MAYORS TO SPEAK

Executives of the Tri-Cities Invited to Deliver Main Addresses at the Labor Day Celebration.

LINE OF MARCH DECIDED UPON

Prizes to Unions Making Finest Appearance and Having Greatest Number of Men in Line.

Mayor William McConochie, of Rock Island; Mayor Charles P. Skinner, of Moline, and Mayor Harry Phillips, of Davenport, have been invited to deliver the main addresses at the annual celebration of Labor day by the union organizations of the tri-cities at Grand Isle on Sept. 5. The celebration this year is under the auspices of the Rock Island Industrial Home association, the central labor bodies of the tri-cities alternating each year in performing the functions of host.

The Industrial Home association held another meeting last evening to proceed with the plans. The line of march was determined on. It will be as follows: Form on Third avenue, east of Twentieth street, move north on Twentieth to Second avenue, west to Tenth street, south to Fourth avenue, east to Twenty-third street, south to Fifth avenue, east to Twenty-fourth street, north to Fourth avenue, west to Seventeenth street, north to Market square, where the procession will break and the marchers board boats for Grand Isle, where the remainder of the exercises will take place.

Mr. Cavanaugh Marshall, J. W. Cavanaugh was elected marshal of the day, with power to appoint his aides. L. L. Cool, president of the association, was elected president of the day. He will be master of ceremonies at the island. There will be two prizes awarded, one of $10 to the union making the finest appearance in the parade, and a gold mounted gavel to the union turning out the greatest number of men in the line.

Delegations From Outside Towns. Labor unions at Kewanee and other surrounding towns have expressed a desire to join in the tri-city celebration, and large outside delegations are looked for if satisfactory rates will be granted by the railroads. The business people of the tri-cities are manifesting considerable interest, and an unusually large number of floats will be in the procession, it is expected.

STAPP-ANDREWS WEDDING

Well known South Rock Island Young Folks Marry.

Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Andrews, in South Rock Island, occurred the marriage of Ludwig Stapp and Miss Minnie Andrews. Otto Stapp and Miss Amanda Andrews attended the couple as bridesmaid and groomsmen. The rites were said by Rev. C. A. Mennicke, pastor of the German Lutheran church of this city. Following the ceremony there was a reception and wedding dinner. The groom has succeeded to the floral business of his father, John Stapp, carried on for so many years on Twelfth street. The couple left yesterday to spend their honeymoon in St. Louis. On their return they will take up residence at the Stapp home, on Twelfth street in South Rock Island.

The marriage of Charles J. Itner and Miss Lena E. Koehler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Koehler, was celebrated at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the groom, who has prepared for his bride at Eleventh street and Twelfth avenue, Rev. E. E. Klempke, pastor of the German Evangelical church, performing the ceremony in the presence of a company of relatives. The attendants were Miss Lucy Itner and Charles Koehler. The couple stood under an arch of smilax, ferns and bridal roses during the service. The bride's gown was of white silk. Mr. Itner is employed as engineer at the power station of the Tri-City Railway company on First avenue. He and his bride will have the best wishes of a large circle of admiring friends in their new estate.

IS WITH ANOTHER'S WIFE

Rock Island Husband Tracks Couple to Rockford Hotel.

The Rockford Republic prints the following story: Mr. and Mrs. Blank, Rock Island. That's the way they registered at the Hotel Nelson Saturday night. There was no reason for any one believing that they were writing a lie, for they looked respectable enough and their coming certainly excited no more than the usual interest.

But yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Blank's real husband came up from Rock Island and secured a pass key to the rooms of the hotel, well, there was a little more than the usual interest then.

Mr. Wronged Husband was not one of the fuming, blood-and-thunder kind, however, for he simply went to the room, opened it with his pass key, and confronted the guilty couple. There was a little red fire, not much, and then the erring wife packed up her belongings and left the hotel with her husband, presumably to their home in Rock Island.

The man who brought the woman here paid the bill and departed alone and the incident closed then and there as far as Rockford is concerned.

To be sure, some of the hangers on at the hotel would like to have seen a little gum play, or even a good, sound thrashing, but that might have left some blood spots or something like that, and the hotel management was glad to see it end as peacefully as it did. The names of the parties are not given.

PERSONAL POINTS.

RIVER RIPLETS.

Reports from up the river tell of the actions of a mysterious individual who has been seen at various points swimming southward. It is said that the man is on his way to the world's fair and has chosen this unique way of getting there. The swimmer wears a hat to protect him from the sun's rays, and swims long distances at a time. A boat follows him, in which friends watch his movements, and are ready to pick him up in case he becomes exhausted.

Jack McCaffrey who went from Keokuk to the world's fair on a log has made a landing on the edge of the great city. The Globe-Democrat tells about him: Jack McCaffrey, who landed in North St. Louis Sunday night after floating down the river from Keokuk on a log, will remain in St. Louis a week to see the fair and the city. He expected to land yesterday morning at the foot of Pine street, thus giving to St. Louis people an opportunity of watching him navigate his strange craft. But he decided that his trip of 202 miles was long enough and anchored for the week just below Merchants' bridge. McCaffrey left Keokuk on his trip, Sunday morning, July 21. He traveled only in the day time, and met with several delays, which accounts for his reaching St. Louis one day behind his scheduled time. He has made several short trips of this kind before, but never one of such length. He is an old logger, having been in the employ of the Tabor Lumber company of Keokuk for many years and engaged in piloting rafts of logs down the Mississippi.

The Emily, Winona and Helen Blair were in port today. The H. A. Isaac Staples and George S. went north. The stage of water was 2.70 all day.

RIVER FORECAST.

Hearing Paying Benefits.

Judge E. E. Parmenter in the county court today is hearing testimony on the benefits in the proposed paying improvement on Fourteenth avenue, to which objections have been filed by a number of the owners of the assessed property, the jury having been dispensed with. When the court has passed on the question of benefits it is the intention of the objectors to carry the proceedings to the supreme court, attacking the legality of the ordinance ordering the improvement passed by the city council.

TO BANQUET HERE

In Case One Is Acceptable to the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress on Its Trip.

ARE PERFECTING THE PLANS

Conference of Representatives of Tri-Cities Held Last Evening at The Harper House.

The tri-cities would like to banquet the congressional rivers and harbors committee during its visit the latter part of the month as a feature of the program of entertainment that it is planned to have, but nothing definite can be undertaken in this direction until an answer has been received from the party whether public dinners are to be accepted during the junket down the river from St. Paul to the world's fair city.

The general committee that has assumed direction of the arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the congressional party met again at the Harper house last evening, perfecting an organization by the election of Capt. Lon Bryson, of Davenport, as chairman; B. F. Knox, of Rock Island, secretary, and J. F. Lardner of Davenport, treasurer. The portion of the expense of the trip assessed to this locality is $150. The engineer corps has tendered the steamer MacKenzie, but this will not accommodate the entire party, and an additional boat will have to be chartered. There will be about 40 in the party.

Arrive Here Evening of the 30th.

As stated heretofore, so far as understood now, the congressmen cannot be induced to remain longer than one day at this point. They will not travel at night. They will arrive here the evening of Aug. 30, probably, and tie up. The following day will be occupied in an inspection of the river and the Hennepin canal, and a visit to Rock Island arsenal and such other points of interest as time will permit. The steamers will not leave until the morning of the following day, and for this reason it is hoped the congressmen will consent to becoming guests at a banquet in the evening following their inspection trip here. In the event there is a banquet it will be held at the Harper house in this city.

Capt. Bryson, Mr. Knox and W. A. Meese, of Moline, the members of the Upper Mississippi River improvement association's executive board from their respective cities, were appointed a committee to arrange the itinerary of the party during the stay here. These gentlemen were also delegated to act as a reception committee on the arrival of the congressmen, and were authorized also to invite the governors and senators of Illinois and Iowa, and members of congress in the two states named, whose districts are adjacent to this territory to come and meet the rivers and harbors committee and become the guests of the tri-cities.

Entertainment Committee Named.

As an entertainment committee the following were selected: Mayor William McConochie, T. J. Medill, W. H. Dart, Rock Island; Mayor C. P. Skinner; M. J. McEniry, E. E. Morgan, Moline; Mayor H. W. Phillips, A. L. Mossman, M. J. Eagal, Davenport. Mayor McConochie was chosen chairman and Mr. Morgan secretary of the committee. This committee will have charge of the banquet, if one is to be had, and other entertainment plans. The general committee will hold another meeting at the Harper next Tuesday evening.

A SALOONKEEPER IS FINED

Ollie Holzhammer Pleads Guilty to Keeping Open Tipping House.

Ollie Holzhammer, proprietor of a saloon on Ninth street, yesterday afternoon pleaded guilty in the county court to three counts in an information filed against him by the state's attorney charging him with keeping an open tipping house on Sunday. He was fined $20 on each count. There was a fight near Holzhammer's saloon before a crowd of showmen the night before the Barnum & Bailey circus.

The hearing of John St. Clair, cited for failure to obey the order of the county court to pay his wife $2.50 weekly, was continued yesterday afternoon until Sept. 1. St. Clair explained that he had been out of work and consequently was not able to make the promised payments to his wife. He was released on his own recognizance.
