THAT FORBIDDEN FRUIT!

Had it been in the Garden of Eden, Eve would certainly have requested Adam to get the household necessities from it. We have in stock more temptations—our celebrated "SHIRK CORK FILLED REFRIGERATOR," which we are now offering at such low prices to close the season. Out of a carload there are only a few left, and we don't want to carry over a single one to next season. Then, too, we offer you the "JEWEL" Gas and Gasoline stoves. You know that the "Jewel" has no equal. If you don't believe it, ask your neighbor. Every user of a gasoline stove admits it to be the best. We offer you two things—the best goods and the lowest price. If that is any inducement, call and see us.

Engineer Samuel Shrauger Suddenly Expires.

ATTRIBUTED TO HEART DISEASE.

Arrives Home About 4 O'clock This Morning and is Discovered a Few Hours Later Dead in His Bed—Charles S. L. Quilles Encounters a Tragic Death at Moline.

Samuel Shrauger, the well-known Rock Island passenger engineer, expired suddenly and unexpectedly early this morning at his home, 2206 Fifth avenue, and from the fact that he apparently had been enjoying good health and displayed no symptoms of an approaching attack, his demise is a shock to his family and acquaintances. The discovery was made by Mrs. Shrauger about 7:30 when she repaired to his room to summon him to breakfast, which she had prepared in the kitchen adjoining the death chamber, in total ignorance of the horror which she was about to encounter in finding her husband dead in bed.

Mr. Shrauger returned from his railroad duties at the usual time—4 o'clock—and immediately sought his couch. Before retiring he inquired of his wife, who had been suffering a little indisposition, as to how she was feeling. Receiving an encouraging answer, he retired to the sleep from which he never awoke.

She Heard Him Snoring.
Disturbed by his coming, the wife lay awake a considerable time, and was attracted by loud snoring, but was not alarmed, as it was his nature to breathe heavily when sleeping, especially if he was tired. She paid no more attention to this, and arose about 7 o'clock to prepare the morning meal. This completed, his presence was sought. Summoning him by calls, he did not respond.

Cold Into Death.
Thinking him sleeping soundly, she entered the room to arouse him, and was horrified to find him cold and dead, lying on his back in the center of the bed. From appearances the end came painlessly, as there were no evidences of a struggle with the grim destroyer. Dr. J. P. Comegys was summoned, and upon examination of the body, attributed death to an attack of heart disease. While Mr. Shrauger had never been subjected to an irregularity of this nature, a brother, Francis Shrauger, died several years ago with the same disease.

An Old Engineer.
The deceased was one of the most prominent engineers on the Rock Island system, with which he had been connected in that capacity for 35 years as a faithful and steady servant. For the last 15 years he had presided at the throttle of a passenger train running between here and Chicago, prior to that having charge of a freight engine. He was formerly a member of the Brotherhood of Engineers, but of late years had ceased his membership with the order. He was not associated with any fraternal or beneficiary organizations. Mr. Shrauger was born in Michigan, and was 61 years of age. Beside a wife, two daughters, Miss Grace Shrauger and Mrs. Howard Murphy, both of Chicago, survive.

The funeral arrangements have been deferred, pending the arrival of the children this evening.

The Coroner's Inquest.
Inquisition over the remains was conducted by Deputy Coroner Eckhart and the following jurors: T. F. Wheelan, J. J. Kelly, James McQuaid, John Gaffoy, Sr., James Bevin, and Charles Wheelan, who after hearing the testimony, returned a verdict that Samuel Shrauger came to his death from an attack of heart disease.

HEAD SEVERED FROM HIS BODY.
Charles S. L. Quilles Meets a Horrible Death on the Rail at Moline.

The head of Charles S. L. Quilles, an old gentleman residing at 418 Third avenue, Moline, was completely severed from his body this morning by being run over by switch engine 15, of the C. B. & Q., at the Eleventh street crossing, that city. The unfortunate individual had been walking on the sidewalk, which is alongside the track at this point, but suddenly concluded to traverse between the rails, seemingly not being aware of the close approach of the engine, which could not be halted in time to prevent the accident. Quilles was struck by the step and carried about twenty feet, when he fell beneath the wheels. The engine and one car passed over the body, severing the head, which was picked up some fifteen feet distant from the other portion. The remains were taken to the police station and an inquest held by Coroner Hawes. T. I. Stanley, W. A. Jones, G. A. Holt, James Trevor, John G. Swenson and Ezra L. Eastman as the jury returned a verdict of accidental killing, holding no one responsible for it.

Notice to Dog Owners.
Owners of dogs are hereby notified that the city tax on dogs is now past due, and owners of dogs for which checks have not been taken out will be proceeded against if the tax is not paid.

THE SUNDAY SUSPENSION.

How the Barber Shop Law is Enacted in Some Cities.

The Sunday suspension barber shop law, which has just become operative in Illinois, has been in vogue in many eastern cities. But patrons of barber shops in the east are not submitting passively to laws providing for the closing of the "parlors" Sunday. Legislation has recently closed all the Brooklyn barber shops Sunday. At first there was much discomfort and great fault found. The barbers thought their revenue cut down, and the citizens foresaw stubby chins. Then an enterprising knight of the razor announced that he could be engaged to visit his patrons at their homes, where he would attend to their tonorial wants. It works well. The barber makes more money than he did in his shop, and his patrons are shaved without the trouble of waiting for the cry of "next." Of course there has been a protest and threats have been made of prosecution, but it is believed that a conviction could not be obtained.

How It May be Eluded.
This might, and probably will, be tried in Illinois after next Sunday. The Cody law's provisions could be set at naught by the adoption of the Brooklyn plan, but of course there are not enough barbers in one city to shave all the patrons who call at their shop, if house to house visitation had to be made in search of customers. By this method, however, barbers might do a thriving business in the rooms at hotels occupied by commercial travelers.

In Iowa.
The Des Moines Leader takes other papers to task for making fun of and ridiculing the Sunday-closing law, and uses arguments on a plane of high morality, saying in part:

"New York and Chicago papers are trying to show the absurdity of the law. They not only write labored editorials to this effect, but they print cartoons intended to ridicule the movement. It only goes to show that the able editors of the New York and Chicago press have not studied the subject carefully. The cause of Sunday observance owes more to the barbers than to any other class of citizens. We have found it so in Iowa, and we are naturally surprised that the papers of New York and Chicago have not yet comprehended the position taken by the barbers. In Iowa they undertook the Sunday-closing movement themselves. The barbers have themselves demonstrated that shaving shops are not such 'works of necessity' as the laws permit Sundays. They have set a good example, which must inure to the benefit of every workingman, and no newspaper in good conscience should fail to support them."

We have heard nothing from Davenport yet, but Davenport is too wicked to be affected by any Sunday observance act.

In Illinois Cities.
The Quincy Herald says of the effect of the law in that city: "What the outcome of the Cody law will be so far as free-and-easy, wide-open Quincy is concerned remains to be seen. So far as the shops are concerned they will for a time, at least, be closed, for the barbers are jealous of their 'trade' and would invoke the law's aid against any member of their craft caught violating the law they themselves were obeying. There are laws against saloons and several other places of business being open Sunday, but in Quincy they are not observed—they are dead letters. It may be that the same fate awaits the Cody law. If it is nobody's business but that of a professional informer to attend to its enforcement, and the barbers don't fight over it themselves, it is likely that its provisions will not long be rigorously enforced. Front blinds may be drawn and front doors locked, but a man badly in need of a shave will be accommodated, with little more trouble than is now experienced by the man with the rich, brown taste in his mouth in getting a brazer and an eye-opener."

Annual Meeting.
The Rock Island Building, Loan and Savings association at its annual meeting last evening reelected its old officers, beside dispatching other matters. A revision of the constitution and by-laws was suggested, and Messrs. W. P. Quayle, S. S. Kemble and L. Simon were appointed a committee to compile them. Dr. W. T. Magill, L. Simon and J. B. Cornwall, whose term as directors expired, were reelected for the ensuing three years. The old officers were rechosen as follows:

President—Dr. W. T. Magill.
Vice President—S. S. Kemble.
Secretary—E. H. Guyer.

DAY TO CELEBRATE

Anticipated Local Observances of Tomorrow.

MANY PLEASURES ARE PLANNED.

The Watch Tower and the Bicycle Race—Excursion, Fireworks and an All Around Old Time Celebration, Weather Permitting.

Tomorrow, the greatest of national holidays, will be, from all indications, a good, old fashioned, all around Fourth of July in Rock Island. While there will be no general celebration, there will be plenty of attractions and means of observing the anniversary of American independence. Probably the greatest attraction, as it always is, will be the Watch Tower, where the street railway company has arranged to exceed all former efforts. There will be something going on all day—every minute from sunrise until the midnight hour marks the closing of the day we celebrate. The Takazawa troupe of Japs will perform morning and afternoon. There will be a balloon ascension and parachute leap by Prof. Blessing in the afternoon, day fireworks, patriotic music; and in the evening the greatest pyrotechnic display ever witnessed in the three cities.

The Bicycle Races.
At Twin-City Ball park at 3 o'clock in the afternoon the races of the Rock Island Cycle club will be given on the new track. A brass band will furnish music, and the events will prove interesting in all respects. Entries promise some first class attractions, a mile novice race, a one-fourth mile open, a one-half mile open, mile open, 2-mile handicap, 1-mile county championship for the club's $25 gold medal; 5-mile handicap, together with fancy and trick riding, etc. The judges will be: L. S. McCabe, Walter Chambers and W. D. Wiman; the referee, Paul Keller; starter, Paul Ramser, and timers, A. Burrall, James Cowden and J. Lembreck, with M. S. Heagy clerk.

Other Observances.
There will be excursions on the river, railroad excursions—one of the latter being to the Woodmen picnic at Blue Grass, Iowa—and other means of celebration.

All public offices, county and city, and the banking houses will suspend for the day. At the postoffice the usual holiday custom will be observed. There will be two morning deliveries, and the money order office will be open until 10 a. m.

The grocery stores will close at 11, and business generally at noon.

Mayor's Proclamation.
Mayor B. F. Knox this afternoon issued the following proclamation, with reference to the observance of the Fourth:

Mayor's Office, Rock Island, July 3, 1894: The public is hereby requested to use all possible diligence to avoid fires during the Fourth, and cautioned not to start fires in alleys, or otherwise where they may be brought in contact with combustibles. It is particularly urgent that all due care be employed this year, when material is so dry.

The public is also advised that strict adherence to the ordinance governing the use of fire arms will be required. B. F. KNOX, Mayor.

When Traveling.
Whether on pleasure bent, or business, take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cent and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup company only.

Little Japs, big Japs, all sorts of Japs every day this week at Watch Tower—Free.
