

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORS

DAVENPORT

Attorney Neal Withdraws Money.—Attorney C. W. Neal, who is now in Des Moines, is reported to have withdrawn $5,000 which he had on deposit at a local bank and to have had it forwarded to Des Moines. It is stated, however, that he has other deposits in this city. The withdrawal of so large a sum, however, will serve to bear out the general belief that Captain Neal is preparing to leave Davenport permanently.

Verdict for Defense.—The case of Charles Graham vs. the Bettendorf Axle company came to an abrupt ending in the district court yesterday. Charged With Bigamy.—Will Johnson, a former Davenport young man, who at one time, in partnership with Joe Stapleton, conducted the Saratoga hotel bar, and at another period was bartender at Doc Welch's well known thirteenth establishment on East Third street, is in serious trouble at Racine, Wis., as the following dispatch from that place will show: "William Johnson was arrested here yesterday afternoon on the charge of adultery, Madge Johnson, his wife, being the complainant. She showed a certificate copy of the records at Davenport substantiating her claim. Johnson denied the marriage by Rev. Mr. July 10 years ago. Johnson abandoned his wife two weeks ago and went to Waukegan, Ill., and was married to Edna Hoessli, an inmate of a local resort. The case was adjourned until Saturday morning, bail being fixed at $250, which Johnson was unable to secure. At the preliminary hearing the first wife begged to have complaint withdrawn, but the state's attorney refused. In case the charge is dismissed here, Johnson may be taken to Illinois and prosecuted for bigamy. Johnson charges his first wife with being a morphine fiend."
