WHEN you ask an editor to suppress items of news because they do not please you, says an exchange, go to your grocer and ask him to quit handling pickles and prunes because you don't like them; or to your butcher and ask him to exclude bologua and sausage and head cheese because they do not agree with your stomach. The grocer and butcher will fall over each other to concede to your wishes, won't they? News is an editor's stock in trade; what you don't like may be "hot stuff" for others, what they pay for and have good reason to expect from a newspaper. So are pickies, prunes, weinerwurst and such stock in trade of the grocer and butcher.

Ir is alleged by J. W. Rea. president of the Painters' and Decorators' union of Fairmount, W. Va., that Judge Okey Johnson, dean of the law school of the West Virginia university, and for years a central figure West Virginia legal circles, has asserted that the striking miners can secure an injunction against the operators prohibiting them from employing new men in the places of the strikers. Mr. Rea does not go into details as to the grounds, decisions and legal technicalities upon which Judge Johnson bases his opinion. kilwa, ill., "Chief," says: "We but he declares that the judge believes such an injunction will hold. Judge Richard Yates, son of the Illinois war governor, will send to Gov. Tanner his resignation as coun ty judge of Morgan county Sept. 1 Judge Yates has been appointed internal revenue collector of the southern district of Illinois, and cannot hold the two offices, as Attorney General McKenna has approunced that an executive order made by President Grant in 1873 is still in force, prohibiting a federal officer from holding at the same time any state, county or municipal office. This will necesitate the calling of a special election by Gov. Tanner to tumors, allays the itching at once, fill the vacancy, and it is believed that the election will not be called until Nov. 5, the time for the regular fall election, at which a county commissioner, justices of the peace and constables are chosen.

Bending Cardboard. An English inventor-name or location we do not find given-is said to bave contrived a tool capable of being bend. The tool in question is formed of enport. metal or wood and is in two parts, one having a recess on one edge and the other a straight edge, having the upper edge rounded off to fit into the recess on the edge of the first part, allowing space between equal to the thickness of the substance to be bent-the length of the straight edge to be made to the longest bend required. In using the tool, the second mentioned part is made a fixture to the table machine frame or apparatus and the first part is attached to the traversing portion. By placing the cardboard to be bent on the straight edge, then sliding the second part over and along the board under a certain amount of pressure, a bend in the card vill be produced. - New York Spn.
