SHOT HIS FRIEND

Fred Jackson, Taylor Ridge Station Agent, is Accidentally Killed

BY FRED WILD AT EDGINGTON

Death Follows Midnight Misfortune—Coroner's Jury Places No Blame on Wild for Death.

Fred Jackson, aged 18, station agent of the Rock Island at Taylor Ridge, was accidentally shot and killed by Fred Wild, aged 15, at the home of Amos Brehmer, in Edgington, just after midnight Saturday. Young Jackson, who was spending the night with Wild, a life long friend of Brehmer's home, had exhibited his revolver. While Wild was searching in a dresser drawer for a brush, he found an old revolver, and handed it to Jackson. While Jackson examined the old gun, his own was on the dresser, and Wild picked it up. It was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering his abdomen. Wild did not know that Jackson's revolver was loaded, and does not know how the weapon came to be discharged.

Lives Till Afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Brehmer were aroused by the shots and cries from Wild, and hurried to the upper room where the accident occurred. Dr. Moore of Reynolds, was summoned at once, and remained at the boy's side until he died, at 2:10 yesterday afternoon. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, were summoned from Cable, and reached their dying son's side at 10 in the morning. The boy remained conscious, and several times stated that the shooting was purely accidental, and that Wild was in no way to blame.

Fred Jackson was 18 years of age. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson of Cable, his father being employed in the mine. He learned the work of a telegraph operator under his brother, Henry Jackson, at Taylor Ridge, and when the older Jackson was assigned to another station some months ago, he succeeded him. A young man of fine character, he had made a wide circle of acquaintances, and his unfortunate death is mourned by all who knew him.

Attach No Blame. Coroner L. V. Eckhart was summoned, and yesterday afternoon conducted an inquest at Edgington, the coroner's jury, after hearing the testimony of Fred Wild, Mr. and Mrs. Brehmer, and Thomas Jackson, returning a verdict of death from a revolver wound inflicted accidentally at the hand of Fred Wild. The verdict stated that no blame whatever was attached to Wild. The jury was composed of Thomas Doonan, Lewis Guldenzoph, Frank Bahringer, Albert J. Brown, Thomas Kelleher, and Bert Vanatta.

The remains of the boy were taken to Cable, his home, for burial.

T. J. Blackmore, of Haller & Blackmore, Pittsburg, Pa., says: "A short time since I procured a bottle of Myrtle Cure. It got me out of the house in 24 hours. I took to my bed with rheumatism nine months ago and the Myrtle Cure is the only medicine that did me any good. I had five of the best physicians in the city, but I received very little help from them. ## IN A PACKET WAR

Captain Walter Blair Going After Scalp of Swains on Illinois.

MAY SEND COLUMBIA THERE

Proposes to Retaliate for Invasion by New David Swain at Keokuk.

Peoria Star: And now another steamboat war, involving Peoria boats has been opened up and it is stated among river men that before the season has closed there will be two lines of boats between this city and La Salle, with one of Captain Walter Blair's boats fighting for the trade now held by the Swain Packet company.

For several years the Swains have had practically a monopoly on the river business between here and La Salle. The Fred Swain has been the only boat that has run regularly between those two points and it is said that this business has proven a veritable gold mine. Recently the Swains put a new boat, the "David Swain," into the service between Quincy and Keokuk on the Mississippi with the expectation of capturing a large amount of that business, and this action has so angered the Mississippi river boatmen that they are now preparing to strike back in a similar manner on the Illinois, making Peoria the storm center.

Put Columbia In.

Walter Blair, a well known Mississippi river man, will soon send the Columbia to this port to enter the La Salle trade, cutting rates and running on a similar schedule to that of the Swain boats. On the Mississippi river a similar fight is to be waged and the Silver Crescent has already been put into the Quincy-Keokuk trade, with a fare of 25 cents between these two points. Local river men declare that with the opening of the season next year conditions will be greatly changed here and the prospects are that a veritable fleet of pleasure and packet boats will run out of this port.

The steamers St. Paul and Sidney of the Diamond Jo line were in port this afternoon. The Sidney went north and the St. Paul down on its trip to St. Louis.

Boats down were the Lydia Van Sant, J. W. Van Sant, Mac, Ruth, Prescott, Eclipse, David Tipton, and St. Paul. Those north were the Mac, Ruth, Prescott, Eclipse, James P. Pearson, Lydia Van Sant, and J. W. Van Sant. The Helen Blair left for the south.

The stage of water was 4.70 at 6 a. m. and 4.80 at noon.
