L. H.

RESERVES DRILL FOR NEXT WEEK'S CRUISE

Members of the Naval Reserves of this city will meet this evening for the last regular drill before going for their annual cruise on the U. S. S. Dorothea on Lake Michigan, and Lieut. Tubbs is anxious to see all the members out. The boys have been working hard and life on shipboard has been gone over theoretically in all its details during the past few weeks. The command will leave for Chicago at midnight Saturday over the Rock Island road and it is expected that there will be 70 men in line. Eight days will be spent away from home and the local officers have assurance that the men will be much more comfortable than they were last year and that they will get their pay.

Under the new rules the local commanders will not have the power to give leave of absence from the annual cruise and all members of the local command will be expected to go. In fact, Lieut. Tubbs says it will be necessary for him to have a squad of men left behind to look up any of those who do not report in time to leave with the division.

JOSEPH MAXWELL DEAD AFTER A SHORT ILLNESS

Joseph A. Maxwell died at 6 o'clock this morning at his home, First avenue and Seventh street, of hemorrhages of the lungs after a brief illness. He was aged 56 years, a native of Rock Island and a veteran of the civil war, serving with distinction as a member of the 47th Illinois infantry. In later years Mr. Maxwell had followed the carpenter trade. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Maxwell, pioneers of the county, and who now reside at Port Byron. Mr. Maxwell had an extenisve acquaintance over the county, where the news of his death will be received with sorrow. He is survived by his wife, who is now ill and unable to leave her bed, and three children, Mrs. Bertha Tuttle and Harry and Roy Maxwell. The remains were shipped today to Port Byron, where the funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock under the auspices of Shiloh command, Union Veterans' Union, of which decedent was a member.

HAS A NEW TEXT BOOK ON BUSINESS

H. E. Brown Associated in Authorship of Work of Merit.

Principal H. E. Brown, of the local high school, is associated with William P. Teller, head credit man for the Puritan Manufacturing company, of Kalamazoo, Mich., in the preparation of a new text-book for grammar and first year high school students entitled "A First Book in Business Methods." The first copy from the press has been sent to Mr. Brown.

It is printed by Rand, McNally & Co., and is very neat in appearance. The color work, in which business forms are reproduced, is very fine. The book is as simple as it is possible to make it, and it is the belief of the authors and publishers that it will have a field of its own and will be a financial success. Mr. Brown has been engaged on his part of the volume for the past two years.

In Social Circles

A meeting of the Emanon club of this city was held at Mount Lookout, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Warren, last evening, and officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President—Miss Fay Warren.
Secretary—Miss Stella Melchior.
Treasurer—C. Call.

The appointment of the committee for the dancing parties next year was deferred until the next meeting.

The annual meeting of the B. D. B. fraternity was held last evening at the home of Harry Lambert on Second avenue, and a great deal of business was transacted. The new officers elected are:

President—H. A. Nutting.
Vice President—Roy Barnhart.
Secretary—Frank Weiss.
Treasurer—William Hagedorn.

Arrangements were made for a banquet to be held at the Watch Tower early the present month.

OBITUARY RECORD.

William Surr, aged 78, of Edgington, died at 9 o'clock last night at St. Anthony's hospital, where he had been a patient the past month. His death was due to a general decline, he having been for years an invalid. The funeral will be held tomorrow from McConnell's chapel, in Bowling.

LAURA KEENE'S DREAM.

A Vision In Slumber That Was Turned Into a Reality.

Stuart Robson used to tell a strange story of Laura Keene, with whom he played in the sixties in the last century. "The sight of a bottle of red ink was enough to upset her for a week," he said. "On one occasion we were playing a farce called 'The Lady and the Devil.' An important scene of it was when she was sitting at a table preparatory to writing a letter. I, as her servant, stood at the back of a chair. 'Take your right hand off that chair,' she whispered. The stage dialogue proceeded. 'You are sure you can find Don Rafael at his lodgings?' 'Yes, madam; his servant tells me his wounds will confine him to his bed for a week.' 'Is this the only paper that we have? Where is the ink?' 'Here, madam.' And I bent forward to place the ink within her reach, when, in my confusion at her reproof, the vessel was upset and its contents trickled on to the lap of her satin dress. The ink was blood red. I shall never forget the ghastly look that overspread her face, and I was so frightened that I never knew how the scene ended.

"The next morning at rehearsal she told me I was doomed to ill luck for the remainder of my days. She called the company together and gave them a detailed description of the 'awful scene' the night before occasioned by the young man who would never make an actor. She told of a terrible dream she had had in which some great person had been foully murdered before her eyes; how she had attempted rescue without avail; how he had fallen dead at her feet, and how his blood slowly oozed into her lap. It was two years after this that Miss Keene was playing at Ford's theater, Washington, on the occasion when Abraham Lincoln was shot. Miss Keene was the only person who seemed to realize the situation. She ran to the box, and in a moment the head of the dying man was in her lap, while the scene of her dream was being pitifully enacted."—Argonaut.

Solemn Warning.

Uncle Archie—Have you formed an opinion as to the cause of Colonel Hixon's suicide?

Tom—Yes, sir—remorse. His nephew needed money, and the wealthy uncle failed to advance it. The result was that the unhappy young man ran away and was never heard of afterward.—Kansas City Journal.

A Voracious Monster.

The most voracious of all marine beasts of prey is the orca or killer whale. It reaches a length of twenty-five feet, and its jaws bristle with teeth from four to six inches long and as sharp as a dirk knife. Its digestive power is proportioned to the tremendous efficacy of its jaws. It seems also to be an atrocious glutton, as one specimen examined contained in its stomach thirteen porpoises and fourteen seals.

His Reason.

"What reason have you for thinking that the defendant was intoxicated?"

"Well, your honor, when his wife called me over I found him in the cellar cutting kindling wood with the lawn mower."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The architect cannot live by the injunction to make no plans for the future.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Swearing is seldom a convincing argument except to the man who does it.
