RECRUITS LOOK GOOD TO TIGHE

Pitchers Are Warming Up to Work in Great Shape and Showing True to Form.

CAVET HAS EVERYTHING

But in This Respect He Is Apparently No Better Than the Others. All of Whom Are Promising Men.

To say Manager Jack Tighe is well pleased with the way his recruits are showing up in practice is putting it mildly. He is delighted with some of the men and thoroughly satisfied with the rest. All the seven pitchers who are on the job are rapidly rounding into shape so that they can use their speed and curves without running the risk of hurting their arms, and if the present brand of weather continues every man ought to be at his best before the middle of next month. The attention of the fans who are watching the workouts each afternoon is at once drawn to Pitchers Cavet, Cominger and Wagner, but the others receive their full share of the praise also. Cavet has speed and curves to burn and is able to whistle the ball over the plate in a marvelous manner. The same thing can be said for Cominger who, however, has not let himself out as yet. Wagner handles himself in great style just as though he were a big leaguer. Pickering, Blenner Janicki and Lakoff are all showing true to the form expected, and the race for places on the Island pitching staff is sure to be most interesting.

Big Bill Hits Ball.
Bill Jacobson is attracting more attention these days than any other two men. Big Bill is performing in wonderful fashion every day. During batting practice yesterday he drove the ball over the back fence twice in the course of a few minutes and numerous times it was sent out to the fence on a line. Tighe grins from ear to ear and says "Bill is the real goods, and if he doesn't develop into a big leaguer in short order, I miss my guess." The Island manager has Jacobson playing at first base in practice and he performs so well there that the other recruits feel that position will have to show some wonderful ability to beat him out of the job in case Tighe sees fit to keep him working on first.

Only One Arrives Today.
Infielder C. A. Todd of Billings, Mont., was the only Island recruit to arrive today, although several are expected in this evening. Todd is a first-sacker who played in semi-professional ball last year.

Just what is keeping Grover Engman and Walter Quessier, pitchers, from reporting is a mystery to Manager Tighe. He expected both of them in yesterday and was greatly surprised when they failed to report today. He has not heard from them lately, but he still believes they will show up. Both are valuable men who have excellent chances of making the team if they come.

MINNEAPOLIS IS BOOKED FOR GAMES

Will Be Here April 9 and 10—Rockford Cancels Three Contests With Islanders.

Games have been arranged for April 9 and 10, two dates which have been troubling Manager Tighe and the club officials. The Minneapolis team, which will be on its way home from Des Moines to open up the season, will stop here for the two days and give the Islanders a battle. The local management had been hoping all along that Davenport would finally consent to take the two dates, but it seems that the Davigals do not want to play more than twice with the Islanders during the training season, and they have repeatedly turned down requests for more games.

The games with Rockford for April 13, 14 and 15 have been cancelled by the Rockford management as the result of an order by President Mott of the Wisconsin-Illinois league to the effect that none of the clubs is to have men report for practice before April 14 under penalty of a heavy fine.

VIOLATES GAME LAW; PAYS FINE OF $10

Jerome Jacques, East Moline, Arrested on Complaint of County Warden Gaetjer.

Jerome Jacques, arrested yesterday on an information filed by County Game Warden C. F. Gaetjer, this morning in the court of Justice Howard of East Moline paid a fine of $10 and costs for violating section 3 of the state game laws. Jacques shot and killed two meadowlarks in the vicinity of East Moline yesterday.

Zephyrs From the Diamond

The White Sox split up into two teams and played at Phoenix yesterday, four men being placed on the hospital list as a result of the frolic.

Danville has landed another pitcher. His name is Blake, and he has spent the winter at Los Angeles coaching a high school baseball team.

The Cuban Stars, which will exhibit here, arrived at New Orleans today and will play through the south and then come north, playing minor league clubs along the route.

Nashville again bit the dust before the Chicago Cubs yesterday and by the same score as the day before, 3 to 1. Holme Knuepper and Fred Bridges, our friends of other days, did the twirling for Nashville and held the major leaguers to eight hits.

Catcher McLean, the recalcitrant, will probably be back with Cincinnati this year and at a reduced salary. He is not wanted by any other club and has not been shown special consideration by his own club, so he has about concluded to make the best of it.

Manager Buelow has given out the official list of the players who have been ordered to report for training practice in Dubuque next Monday. The list embraces 24 men and of this number six were members of last year's team. These are Outfielders Backof and Taylor, First Baseman Lerchen and Pitchers Ray, Faber and Ferrius. The rest of the squad are new men, although several of them played in Dubuque in other years. Of the latter are Bower and Reagan, purchased from Aberdeen, Wash. There has been some question about the likelihood of Bower reporting, but it is believed there will be no trouble. The complete list follows: A. C. Backof, outfielder, Dubuque; Frank Ray, pitcher, Dubuque; Edward E. Taylor, outfielder, Dubuque; Zeke Ferrius, pitcher, Dubuque; Dan Miller, pitcher, Dixon, Ill.; V. C. Faber, pitcher, Dubuque; Frank Lerchen, infielder, Dubuque; Joseph J. Bower, infielder, Aberdeen, Wash.; Earl Akers, pitcher, Jacksonville, Ill.; F. M. Glass, pitcher, Jacksonville, Ill.; Steve Reagan, outfielder, Aberdeen, Wash.; William Helstern, left field, Chicago league; Walter Russell, left field, Cleveland; Ray C. Harvey, left field, Guttenberg, Iowa; Charles M. Kremer, pitcher, Galena, Ill.; Nichols J. Mahon, pitcher and Outfielder, Chicago league; William Buckley, Chicago league; Walter S. More, outfielder, Terre Haute and Grand Rapids; Clifford Latimer, catcher, Birmingham, Ala.; Thomas Ronan, infielder, Burlington; R. H. Daringer, infielder, North Vernon, Ind.; C. Palmer, left field, Dubuque; Frank Willis, pitcher, Peoria; Clinton Cooke, pitcher, Ironton, Ohio.

Waterloo is to have its first exhibition game next Sunday afternoon and, in keeping with the spirit of the city, is to be a benefit for Martin Dolan, the leading rooter of the town, who has been ill for a month. Evidently they put a premium on good rooting out that way.

ZBYSZKO EARNS BIG MAT CHANCE

Pole Proves Master of Mah-mout, the Turk, and Will Meet Frank Gotch.

STRAIGHT FALLS GO TO HIM

Plays Waiting Game, Allowing Antagonist to Tire Himself Out Before Starting in.

Chicago, March 30. — Stanislaus Zbyszko of Poland won the privilege of meeting Frank Gotch for the wrestling championship of the world by defeating Yusif Mahmout of Turkey in two straight falls at the Coliseum last night. The first fall was a crotch hold and half nelson in 1:04:51, and the second was a back arm and half nelson in 25:43.

The Turk was the aggressor throughout, Zbyszko playing a waiting game, merely jumping in when he saw a good opening. Probably the Pole was not on top more than a dozen times in one and one-half hours of wrestling.

The date and place of the meeting between Gotch and Zbyszko is to be decided later, nothing but a verbal agreement for the match having been entered into.

Pole Down First.
Both wrestlers went into the ring proclaiming themselves "in the pink of condition," and each looked the part. For the first few minutes the men kept on their feet, feeling their way apparently before trying for a fall. Zbyszko was the first to hit the mat, the Turk lifting one of his opponent's feet and then kicking the other out from under him. Both were up without delay and the Turk again downed the Pole. Then came the steady grind of waiting for an opening.

At the end of a half hour of work, marked by occasional outbursts of temper on the part of both wrestlers, the spectators felt that things were about where they started and settled down for the marathon, which had been predicted. Mahmout was the aggressor for about 25 of the 30 minutes, but could do nothing with the powerful Pole's strength. Zbyszko appeared able to break holds almost at will and spent most of his time in an apparent effort to wear out the mat artist from Turkey.

Toe Hold Fails.
Only once was the toe hold brought into play up to this time, the Turk pulling it, but without effect. After 40 minutes the fans started yelling at Zbyszko to "go to work and quit stalling," but the Pole was playing his own game.

The lapse of time was the only thing to mark the difference between the 30-minute and one-hour periods. Occasionally Zbyszko would condescend to force matters, but for the greater part the Turk earned the money paid by the fans to look on. The Pole's efforts at the toe hold furnished a comedy for Gotch, as Zbyszko showed by his trials how ignorant he is regarding the famous clutch.

The Pole showed the class of his judgment when he won the first fall from Mahmout by rolling him over with an ordinary wing lock, ending in a crotch hold and half nelson. In 1:04:51. The crowd went wild and the contestants were half carried from the ring, tired out from their efforts.

The second bout went along on the same lines as the first, the Turk doing the heavy work. Several times he failed to get away with anything because of Zbyszko's strength. As on the first fall, the Pole jumped in when the opportunity offered, caught a back bar and half nelson and had two points to the mat when the timers' watch hit 25:43.

HOW PEARLS GROW

Will Be One of the Subjects Studied at the Fairport Clam Hatchery.

SPECIALIST ON THE GROUND

Proposed to not Only Restock Rivers, But to Improve Varieties and Eliminate Disease.

Another important adjunct has been added to the biological station at Fairport. Professor Clark, connected with the fisheries department of Washington, has arrived at Fairport and will take up the study of the growth of the pearl in the fresh water clam. His work will be an investigation of the formation of the pearl and the causes of the growth and other data connected with the gem. His study will be an interesting one and will go far towards perpetuating the clamming industry in the west. At the present time, but little is known about the pearl or the habits of the fresh water clam.

Will Study Diseases.
Another important work will be the study of the spotted shell and the cause and effect of certain conditions on the clam. The spotted shell and the spotted buttons will be a thing of the past if Mr. Clark can solve the problem. It will be his endeavor to try to produce a clean white shell of uniform thickness. Practically speaking his work will be in studying the diseases of the clam—the growth of the pearl, it now being accepted, being a disease.

Work on the experiment station at Fairport is getting along in fine shape. The laboratory is half completed and the pumping station is now under roof. The work on the trenches and clam beds is taking considerable time. Eleven ponds are now being dug. A force of ten or twelve carpenters are busy on the buildings and about a dozen or more are engaged in digging the trenches.
