; besides, it does not appear that the strikers are armed. This being so you should easily afford all necessary protection with 150 deputies. Troops will be ready to start at once if the situation on more careful examination should require it."

Practically the same telegram was sent to Ridgely and the following to Colonel Boyle: "The governor desires that you talk with the leaders on both sides, as well as with the sheriff, and report as soon as practicable in the morning."

Men Holding a Mass Meeting.

Colonel Boyle's report is as follows, at noon: "No trouble yet. Men are holding a mass meeting and being addressed by State President Crawford, of the Miners' federation. Will report as soon as the meeting adjourns."

WILL UPHOLD CHIEF SARGENT

For His Conservative Course in Blocking a Proposed Strike.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 10.—A called meeting of the grand executive board and trustees of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen is in session here. The meeting was called by Grand Master Sargent to consider a number of perplexing questions which have arisen of late. The leading matter to be considered, however, is the action of the grand master in regard to the firemen on the C. and E. I. He refused to sanction a strike when the firemen were almost unanimous for it. The men have protested and the executive board was called to take action on the decision. It is believed the board will uphold Chief Sargent.

Crabb Trying to Settle the Strike.

ST. LOUIS, May 10.—General Manager J. D. Crabb, of the Madison Coal Company, made an attempt to hold a conference with his striking coal miners at Edwinstown, Ills., but met with a failure, none of the men attending, though they had been given notice.
