

JUVENILE BAND FOR EXPOSITION

Organization That Took First Prize at St. Louis World's Fair Engaged.

COMPOSED OF 30 BOYS

Has Extensive Repertoire and in Addition to Musical Numbers Appears in Fancy Drills Daily.

Ewing's Juvenile Zouave band has been secured as the musical feature of the third annual show of the Rock Island Exposition company the week of Sept. 12. This band was awarded first prize at the St. Louis world's fair in 1906 as America's greatest juvenile musical organization. The band, now in its sixth season, is composed of 30 boys, ranging in age from 15 to 20 years.

In connection with the band, and as a distinctly separate attraction, 16 members execute a zouave drill. In this drill are many different maneuvers, including pyramid building, wall-scaling, etc., done in a lightning-like manner, that never fails to make a decided hit.

Appear in Turkish Uniforms.

Much care has been taken in the selection of uniforms. Instead of the cheap-looking, ordinary uniform usually in use, the band is dressed in the bright-colored Turkish costumes that add tone and color to any festive gathering. The band's repertoire is extensive, embracing the works of the great composers as well as the popular airs of the day. During the exposition week a different program will be presented each day. W. M. Ewing, director of the organization, is a musician of 20 years' experience.

During its six years of existence this juvenile band has toured the country from coast to coast, and from the lakes to the gulf, besides filling several engagements in Canada. Recognizing its excellent drawing qualities, the band was engaged for the entire season of 1908 by the 101 Ranch Wild West show, since which time Mr. Ewing has had numerous similar offers.

OLD PALS MEET; $2 TOUCH; JAIL

Mike Lundberg Fails to Remember Owning Ed Leaf Borrowed Money.

BOTH ARE FROM GENESEO

Spencer Square Fight Is Brewing When Police Interfere—Aggressor Gets 30 Days.

A pair of citizens from Geneseo met in this city last evening and the meeting was not altogether a pleasant one as it threatened to end up in a fist fight. It finally resulted in the belligerents being hauled to the police station. It was learned this morning at their trial before Acting Police Magistrate J. H. Cleland that Ed Leaf, apparently the aggressor, got the idea into his head that Mike Lundberg, the other Geneseoan, owed him $2. Ed has been hanging around the saloons in the vicinity of Spencer square for several days past and the pace that he was going required more money than he had on his person, so he attempted to retrench himself at the expense of his Geneseo friend. He accosted Lundberg and a friend of the latter as they were passing through Spencer square and admonished the former to fork over two plunks. Lundberg denied the existence of any debt, whereupon Leaf said that he was going to get the money or take it out of Lundberg's hide. The latter felt equal to the task before him and invited Leaf to sail in. When it began to look as though the scrap was an assured thing Lundberg's friend took a hand in the game.

Friend Offers to Pay.

He asked Leaf if a dollar wouldn't settle the bill and Leaf at once replied that he would wipe out the account for that amount. Accordingly the friend paid it, despite the protests on the part of Lundberg, and it seemed that the matter was settled, but at this juncture the police arrived on the scene and the whole party was arrested. As a result of the trial this morning Leaf has accepted an invitation to spend the next 30 days with the sheriff at the county jail. Lundberg and his friend were released, as there was no charge against them.

Secretary and Treasurer of Independent Alliance Visits City.

J. B. Ware of Chicago, secretary and treasurer of the Independent Telephone Alliance, was in the city a few hours last evening to make inquiries concerning the condition of the plant of the Union Electric Telephone company, which is seeking permission, because of its financial failure, to sell to the Central Union. Mr. Ware stated that the alliance was not in the business of buying telephone properties. Its chief mission was to encourage the independents. He said he might look further into the telephone situation here.

SHAM BATTLE FINAL FEATURE

Reds, Under General Foster, Attack, While Blues Defend Peoria.

PUT IN NIGHT ON MARCH

Camp Deneen to Be Broken Early in Morning and Militiamen Will Leave for Homes.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 26.—(Special)—Last night began the climax to the week's camp of the Illinois National Guard here, when the army of the "red," in which Company A of Rock Island "fought," invested the city of Peoria, defended by the army of "blue."

The army of "red" crossed the Illinois river 10 miles above the city on pontoon bridges, they have driven in outposts of the army of "blue," which defended Peoria, covering the approach of the remainder of their troops across this pontoon with machine guns and field artillery, and attacked Peoria Heights, the commanding point over the city of Peoria at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Divide at River.

The Illinois river was the dividing line between two hostile states, and up from the south all last night swarmed reinforcements for the "blue" garrison in this city and the defending force was slowly but surely driven back upon the Heights for refuge.

The reinforcements were in command of General Frank P. Wells and formed the second brigade, including the 8th and 4th regiments of infantry, two squadrons of the 1st cavalry, a detachment of the signal corps and a battery of automobile machine guns.

The hosts of the enemy which held the pontoon and prepared for a sweeping attack this morning were in command of General Jack Foster, commanding the 1st and 3rd brigades, one squadron of the 1st cavalry and a detachment of the signal corps. This "red" attacking army was in position by 8 o'clock, the reinforcements from the south about the same hour, and the two armies met in a general engagement lasting from 10 o'clock until noon.

Fight Over Rough Ground.

As the attacking forces of the "red" invaders swept over the spurs of the bluff beyond the Country club, coming down the valley. On account of the rugged condition of this country the firing was furious and long continued.

When these two lines of battle reached a point within 100 yards of each, a signal gun was fired and every bugler gave the signal to "cease firing."

These maneuvers were figured out by Lieutenant Colonel Romayne, who is a retired captain in the United States army. He acted as umpire-in-chief, while Captain H. J. Price, 2nd United States Infantry, regulars, officiated as senior umpire for the "blue" army, and Captain John McPalmer, 15th United States Infantry, regular, as senior umpire for the "red."

Break Camp Tomorrow.

Tomorrow morning before sunrise the camp will be astir getting ready for the exodus from the city and by the middle of the forenoon of the thousands of militiamen but a few will be left to load the baggage for shipment. Two of the regiments will be marched to the city to board the trains there, to avoid confusion. An early start will be necessary, for most of the trains, of which there will be nearly a score, will leave between 7 and 9 a.m.

General Dickson stated today that the cost of the camp was in the neighborhood of $200,000 and that he believed it had been money well spent.

Governor Deneen and family left today for Springfield, going overland in their own touring car at the conclusion of the sham battle.

Governor Reviews Troops.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Governor Deneen reviewed the entire first division of the national guard. The governor was greeted with cheers from the thousands of visitors who had assembled to witness the spectacular maneuvers, in which over 7,000 soldiers took part.
