THE strikes all over the country that marked the advent of May afford but another instance of the heaping over prosperity and good times that we must keep so fixedly in our minds in this presidential year.

THERE will be about as much sincerity on the part of the present national administration in backing up the assurances of the inaugural address of Gov. Atlen, of Porto Rico, as there was in sustaining Gen. Miles' first proclamation to the islanders.

ONE of the main features of the Dewey entertainment program in Chicago is the trip over the sanitary drainage canal being made today. When Dewey comes to Rock Island, we can do better than that. We can take him out on the Mississippi and up the Hennepin canal.

In the municipal election at St. Paul yesterday, the democrats carried the day, electing their ticket by an average of 2,000, and winning the mayor, comptroller and treasurer and seven out of 11 aldermen. St. Paul went republican by a large majority at the last election.

Washington might have been made an earlier settler in St. Helena than Cronje or even Napoleon, and the head money offered for John Hancock and Sam Adams have been realized by some worshiper at the shrine of British civilization.'

The Majority Must Rule.

The speeches and letters of men who voted for McKinley in 1896 will not have much weight with the delegates to the democratic national convention this year. These men will be welcomed into the democratic party whether they were McKinley democrats or McKinley republicans, but they will not be allowed to make the democratic platform. The men who controled the convention four years ago are greater in the majority than they were in 1896, and it is not likely that they will submit to the dictation of a faction that refused to support the regular democratic nominees. All Fools' Day.

The custom of playing pranks on April fools' day probably had its origin in France, the first nation to begin the new year Jan. 1 instead of March 25. Before the change April 1 was the day when the merrymaking of the New Year's celebration culminated in the paying of gifts and visits in return for those already bestowed. When the reof January the beginning of the new year, April 1 was the time for pretended gifts and visits of mock ceremony to make fools of those who had forgotten the change in dates.

The Romans had a holiday similar in character to this, although not coming at the same time of year, the saturnalia, and in Hindustan the feast of the Huli, on March 31, has for its chief diversion the sending of people on fruitless errands. In Scotland they have a trick for April fools' day which never grows stale. If a fellow can be found simple The cause of the appearance is that enough to undertake it, he is given a note to carry to a certain person. He reads it and says it is not for him, but that he is to go to-naming another man-and from there he is sent to an other and so on until the bearer grows tired or sees a light. The note contains the lines:

This is the first of Aprile; Hunt the gowk another mile.

Egg Superstitions.

There are many superstitions about the egg. In Scotland and Ireland chilcrush the shell after eating an egg or to push the spoon through the bottom in the form of a cross, showing a lingering relic of the once general superstitions belief that witches lived in eggshells and made boats of them, casting spells upon the household.

In Italy it was believed that an egg laid by a white hen in a new nest on head or stomach; that broken in a vineyard it would prevent its suffering from hail or similarly would save a field from frost, and its possession gave one the power to see witches. It was also believed that an egg laid on Good Friday, thrown on the fire, would extinguish it, while the devil would be killed if shot with an egg laid on Christmas.-Self Culture Magazine.

Mail Shirt of a Dervish Warrior. The shirt is made of rings, every ring from a piece of steel wire 114 inches long and about one-sixteenth of an inch thick. The ends of the piece of wire are flattened out, holes are punched through them, one end is turned on to the other, and they are fastened together by a small rivet. Every ring connects four others. 'The wire differs somewhat in thickness, not by design seemingly so as to make one part of the shirt stronger than another, but from material of uniform thickness running short. In parts where the rings are free to jingle together they are worn very thin. Round the neck is a band of three thicknesses of red leather, stiff like the stock worn formerly in our army. It is 2% inches high and on the outside is decorated with ornamental lines like toolings made by a bookbinder. - Notes and Queries. Flowery Phrases.

Professor Walter Raleigh, who has published a rather clever book on Style," likes making phrases. "The peetry of Catullus." he said in a college address, the other day, "has survived the passing of a religion and an empire; the diary of Mr. Samuel Pepys will be as fresh as at the day of its birth, when the Forth bridge is oxide of iron and London is a geological pancake of brick dust."

Heartless.

"Did that man ever write anything that attracted attention?" "Oh, yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "I know some people who have offices near him. He composes on a typewriter, and it is one of the noisiest machines ever constructed. Anything he writes attracts the attention of the entire building."-Washington Star.

Everybody who loves to watch the heavenly bodies has frequently noticed, when the crescent of the new moon appears in the west, the phenomenon called "the old moon in the young one's arms." Partly embraced by the horns of the crescent is seen the whole round orb of the moon, glimmering with a pale, ashy light. the earth light upon that part of the moon not reached by the sunshine is sufficiently brilliant to render it faintly visible to our eyes.
