GOES TO THE POOR FARM.

Mrs. George Heschman Reported From Her Husband.

Mrs. George Heschman, a woman residing on Seventh street and Fourth avenue, who has been occasioning considerable annoyance to the authorities of late, finally consented to go to the county infirmary today, and Poormaster Lidders sent her thither.

A few months ago Heschman attempted to have her adjudged insane in the county court, and while it was not deemed that her mental equilibrium was the best, it was contended that the extent of her infirmity was not severe enough to warrant her detention at an asylum. So she was discharged. And a few weeks afterward she threatened to kill her husband, so he alleges. Poormaster Lidders had asked her to go to the county infirmary, but she steadfastly refused.

Poormaster Lidders made another call at the Heschman house last week on hearing that they had been quarreling again, and found that Heschman had reduced the dishes to smithereens, broke the stove and made a rough house generally and decamped, leaving his wife to get along as best she could. Mrs. Heschman was asked once more to go to the infirmary, where she would receive proper treatment and food. Her second refusal was enough for the poormaster, who, knowing her circumstances, realized that it would not be long before she would be seeking assistance. Yesterday she called on him and finally consented to go.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrison and nine children ranging in ages between 6 months and 16 years, all traveling in one covered wagon, were given transportation to Davenport yesterday by Poormaster Lidders, who also sheltered and fed them at the Maucker house the night before. The Morrises are enroute to De Witt, Iowa. They formerly lived in Wisconsin. Morrison said he went to Keithsburg expecting to get employment on the levee which the government was having constructed at that point, but that when he arrived operations had been suspended. With his wife and nine children on his hands he said he was penniless.

Cargoes of Dead Cats.

Liverpool receives some curious cargoes at times—cargoes of turtles and other live and dead animals, casks of leeches, shipments of bones from battlefields, of human mummies from the Egyptian tombs and of dead cats from the cat cemeteries of the same country.

The two most critical times in a woman's life are the times which make a girl a woman, and the woman a mother. At these times, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is of incalculable value. It strengthens and invigorates the organs distinctly feminine, promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, checks unnatural, exhausting drains, and puts the whole delicate organism into perfect condition. Almost all the ills of womankind are traceable to some form of what is known as "female complaint." There are not three cases in a hundred of woman's peculiar disease that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will not cure.

BONES THAT ROSE AGAIN.

Skeletons Believed to be Those of Indians Near Fort Byron.

John Broquist, living in the upper end of Port Byron, unearthed human bones in his yard the other day. The yard was being graded, and the workmen plowed into a mound, which after being scraped disclosed a number of bones. Upon closer examination the skulls of five persons, all side by side, were discovered. The bones were much decayed. Dr. Bruner, who inspected the skulls, said they were unquestionably those of Indians, and feels satisfied from past similar discoveries and the present one that the locality was at one time an Indian burying ground. The earth in the mound gave the appearance of having been dug out in shape of a round pit and the bodies placed side by side. As white people are not in the habit of burying this way, it is not unreasonable to suppose that the red skins had something to do with it. No relics were found. The bones were collected together and consigned to another spot.

Sandow Got Mad.

Sandow, the strong man, tells how once, on a holiday in Paris, he went with an old school friend into a billiard room, where some Frenchmen tried to fasten a quarrel on him because he was a German. The Parisian went so far as to slap him repeatedly in the face. Newfoundland, he let the terrier snarl until he tried to bite, when at last he lost his temper. He took the man by the collar and the trousers near the knee. Then, holding him up to the astonishment of the gallery, he knocked his assailant's knees into his teeth till he was nearly senseless. The Frenchman was taken to a hospital, while Sandow was walked off to a cell. But there were so many witnesses to the provocation that Sandow got off. The Frenchman himself was so astonished that when he recovered he sought Sandow's friendship and presented to him a magnificent watch, which he still possesses.

Not His.

"Hello! Is this your bank?" said Dinwiddie to Van Braam, who was making out a deposit slip at a desk in a Fifth avenue banking establishment.
"No," replied Van Braam. "This isn't my bank."
Dinwiddie seemed surprised, for he could see Van Braam's bankbook, with several checks and some money, when the latter added:
"No, it is not my bank. I wish it were. I am merely a depositor here."—Pittsburg Chronicle.

"Oh, that's all right. That saves it from the hired girl. My own invention, you know. Clever, isn't it? Never failed but once."
"How was that?"
"Hired girl couldn't read."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
