WILL COME MAY 2

Dr. William Biederwolf Opens
Central Meeting Wednesday Evening.

DISTRICT MEETINGS TO END

Last One Will Probably Be Held Monday Evening—Evangelists Go to Moline.

Dr. William Biederwolf, who is now conducting the central revival meetings in Davenport, and who next week comes to this city to take up the central work here, following the district evangelistic meetings now being held, will not commence his work here Sunday, as was planned, but will hold the first meeting at the rink on Sixteenth street next Wednesday evening. The present district revival meetings will be continued throughout Monday evening, and on Tuesday evening the evangelists, Rev. C. T. Wheeler, Rev. Tilman Hobson, and Rev. D. S. Toy may suit their own pleasures, whether the meetings are held or not. It is possible that the evangelists will take advantage of Tuesday to prepare for the work in Moline, which they will take up Wednesday evening, to continue for two weeks.

Salvation.
Rev. D. S. Toy, who is in charge of the western district meetings, spoke last evening at the Memorial Christian church on the subject, "Salvation." Dr. Toy's text was, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation?" "That the salvation is great is proved by its cost. It cost the life of Christ, God's only Son," he said. Dr. Toy showed that the offered salvation is great because it saves great sinners. "Too often the great sinner gets the idea that because he has gone so deep in vice he can not be saved, but this is wrong; salvation has been purchased for every one who cares to accept it," said Dr. Toy.

Look and Live.
An audience that filled the entire church heard Dr. C. T. Wheeler last evening at the Spencer Memorial church, in the eastern district. Dr. Wheeler spoke of Christianity as the only cure for sin, taking as his text the story of the brazen serpent raised in the wilderness by Moses as a cure for the sting of the deadly serpent. He recalled the command then, "Look and ye shall live," and said that now it is "Believe and you shall live." Bringing the question home to his hearers, he said, "He that believes, lives; do you believe?" Dr. Wheeler deprecated the reply, "I shall try," as an evidence of unbelief, and cautioned that if we doubt, death must be the result.

Jonah in Rock Island.
Rev. Tilman Hobson, at the First M. E. church, spoke to an audience composed largely of church members, and suited his sermon accordingly. He took "Jonah" as his subject, and briefly pictured the story of Jonah and his fear to obey the commands of the Lord, and the punishment that was meted out to him when he failed to go as ordered to Nineveh. "There are too many thousands of brothers and sisters of Jonah in the United States, and I fear some of them reside in Rock Island," said the speaker. He urged that the church member, being, or at least professing to be a Christian, has a message that should be delivered, and should heed the command, lest just punishment be meted out to him for his failure.

AMUSEMENTS.

BOOKINGS AT ILLINOIS.
April 28—"Hooligan's Troubles."
April 29—"A Texas Ranger."

Audience Shows Enthusiasm.—Soldom has there been such a demonstrative audience at the Illinois as that which greeted Paul Gilmore in "Captain Debonnaire" last evening. The applause was frequent and at the end of the third act the star was recalled so often that he finally came before the curtain and made a pleasing speech. Mr. Gilmore attains instant favor in his new role, to which he is naturally adapted. He reaches a climax in the sword fight in the third act, facing half a dozen swordsmen at the same time, and by his nerve and ability vanquishing his adversaries. The scene is wonderfully realistic. Miss Marie Pettes is a charming little actress. Her efforts last night met with the unstinted approbation. The support throughout is exceptionally good and "Captain Debonnaire" will long be remembered as one of the best productions that ever graced the boards at the Illinois theater.

"Hooligan's Troubles."—As laughter is the only true tonic of the soul to drive away care, theatre goers who wish to banish the blues must see "Hooligan's Troubles." His troubles will dispel the melancholy temperament of a hardened dyspeptic, and the pretty girls, comedians, singers, dancers and others in the supporting company guarantee to abolish care from the minds of all the play's beholders. This musical farce will be presented at the Illinois theater tomorrow, matinee and night.

"A Texas Ranger."—Into the rude, elemental life of this man, "A Texas Ranger," who never bullied or lied, enters a pretty little Vermont school teacher, descendant of the memorable

Yorkshire Clothes of Merit

The Highest Form of Development In Modern Clothes Making

We have heretofore advisedly asserted that Yorkshire clothes were on a par with the best efforts of the very highest priced merchant tailor. Those however who are familiar with the merits of Yorkshire, claim they are actually superior. This is due to the fact that Yorkshire is designed by skilled eastern artists and built by master craftsmen who infuse into their work a style individuality and finish beyond the comprehension of the local tailor. They are made in every conceivable proportion, making individual measurement unnecessary. Smart dressers who had long endured tailors prices and the many mishaps incident to tailor made clothes are rapidly becoming Yorkshire enthusiasts.

New arrivals in Grays and Blues

We call attention to the arrival of new effects in gray and blue to reinforce lines necessarily reduced by the heavy selling of the past few weeks. There will be displayed Saturday many exclusive and tasty designs not shown at the beginning of the season. The most prominent feature of these garments is the perfect shoulder and snug fitting collar. Coats are cut long with middle or side vents and permanent creased seams, wide collars and lapel and square shoulders with concave effect. Trousers are cut broad and full over the hips. The half peg is a popular as well as conservative style.

WE WANT TO SELL YOU

That New Suit, Skirt, Waist, Coat, Jacket,
Shirt Waist Suit or Cravenette Coat and Spring Hat

You intend to buy, and are quite sure we can do it if we can prevail upon you to look at our lines. The newspapers are full of extravagant claims of assortments and values, and it must be somewhat puzzling to decide where the best assortments and values are to be found. We state without fear of contradiction that nowhere in the tri-cities can you obtain the Style, Quality, Workmanship and Assortment to select from at our prices. Seeing is believing. We ask you to investigate. Hundreds of women are profiting every day by comparison. Why not you?

Molly Stark and full of the race traditions of her Puritan inheritance. It is the most natural thing in the world for the Texas Ranger to fall in love with this, the first woman of the better class he had ever known. But it is different with Caroline Rober. She resists the attraction exerted over her by her handsome, picturesque lover with his gentle voice and virile power, because of her superior breeding and because she is not quite sure what her ancestor, Molly Stark, would do. It is a battle royal between her heart and her prejudices; but at last she comes to see that, after the manner of other American women, she cannot help loving "a man who is a man," and the cowboy proves her master. This remarkably successful play, as presented by Dubinsky Bros., famous Wallack's Theater company, will be seen at the Illinois next Sunday night, April 29. A matinee will be given at 2:30 p. m.
