AN INTERNATIONAL PROBLEM.

ing out of Kelter, and so the Job fell to Mordecai E. Quinsy. Mr. Quinsy found that he could give his time to regulating the Washington Game because his wife did sewing and his daughter was an expert stenographer. Between them they kept him supplied with good 5-cent cigars and relieved his mind of all business cares.

He had nothing to worry him except Affairs of State.

When he tackled a large International Problem he could do so with a keen, active brain that had not been fagged out by any cheap exertion, such as trying to locate the Winter's Supply of Coal.

Mr. Quinsy had the solemn Phiz of a professional Fall-Bearer, and much meditation had corrupted the Front of the Dome. Those who merely caught one Flash of him and never looked up his Record and checked off his Pedigree thought he was about due to break into the Senate. To tell the cold and dry Truth, Mordecai could not have been elected Constable, but just the same he knew all about John Hay's next Move, and sometimes he fretted a good deal for Fear that John would make a Miscue.

Mr. Quinsy could sit on a Kit of Mackerel, with a Bunch of Keys, a Barlow Knife, a Plug of good eating Tobacco, and about 35 cents in Currency secreted in his Jeans, and he could tell the Treasury Department just how to manage the next $100,000,000 Issue of Bonds.

One thing that worried Mr. Quinsy a lot was the possibility that Teddy would make some serious Mistake. He felt more or less responsible for Teddy, inasmuch as he had formally nominated him in front of Pilkins's Hardware Store as far back as 1889. If he could have been at Teddy's Elbow all the time to whisper Advice there would have been no Chance for the Administration to get bailed up. But the Trouble was that Mr. Quinsy was out at Pewee Junction and Teddy was up at Washington, and they could not get together to frame up a Policy.

Mr. Quinsy was a man of Regular Habits and very Methodical. He had so much to do every Day that he had to work on a close Schedule.

NUMBER SIX.

Prognosticator, and one of his favorite Stunts was to get up in the Morning and do a little Forecasting for the benefit of his Wife and Daughter.

After Breakfast he put on his Overcoat and wrapped himself up in a Comforter so as not to catch Cold and lose the Use of his Voice. If Mordecai E. Quinsy had lost the use of his Voice this Country would have been in a Bad Way.

Mr. Quinsy knew a Druggist who took a Daily Paper, and so, the first thing every Morning, he went to the Drug Store to find out what Fool Break had been made by Congress. After reading the Paper he sat by the Stove and laid out some Work for the Ways and Means Committee.

After which he went down to the Station to see Number Six go through.

After which he went up to the Post-Office to wait until the Mail had been distributed. One day Mordecai Quinsy received a Seed Catalogue, and after that he was encouraged. While waiting for his Mail Mr. Quinsy said a few plain Words about the Kaiser and stood up for the Monroe Doctrine.

About 11 o'clock every day Mr. Quinsy acted as Referee in a Pool Game, and then went over to the Barber Shop to look at the Illustrated Papers containing the Pictures of Footlight Favorites and Noted Criminals. Mr. Quinsy, being possessed of an Analytical Mind, was deeply interested in all Murder Mysteries, and for every Case he had a few Theories of his own that would have been a great help to the Police.

Just at 12 o'clock Mr. Quinsy went home and ate a hearty Dinner, after which he returned to Main Street smoking a Farm-Hand Regalia and gazing thoughtfully at the Ground, trying to straighten out the Panama Canal Business.

In the Afternoon he hung around the Court-House more or less because he played a good Game of Checkers, and, besides, he liked to be on hand in case the State needed the Services of an unprejudiced Juror.

Mr. Quinsy had a Weak Back, which prevented him from splitting Wood, but he loved some kinds of Work, and the Honest Toil that suited him best was to sit on a Jury in a Case Involving Assault and Battery.

If there was nothing doing at the Court-House, Mr. Quinsy usually went to a Real-Estate Office and grappled with the Trust Problem.

He had a given much Thought to the Matter of legislating against infamous Combines, and he was one of the first to discover that the Trusts were trying to whip-saw the Working Classes. About the time that he had solved the Trust Problem he had to go over and see the Afternoon Train go through and wait for his Mail once more.

Late in the Day he usually dropped in at an Undertaker's Shop where a Veterinary Surgeon and a retired Truck Farmer were collaborating on a Foreign Policy for the State Department. Mr. Quinsy was always able to slip in a few Suggestions. He was dead set against the Anglo-Saxon Alliance, and believed in the Annexation of Canada, even if it involved War.

At 5:30 he would purchase a Pound of Oyster Crackers and have them charged. Then he would go home to Tea, and tell Mrs. Quinsy and Daughter to fix up the Sofa for him as he was suffering from a Headache and wanted to Rest for a little while.

THE REAL CAUSE.

The Ancient Scalp-Fever Theory Exploded.

At one time dandruff was attributed to the result of a feverish condition of the scalp, which threw off the dried cuticle in scales.

Professor Unna, Hamburg, Germany, noted authority on skin diseases, explodes this theory and says that dandruff is a germ disease.

This germ is really responsible for the dandruff and for so many bald heads. It can be cured if it is gone about in the right way. The right way, of course, and the only way, is to kill the germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this, and permits the hair to grow luxuriantly, just as nature intended it should.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Sold in two sizes, 50c and $1.00. T. H. Thomas, special agent.

Remedy for Diarrhoea—Never Known to Fail.

"I want to say a few words for Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy. I have used this preparation in my family for the past five years, and have recommended it to a number of people in York county, and have never known it to fail to effect a cure in any instance. I feel that I cannot say too much for the best remedy of the kind in the world."—S. Jemison, Spring Grove, York county, Pa. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

At this season we should eat sparingly and properly. We should also help the stomach as much as possible by the use of a little Kodol occasionally. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia will rest the stomach by actually digesting the food itself. Sold by all druggists.

SMITHS IN LEAD

Family Dominates American Society, Declares Social Register Locator.

BROWNS COME NEXT ON LIST

No Joneses in Providence, and Oakland's Preferred Know None Who Are Named Jackson.

Society is led throughout the United States, north, south, east and west, by the ancient and honorable family of Smith, as is shown by the Social Register Locator, the first number of which was published the other day.

This volume is a compendium of the names of persons of social prominence in twenty American cities and has been prepared with painstaking care. It consists of an alphabetical arrangement of 84,500 names, together with the cities where the persons reside.

This furnishes a clew to many sources of information concerning those whose names are of interest to society in the principal cities of the United States.

Of the Smiths there are found to be 556 all told, while the Browns, who number 346, come next in preference. The Joneses number 262, while the Robinsons have 173 on the roll of the select elect, to quote Miss Carolyn Wells. The numerically predominant names in New York are as follows:

Smith, 163; Brown, 137; White, 86; Morgan, 84; Clark, 81; Robinson, 81; Taylor, 80, and Miller, 86. Boston has only 5 Smiths and 16 Browns, but the Hub has 22 Williamses, 44 Peabodys and 44 Coolidges.

New York has the most Smiths and 40 per cent of the Browns, while Baltimore is a close second in the possession of the clan of Brown. The Smiths predominate in Philadelphia, with a battalion of 123, although the Biddle family, which is so much a part of the City of Brotherly Love, has 72 members.

The Joneses are to be found everywhere, except in Providence and Oakland. Oakland has no body at all in society named Jackson. Baltimore is entitled to have the most Jenkinases present at any large social function. In Chicago the Walkers follow the Smiths in preference, while in Providence the name Aldrich is the open sesame to society. Pittsburgh has the most Laughlins. The Smiths are at the fore in St. Louis and St. Paul, and in Minneapolis the question of prestige is a tie among the Washburns, Winstons and Woodworths.

Facts are interesting. Summaries of the names which recur in the various cities reveal some interesting facts culled from this American Almanach de Gotha. There are 149 of the family of Adams in 15 cities, while the 94 Alexanders are distributed through 17 cities. There are 31 Amorys, and Boston society has them all.

Of the Biddle family, besides the 72 in Philadelphia which have been mentioned, there are 6 in New York and in Washington, but they are really part of the parent stock which flourishes in the city of Penn.

Five cities only have Appletons, of whom there are 21 in Boston, 17 in New York, 2 in Philadelphia, 2 in

YOU WILL BE PRESSED FOR MONEY

Oftener because you have no advertising bills to pay than because you have!

MANY a business man has been surprised to find that his biggest advertising bills were the easiest ones to pay.

This is always true, assuming that they are contracted in buying advertising space in the best newspaper medium in the field. It would, of course, never be true if poor judgment were used in the planning and executing of the advertising campaign.

In the cases of prosperous merchants it always happens that big advertising bills and big bank balances grow, together, out of the same publicity campaigns. Non-prosperous merchants—and half-prosperous ones—may prove the truth of this matter in a practical way, and in their own experiences.

We are accustomed to seeing BIG STORES filled with customers all the time—the direct result of BIG ADVERTISING EXPENDITURES. But we do not so often see the small stores and shops crowded. Two many of them are content to get the "overflow" patronage, the "happened-in" people, the people who go to "the nearest place."

Effective, adequate advertising not only pays for itself—it pays for increased equipment and all that goes with a bigger store and growing store-needs.

ANY "little store" whose advertising expenditures, for newspaper space, are doubled this year will find its sales and profits correspondingly increase. Even a small increase of expenditure, in the right direction, for publicity, will bring a notable quickening of store activity, store profits.
