GOVERNORS will be elected in seven states a week from next Tuesday. They are Massachusetts, New Jer-

GOVERNOR ALTGELD has called a special election in the Sixth judicial district for Dec. 17, to fill the vacancy on the supreme bench caused by Justice Bailey's death.

SENATOR JOHN M. PALMER has anpresent term he will retire from pol. France, died suddenly this morning tics permanently, and will under no of heart failure. circumstances stand for reelection to the upper branch of congress.

DR. JOSEPH ROBBINS, of Quincy, has reassirmed his candidacy for the republican gubernatorial nomination, and is out after it in dead earnest. The doctor has no use for the crafty politician, John R. Tanner, but the the robins nest.

THE University of Illinois ha now under construction a $15.00 president's residence and a $10,00 mechanical building. In a few week the elegant new $150,000 library building will be begun. Plans are also being constructed for a $10,000 astronomical observatory to be be gun soon. The phenomenal progress which the universty is making is very gratifying to the friends education throughout the state.

Among an interesting collection of relies brought from Russia for th Memorial museum at San Francisc last week were two guns that were on the ship commanded by Behring after whom Behring sea was named. The guns were hauled overland from Cronstadt two centuries ag through Russia and Siberia, 9,00 miles, to the Pacific. The vesse sank in the Okhotsk sea, and the guns remained under water for 150 years, and until about a year ago.

CHAIRMAN TANKER, of the Illinois republican committee, has been carrying on a telegraphic correspondence with Senator Quay for more than a week. Senator Quay is giving his attention now entirely to his race for chairman of the republican national committee. Chairman Tanner is favorable to the senator. He is undoubtedly influenced in Quay's behalf by Senator Cullom. Tanner may be trying to open negotiations with the Pennsylvania boss for the may be trying to open negotiations with the Pennsylvania boss for the Cullom presidential boom. It has been the dream of Mr. Tanner's life to see Cullom president. But if the opinions of the persons who are in the senator's confidence are to be credited, Mr. Cullom is not in the presidential race. Said one of them recently:

"Senator Cullom does not consider that he is now in the calculations for sale at M. F. Bahnsen's drug store. 1896. He was outspoken for Senator Allison and believes if the convention was held now that Allison would be nominated easily. The senator says Tanner is an open and avowed candidate for governor of Illinois, and Cullom believes Tanner will be nominated."

Unrecorded Political History, New York Mercury, In Senator Sherman's book no reference is made to a certain bit of incan national convention of 1880. Mr. Sherman and Mr. Blaine both awaited the developments of that convention in Washington. Each convention in Washington. Each had a private wire running to his private office, and builetins were constantly being flashed back and forth from their representatives at Chicago. After the balloting had proceeded for a day or two without result Sherman sent this message to Mr. Blaine: "If you will instruct your friends to vote for me I can be nominated on the next ballot." Mr. nominated on the next ballot." Mr. Blaine's vote in the convention was about 284 and Mr. Sherman's 93. Mr. Blaine's comment when he received Mr. Sherman's message was substantially as follows: "Sherman evidently thinks that the mountain should go to Mahomet. It is very strange that it has not occurred to him that if his friends will vote for me I can be nominated." He then sent Mr. Sherman a message that unless he (Blaine) could be nominated on the following day Gen. Gar-field would be the nominee of the convention. Mr. Sherman evidently did not believe it, as he gave no in-structions to his friends to support the Maine statesman.
