

THE ARGUS.

Published Daily and Weekly at 1624 Second avenue, Rock Island, Ill. Entered at the postoffice as second-class matter.

BY THE J. W. POTTER CO.

TERMS—Daily, 10 cents per week. Weekly, $1 per year in advance.

All communications of argumentative character, political or religious, must have real name attached for publication. No such articles will be printed over fictitious signatures.

Correspondence solicited from every township in Rock Island county.

Thursday, November 17, 1910.

Don't get down-hearted. Indian summer will return again.

Evidently Mr. Gompers and socialism don't get along together.

The tumble in prices came just as Santa Claus is preparing to come back.

Some people are all ready doing their Christmas shopping. Wise people these.

New York has answered the question: "What shall we do with our ex-presidents?"

Count Tolstoy has been a brilliant old man, but he is acting like a blamed old fool. It is pitiful.

The Cook county state's attorney no longer conceals the fact that he wants to be governor. That would surely be a high wayman.

The Muscatine Journal is about to celebrate its 70th anniversary. The Journal is not only one of the pioneers of this section but of Iowa newspaperdom.

There is one man of fame in the world of sport who has never been obliged to attempt to come back, because he always stays ahead. That man is Michael H. Sexton of Rock Island.

For the first time since the organization of the republican party Bureau county is to be represented in congress by a man nominated and elected as a democrat. In 1879 a man named Stevens had been nominated by some insurgent republicans and the democrats recommended him to their party and he defeated E. C. Fingersoll. Now, however, the county is in the district to be represented by Mr. Stone, the newly elected successor to Congressman Graft.

Andrew J. Graham, whose candidacy for the democratic nomination for mayor is said to have been advanced as a result of the meeting of the party's local leaders at French Lick, Ind., is commonly believed to be Roger G. Sullivan's candidate for the place. He is a banker and has been known as a prominent democrat for many years, though never an office holder except as a trustee of the West Park system several years ago. Mr. Graham was born in Chicago in 1861. He began his business career as a boy in a furniture store.

San Francisco voters have taken a step in line with the general principles incorporated in the commission form of government that Rock Island will have a chance to adopt by removing the name of parties from the ballots in city elections. If any candidate receives a majority of the votes cast at the primary election he is seated forthwith. Otherwise the two highest candidates are put on the ballot for the regular election, insuring a majority of all votes cast for one or the other. This effectively knocks out the city political machine, which is responsible for most of the existing corruption.

Significant.

The official election returns are not all in, but semi-official figures relative to the socialist vote cast at the recent election are significant. The socialist vote showed large gains all over the country, except in the lower middle west. Here is the vote as reported:

	1910.	1908.
California	60,000	28,144
Connecticut	12,000	5,133
Illinois	32,000	34,711
Indiana	20,000	13,476
Kansas	20,000	11,529
Kentucky	4,500	4,937
Michigan	10,000	11,586
Minnesota	15,000	10,000
Nevada	2,000	1,900
New York	65,000	33,994
Ohio	50,000	33,753
Oklahoma	20,000	21,059
South Dakota	2,500	2,846
Tennessee	2,200	1,878
Utah	7,000	4,327
Washington	4,000	4,706
Wisconsin	60,000	28,141

Total ..... 396,200 251,257

In two years the socialists in those states named gained 144,943, or about 60 per cent in the whole country. At that rate of increase the socialist vote will soon loom up in such form that greater cognizance must be taken of it.

The spread of socialism is due primarily to the drifting of government away from the people and its falling into the hands of monopoly and privilege. Under such conditions the subtle theories of socialism find ready response among those who bear the brunt of government by greed. Socialism we consider the opposite extreme to monopoly, and the safest and surest way to meet the issue is to apply to government the principles of democcracy, to curb avarice and greed and give equal consideration to the consumer that is given the producer. There must be more consideration of public rights and less yielding to private monopoly.

Democrats rejoice in their recent victory because it means victory for principle. The organization of a democratic national house will be the first step toward a square deal for the consumer and producer alike.

Then should follow the election of a democratic president in 1912 and victory for the principle of equal rights for all and special privileges for none.

Knows He Is in Luck.

Chauncey M. Depew expresses himself as well pleased with the situation—of course in so far only as it affects him personally. He is properly imbued with sorrow for the trouble his party has fallen into, but as for himself he is happy almost to the point of elation.

He can well congratulate himself. As he says, he is 77 years old and has been in active political life for 54 years, and most of that time he has held office or been the power behind the throne. Now he is allowed to retire with his face saved, for the record will show that he goes out of power only because his party lost in his state. The children and the grandchildren can tell that Chauncey held on well at the front as long as there was anything to hold.

Two years ago he was booked to make a much more disastrous ending. It was then in the cards for Chauncey's party to win in New York and to pass him by, thereby retiring him to private life and calling on some other man to take his place. That doubtless made Chauncey feel bad, for there was much snub about that style of program.

Lately they patched up a new program among the patriotic in New York, and in this Chauncey was to be saved. For some reason best understood by the manager of the universe, the colonel, Chauncey was picked to be United States senator for another term, or so much of it as he might be able to survive. Chauncey was in great luck to fare that well in arrangements made at a late day, for it was more than was coming to him.

Now it is taken away from his party in New York to make him or anybody else senator just at this time; but Chauncey can have the satisfaction of feeling and telling the family that he made good with the patriotic powers that be clear to the end of the piece. This is much more than two years ago he expected to be able to claim.

No wonder he feels happy.

Proposed Conference of Christians.

The response to the Episcopalian proposition for a conference of Christian bodies on matters of faith and order is likely, observes the Congressionalist, to be an appreciative one. Secular papers hail it as a decided step in advance, and the denominational papers which have thus far commented on the proposal indicate a friendliness on the part of the bodies which they represent. There will, we think, be a general disposition to meet the Episcopalian at least halfway to assume that they are both sincere and earnest in their desire for a more united Christendom and to expect that they will proceed vigorously with the realization of a plan for the conference. But if it is to be a success the commission appointed at Cincinnati, continues the Boston paper, will do well to heed the suggestion of the Churchman, which declares in favor of committing the initiation of the conference to a body representative of all the elements that would participate in it. In that case we shall have the participation in a free forum by its invited guests, but a properly constituted, representative gathering similar to the Edinburgh conference, in which each denomination shall feel an equal responsibility for the outcome. Here are the Churchman's exact words on the subject which we heartily endorse:

"It goes without saying that if there is to be a world-wide conference in which the churches of Christendom or any large proportion of them are to take part, they shall all have that part from the beginning to the end. It is for them all to contribute the means, whether of mind or of money, for the conference itself. There can be no equality in the conclusion which is not contained in the premises, and unless provision is made at the very beginning for an absolute basis of equality in conference, there will, in the first place, be no such thing as a universal acceptance of the invitation to confer; and in the second, there can be no rational hope of successful execution of the work for which the conference is called."

Nov. 17 in American History

1813—Philip William Otterbein, founder of the Otterbein Methodistists, died in Baltimore, Nov. 17, 1796.

1894—Robert Charles Winthrop, statesman and a colleague of Webster, died; born 1809.

Not Sorry for Blunder.

"If my friends hadn't blundered in thinking I was a doomed victim of consumption, I might not be alive now," writes D. T. Sanders, of Harrodsburg, Ky., "but for years they saw every attempt to cure a lung-racking cough fail. At last I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. The effect was wonderful. It soon stopped the cough and I am now in better health than I have had for years. This wonderful life-saver is an unrivaled remedy for coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhages, whooping cough or weak lungs. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists."

REBELLION IN URUGUAY IS SERIOUS

LEGISLATIVE PALACE, MONTEVIDEO, URUGUAY

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay.—Troops are being sent into the interior almost daily by the government in the effort to quell the rebellion that threatens to lead to serious civil war. The insurgents already have captured Nico Perez, a town 125 miles north of Montevideo. The trouble originated in a contest between two factions for the presidency. The government's candidate is Jose Battle y Ordonez, and a large number of the inhabitants are opposed to him and support the pretensions of Dr. Bacchini, who recently resigned the post of foreign minister at the request of President William. The four year term of President William comes to an end March 1, 1911.

DR. CLAUDIO WILLIMAN, PRESIDENT OF URUGUAY

ALL STEEL TRAINS

Milwaukee Road Planning to Inaugurate Complete Change First of the Year.

ON FAST PASSENGER RUNS

Southwest Limited, Operating Between Chicago and Kansas City, to Be Equipped.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1911, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company will inaugurate a complete change in its fast passenger train equipment. The Southwest Limited, running from Chicago to Kansas City; the Pioneer Limited, operating between Chicago and St. Paul; and the Overland Limited, between Chicago and San Francisco, will be made up entirely of steel cars. The Milwaukee will be the first road in the west to take this progressive step in railroad ing.

When the Southwest Limited is placed in service residents of the three cities will be given their first opportunity of seeing a solid steel train from baggage coach to sleeping cars. Steel coaches will not be an innovation here, as they are in use in the fast Rock Island trains, but a complete train of steel coaches will be something new. All three trains on the Milwaukee will be equipped simultaneously. Seven coaches are now used to make up the Southwest Limited. Other roads which have adopted all steel coaches in their fast passenger service are the Harriman and Pennsylvania lines.

Complete in appointments. The new steel coaches will be complete in all their appointments. They will be lighted by electricity, a generator in the baggage coach furnishing the electric current. This generator will be operated by steam from the engine. While in operation the generator charges storage batteries in each coach for use in emergency, as when a change of engines is made.

The Milwaukee controls its sleeping and dining cars and the steel ones will be of the latest pattern. The sleeping cars will be constructed with the idea of providing the best of comfort for passengers. Berths will be longer, wider and higher than those in standard Pullman cars.

Decision to change the passenger train equipment has made it necessary to purchase a new type of engine to draw the heavy steel coaches. Several models of the latest Pacific type have already been bought. These engines are larger than the 1600s now in use on the Rock Island. They are capable of hauling the heavy trains over the country at a speed of 65 miles an hour.

Oglesby Is Acting Governor. Springfield, Ill., Nov. 17.—Lieutenant Governor John G. Oglesby is acting governor of Illinois in the absence of Governor Deneen, who is visiting his farms in Montana.

Famous "Pint of Cough Syrup" Recipe

No Better Remedy at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and 1/2 pint of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the faded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequalled remedy for whooping cough.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been initiated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in galactol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this recipe.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The Argus Daily Short Story

A Football Giant—By Arnold Tracy. Copyrighted, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

"I have called," said Captain Ben Tucker of the Parkinton football team to Miss Ethel Storm, "on a matter of a very delicate nature."

"Indeed," said Miss Storm, opening a pair of big brown eyes enlivened by long black lashes.

"Yes, extremely delicate. Indeed, I scarcely know how to begin." There was a pause, during which Captain Tucker was pumping up his courage, or, rather, hunting for a way to state his case that would be least offensive. Finally, with a last ahem, he went on:

"You are aware, I suppose, that in a few days our team meets the Stanwigs in a final try for the season's championship."

"I am."

"You may be also aware that there is one man on whom depends our success or failure."

"Who is this Ajax?"

"Perhaps you have heard of Miles Stanford."

"I am acquainted with him."

"I am pleased that you admit the acquaintance. It is a step forward. Now we shall get on. Mr. Stanford is suffering from a mental malady which renders him unfit for putting forth his best efforts on the gridiron. Though the game is near at hand, I can't get him to practice with any spirit. He gets the signals mixed, doesn't remember anything he is told, and often when he might seize the ball and carry it untried to goal he stands on the field in a day dream. When I shout to him he starts as if suddenly awakened."

"And may I ask," said the girl, opening wide her beautiful eyes, "what all this has to do with me?"

Captain Tucker, having led up to the subject in question, being now face to face with it, was abashed. The girl would not aid him.

"He's dead in love with you, and you are standing him off. Why the dickens can't you give him a sop till after the game? Then I don't care what you do with him."

Miss Storm controlled a desire to laugh. The affair between the petite Miss Storm and the gigantic Mr. Stanford was being watched by the number.

"Come back here!" shouted the captain of the Stanwigs. "Time's called." "Go on!" thundered Tucker.

Stanford proceeded, watched by his captain. Tucker saw him go to the grand stand, and on drawing near it he was beckoned to by Miss Storm.

"Great heavens!" muttered Tucker. "Can it be that she's going to set him up?"

He saw Miss Storm smile on Stanford, whisper something to him, give him her hand and send him away. The big man came running with the lightness of a gazelle on to the field. Tucker passed the word among his team that something had happened, and they lined up with a supreme confidence, every man in condition to do his best.

Strange it is how under certain circumstances what is not known becomes known. It was probably not five minutes between the reception of Stanford's summons and the beginning of the second half, yet it was known everywhere on the oval that a change had come over the conditions pertaining to the game. In the first place, a large number of Miss Storm's friends sitting about her saw Stanford approach her, listen to her whispered words and receive the pressure of her little hand. They saw, too, a sudden gust of joy sweep over his face. Then they followed him with their eyes as he bounded toward the center of the gridiron. The news was disseminated by a hundred voices, which in turn told it to a hundred more, and so on till it was common property that a great advantage had come to the Parkintons. What that advantage was only the inner circle knew. Parkinton rooters yelled themselves hoarse; Stanwigs rooters' voices seemed to have been smothered.

"What is it, Stanford?" Tucker asked just before the ball was put in play. "If this game is won," replied the Hercules, "I'm in paradise; if it is lost I'm in the other place."

"Then it's won, by thunder!"

From the reopening of the game Stanford, who had during the first half attracted attention because of the uselessness of a man who might be infinitely useful, converged the eyes of all present. Scarcely had the game recommenced when he got possession of the ball, and, warding off a tackle on his right with his free arm and launching his ponderous body on another tackle, he got beyond the enemy's line and, like a mountain suddenly equipped with wings, flew to goal.

Again, when two wedges were ramming each other, Stanford by what seemed the effort of a Titan forced his way through the mass before him and with a few contortions ridding himself of the clingers made a side run and another touchdown.

The yell that went up from the rooters of both sides was like a dozen thunderstorms.

And so the game went on. In half an hour the score, which had been 6 to 0 for the Stanwigs, stood 12 to 6 for the Parkintons. Stanford, who considered the game won, permitted his mind to drift upon the blessedness in store for him. One of the enemy, taking advantage of his inattention, passed the ball to another, who passed it to a third, and this man took it to goal.

"Wake up!" yelled the Parkinton rooters.

Stanford did wake up and, since there were but eight minutes left, made the best use of them. As if to atone for her negligence, he swung himself about, his enemies going down before him like pygmies. Finally, when time was called the game stood 14 to 10 in favor of the Parkintons.

Hercules, instead of bearing the world on his shoulders, was borne on the shoulders of the world. Stanford was carried off the field by his comrades amid the confusion of a breaking in on the gridiron by a multitude of spectators.

Captain Tucker considered what could with propriety be done to show Miss Storm the appreciation of himself and his team for having saved the game. He had met with an icy reception on trespassing on her private affairs and had no mind to trespass again. He called a meeting of the team and asked for suggestions. The result of the deliberations was that the same evening Miss Storm received a box inland with mother-of-pearl containing ten pounds of candy. Nothing to mark the donor accompanied it, but Miss Storm knew very well that it was the gift of the winning team.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75 cents. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Folly as It Flies. The little snob on the corner. How many attractions no doubt. The music is mellow, and you're a good fellow. As long as your money holds out. The laughter is loud and obtrusive. As foolish ones settle their score. But when you are busted don't hope to get trusted. It's you on the jump for the door.

You meet with a bunch of companions. Who're out on a bit of a tear. And spend money maybe you need for the baby. And more than you know you can spare. And when in the midst of carousal. You pause to take stock for a bit. The jesting is grating and not elevating. A second class showing in wit.

It pays in the end to be sober. And keep the stuff out of your brain. You find that the boozier is always a loser. Examples are plenty and plain. Confine your libations to water. Just take a big swig at the pump. And nothing is clearer than that you as nearer. Success than some half-pickled chump.

There's nothing so punk in the morning. Or quite so pathetic I know. As when you awaken to find it has taken. Your wages, with nothing to show. Keep out of the toils of the monster. Have some small regard for your name. It's easier hitting the bulls-eye than outling. When once you get caught in the game.

Croup is most prevalent during the dry cold weather of the early winter months. Parents of young children should be prepared for it. All that is needed is a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many mothers are never without it in their homes as it has never disappointed them. Sold by all druggists.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

DON'T laugh at a man because he is ignorant of the simplest details of your business. Maybe he knows his own.

Foresighted ones take their appetites on long daily walks to get it in training for the holidays.

One reason why the world laughs with you is that it was going to laugh anyway whether you did or not.

Keep your trouble to yourself and let your joys out on long time loans if you would be popular.

Some men may never have dared be as funny as they could, but others never were as funny as they thought they were.

It is usually easy to believe the most disagreeable things about one whom we dislike.

When the people marry for a joke they don't have any difficulty in deciding which the joke is on.

Riches are a curse, we are told, but were they suddenly thrust upon us we would try to be reconciled to our doom.

They Have Their Way.

"I am going to shift bosses the first of the month."

"Getting a new stenographer?"

Need of Haste. "Haven't you changed the labels on these egg baskets by mistake?" asked the inquisitive clerk of the intelligent grocer. "The ones marked 'strictly fresh' have been in longer than the others."

"Don't worry," said the grocer: "the others will keep."

Smart Thing.

"Ethel."

"Yes."

"What do you do when you meet a fresh young man?"

"A real fresh young man?"

"Yes."

"I put him in a pickle right away."

Getting It by Proxy.

"He must be a great traveler."

"He has never been ten miles from home."

"But he seems to know the whole world."

"He never misses a moving picture show."

Without the Attachments.

"I have just been in the football game."

"Any one killed?"

"No."

"Must have been fully as exciting as a game of checkers."

Some Harmony.

"I had a load of wood stolen from my lot last night."

"Musical thieves, evidently."

"How do you make that out?"

"Isn't it the lost cord?"

Good Reason.

"You say mamma spanked you?"

"Uh-huh."

"Why did she spank you?"

"'Cause she didn't know what else to do with me."

Folly as It Flies.

The little snob on the corner. How many attractions no doubt. The music is mellow, and you're a good fellow. As long as your money holds out. The laughter is loud and obtrusive. As foolish ones settle their score. But when you are busted don't hope to get trusted. It's you on the jump for the door.

You meet with a bunch of companions. Who're out on a bit of a tear. And spend money maybe you need for the baby. And more than you know you can spare. And when in the midst of carousal. You pause to take stock for a bit. The jesting is grating and not elevating. A second class showing in wit.

It pays in the end to be sober. And keep the stuff out of your brain. You find that the boozier is always a loser. Examples are plenty and plain. Confine your libations to water. Just take a big swig at the pump. And nothing is clearer than that you as nearer. Success than some half-pickled chump.

There's nothing so punk in the morning. Or quite so pathetic I know. As when you awaken to find it has taken. Your wages, with nothing to show. Keep out of the toils of the monster. Have some small regard for your name. It's easier hitting the bulls-eye than outling. When once you get caught in the game.

Croup is most prevalent during the dry cold weather of the early winter months. Parents of young children should be prepared for it. All that is needed is a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many mothers are never without it in their homes as it has never disappointed them. Sold by all druggists.

State Bank
SUCCESSOR TO
Mitchell & Lynde
Ye Olde Banke
ESTABLISHED 1852

Capital, $200,000

Surplus, $100,000

OUR RECORD

The State Bank calls your attention to the fact that since the opening of our Savings Department Sept. 6, in about two months' time, we have added $226,842.00 in Savings deposits divided among 540 new accounts.

State Bank of Rock Island

Successor to Mitchell & Lynde,

2d Ave. and 17th St.