

NEWS FROM NEARBY TOWNS

DAVENPORT

Licensed to Wed.—Louis J. Knopp, Cecelia E. Russell; Joseph A. Roeder and Carrie Werthmann, all of Davenport.

No Inquest Over Body of Suicide.—After viewing the body of Elizabeth M. Bicknell, coroner Rudolf stated that no inquest would be held as there was evidence of the fact that her death came as the result of a self-attack with a knife. The remains were interred at Riverside cemetery in Moline today.

Clara Reimers Asks Divorce.—Application for divorce was filed by Clara Reimers in the district court today asking a divorce from her husband, Hans Reimers, the grounds urged being desertion. The plaintiff states that she and the defendant were married in Davenport, Aug. 13, 1908, and that her husband deserted her Nov. 10, 1908.

Indicted Prisoners Arraigned.—The prisoners indicted by the April grand jury were arraigned before Judge Letts yesterday afternoon and most of them entered pleas, either of guilty or not guilty. The following were brought into court: Rudolph Brandenburg, murder in first degree, plead not guilty. Thomas Murke, larceny from a building. Plead guilty and was sentenced to six months in the county jail and to pay a fine of $25. Fred Hass, larceny. Plead guilty and sentenced to one month in the county jail and to pay a fine of $25. J. H. Melvin breaking and entering a store. Plead guilty and received sentence of six months in county jail. Willard Higgs, assault with intent. Plead not guilty. George Estes, larceny. Not guilty. Edward Flood, Fred Clark and Tim Sullivan, breaking and entering plead not guilty. Sherman Porter, larceny. Not guilty. George Brahn larceny in a building and breaking and entering. Plead guilty and sentenced to six months in jail. Harry Arr breaking and entering and larceny. Plead guilty. Sentenced to seven months at hard labor in county jail and to pay a fine of $50.

Odd Fellows Observe.—The 52nd anniversary of the founding of Odd Fellowship is being celebrated by the eastern Iowa district today. Sixty towns are represented. This afternoon there was a parade. Speaking followed at the Grand opera house. After the afternoon meeting the Odd Fellows went to dinner, and the evening sessions will open at Prosperity hall and at the Coliseum. At Prosperity hall the first degree of Odd Fellowship will be conferred on a large class of candidates. Prosperity degree staff will be in charge, and Myrtle degree staff of Moline will confer the rank of the Rebekah lodge at the Coliseum. At Prosperity hall, where the business meeting will be held, new officers will be elected, the next place of meeting will be chosen, and the delegates will consider the advisability of subdividing the eastern Iowa district into smaller districts.

S. W. Phillips Dies.—Sylvester W. Phillips of Le Claire, who was picked up by the police in Davenport last week and who said that he was on his way back to his home in Oklahoma, died Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Bealer of Le Claire. Mr. Phillips was picked up on the streets of Davenport and spent the night at the police station. He said that he was trying to get back to his home in Oklahoma and the police assisted him on his way. It appears, however, that the old gentleman was slightly unsteady in his mind, for the next day his daughter, learning of his appearance in Davenport, came after him. Besides his widow, he is survived by four children.

Obituary Record.—Ernst H. Keding died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keding, on the Jersey Ridge road, Rural route No. 4, yesterday after an illness of two years' duration. The young man, who was 20 years, 6 months and 6 days of age, was born in Davenport. Besides his parents three brothers and two sisters mourn his demise, they being Carl, George and Fred Keding and Louise and Margaret Keding. The funeral will be held from the late residence Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock with interment at Fairmount cemetery.

Peter Nicolaus Leese died at his home, 402 Clark street, Monday at midnight at the age of 67 years, 1 month and 18 days. Mr. Leese was born in Wesselburen, Germany, March 7, 1844, and lived in Davenport since May 8, 1891. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Margaret Leese, seven children, one brother, and 12 grandchildren. The funeral will be held from the late residence Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock with interment at Fairmount cemetery.

MOLINE

To Punish Auto Scorchers.—Police of the city have been instructed to enforce the law which limits speed of automobiles while they are within the city limits. Special activity at this time is a result of the following order, issued today: "To the Chief of Police—Your attention is called to section 10 of the law regulating the speed of motor vehicles upon the streets of any incorporated city. It provides that no one shall drive an automobile at a speed greater than is reasonable, or to endanger the life or limb or injure the property of any person. It further provides that the speed shall not exceed 10 miles an hour while passing through the business portion or 15 miles an hour while passing through the residence portion of any incorporated city. From complaint that comes to me, and from my personal knowledge, this law is constantly violated in the city of Moline. The drivers of some automobiles, in total disregard of the rights of others in the use of the streets, operate their cars at a high rate of speed. I feel that this has become a menace, a source of constant danger to pedestrians using the streets. You are therefore directed to enforce this law and to instruct the police officers to take the numbers of the automobiles and enter complaint against any one violating the law. The penalty is a fine of $200.—E. L. Eastman, Commissioner of Public Health and Safety."

Upsala Choir Not to Come.—Members of the Swedish Olive male chorus announce that plans to bring the Upsala university, Sweden, singers here in June have fallen through, this despite the fact that officials of the choir entered into contract with Impresario Ekblad of Sweden, who came to Moline with the Svenska National-Truppen and represented himself to be an authorized agent of the university singers. According to Olive chorus members the impresario misrepresented facts in his efforts to draw up a contract with the local organization. Mr. Ekblad's statement was that Upsala singers would tour America this summer and that he had been authorized to secure bookings. From what the Olive chorus officers can learn, however, the impresario had come to no agreement whatever with the famous singing aggregation, but merely proceeded to secure bookings with the idea in view of influencing the singers at a later date. This he failed to do, and for that reason everything is "off." It is understood the Upsala singers had previously made arrangements to tour Russia during the 1911 season.

Obituary Record.—Lester Gustafson, killed Sunday night when he was struck by F. G. Allen's limousine car, was buried this afternoon in Riverside cemetery. The funeral service was held from the home at 2:30, and Rev. C. J. Youngberg officiated.

Frank Gysinger of Watertown died at 10 p. m. Monday of Bright's disease, following an illness of six weeks. He was born in Ohio in 1847, and had lived in Watertown 25 years. He was a carpenter by trade. His only relative is a sister in Indiana. The funeral service was at 2 this afternoon in the Baptist church. Rev. F. L. Stevens officiated, and burial was in Hampton cemetery.

Not an Experiment

Paint Lick, Ky.—Mrs. Mary Freeman of this place, says: "Before I commenced to take Cardui, I suffered so much from womanly troubles! I was so weak that I was down on my back nearly all the time. Cardui has done me more good than any medicine I ever took in my life. I can't possibly praise it too highly. You need not be afraid to take Cardui. It is no new experiment. For 50 years it has been found to relieve headache, backache and similar womanly troubles. Composed of gentle-acting herb ingredients, Cardui builds up the strength, prevents much unnecessary pain. Try it for your troubles today."

"Yesterday afternoon, Patricia, when I had right and reason and logic on my side, your woman's intuition found the truer path. I know I am only one and your poor people are many, but I am still selfish enough to—"

The Honorable Senator Sagebrush

By FRANCIS LYNDE

Copyright, 1910, by Street & Smith

SYNOPSIS.

Evan Blount, son of "Boss" David Blount ("Senator Sagebrush"), has been rejected by Patricia Amers. Dick Gantry offers him a position with the Transcontinental railway, which is fighting his father, McVickar, head of the railroad, and "Boss" Blount quarrel.

The boss demands that the railroad stop the use of crooked methods. Going west to meet his father, Evan meets a man who takes him for a forestry employee.

Evan is kidnaped by a band of men, evidently land corporation agents, and is taken at night to a mansion seemingly presided over by a woman.

The house is Warrace Hall, Senator Blount's home, and the woman is Evan's stepmother, whom he had never met.

The senator proposes running Evan for attorney general despite the young man's recent arrival in the state. Evan objects. He hears his father called a political trickster.

McVickar defies Senator Blount to nominate Evan. Patricia and her geologist father arrive at the Sagebrush capital.

At McVickar's request Evan joins the railroad's forces as division counsel and political worker. He favors clean politics, but finds that his office is made a rallying point by small political hangers-on of the road.

Evan has a disagreement with Gantry about the road's mixing in politics. His father pulls wires unknown to him to have him invited to speak in a distant mining town. Hathaway, who has been trying to do business with the road and with Senator Blount, is to have a talk with Mrs. Blount.

Hathaway wants a rebate from the road in consideration of political favors. He is referred to Evan and is advised by Mrs. Blount to put Professor Amers' name on his list of stockholders.

Evan's interview with Hathaway reveals the road's misdoings. In a rage he resigns. Gantry holds up the resignation.

AN OLD-TIME PRESCRIPTION

In a modern product. From time immemorial sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost every one knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. In older times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready to use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. Such a preparation is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, which is sold by all leading druggists for 50c and $1.00 a bottle, or which is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

home state and you've got it about right. I don't say that I've always used the power justly. The Lord knows I'm no more inflexible than other people. But as I said to you yesterday, son, no matter what you've heard or who said it, I've never used the power to fatten my own pocket-book. I've bought and trafficked and bargained—I don't deny it—but only when it seemed as though the end justified the means."

"But the end never justifies evil means, dad," was the son's steadfast rejoinder. Then he looked up quickly from his place beside Patricia. "Is that the secret of all the invitations I've been getting?"

The humorous crow's feet were wrinkling at the corners of David Blount's eyes.

"I reckon so, son," he admitted. "You have been in the hands of your friends—and they're my friends—right from the start. Mighty near everything you have done has been scheduled for you."

It was just here that the professor excused himself and stumped off to bed. Mrs. Honoria signaled to her husband and vanished in her turn. A few minutes after she had gone the senator rose and threw a fresh stick on the fire. Then he came to stand before the two on the little divan.

"Son," he said gravely, "you've got your work cut out for you, and it's a good sized job. When the legislature comes you've got to go in single handed and alone and get a handful of reasonable laws passed for your railroad. You're going to have a hard fight, and there'll be times when you'll long with all your soul for some good, clean hearted little woman to go to for comfort and counsel. Of course I know that Patricia here has got another job, but—"

The senator had been out of sight and hearing for five full minutes when the young man reached over and took the hand that was lying nearest him.

"Yesterday afternoon, Patricia, when I had right and reason and logic on my side, your woman's intuition found the truer path. I know I am only one and your poor people are many, but I am still selfish enough to—"

"She looked up quickly, and the beautiful eyes were shining."

"We can't learn everything all at once, Evan," she said, breaking in upon his pleading.

"You needn't, Evan, dear," she said simply.

"I must live or die for each other," he said. "There was no other way."

"I learned the greatest thing of all. It was the moment when I saw the tree lying across the road. I knew then that I—that I—"

"I know," he said gently; "you know that we must live or die for each other. You have heard what my father has said. I can't walk in the way he has marked out for me without you, Patricia."

With a swift little love impulse she lifted his hand and pressed it to her cheek.

"You needn't, Evan, dear," she said simply.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

A great many so-called remedies for Contagious Blood Poison are composed almost entirely of strong mineral ingredients. They seem to be compounded with the idea that one poison will counteract another—provided the stomach and delicate portions of the system can withstand the effects of the strong treatment. These concoctions are intended to kill the poison in the system. In this article we want to tell you of S.S.S., a purely vegetable remedy for Contagious Blood Poison, a medicine that not only cures the disease, but one which from the first dose has a fine tonic effect upon the stomach and the entire system. Nor does S.S.S. attempt to kill the germs within the system, but cures by REMOVING them from the blood—which is absolutely the only way to cure the disease.

It does not require any argument to establish the fact that a blood disease can be cured only by a blood purifier; every one will admit the truthfulness of this statement. The question of most importance therefore is, what medicine has proven by actual results its superiority as a blood purifier? We claim this distinction for S. S. S., and offer as proof the fact that for more than forty years it has been sold under this claim and the demand for it has steadily increased, and we have thousands of testimonials from cured patients from all parts of the country.

Contagious Blood Poison, as the name implies, is an infectious blood taint which may be communicated from one person to another. Its virus is of a most insidious nature, multiplying from an insignificant germ in the blood, until it becomes a thorough systemic poison. Its first symptom is usually a tiny sore or pimple, but it rapidly spreads, and in a short while the entire body gives evidence of the poison in the blood. The mouth and throat ulcerate, glands in the groin swell, the hair begins to come out, copper-colored spots appear on the body, and frequently running sores and ulcers break out on the flesh.

A condition of such serious nature requires proper treatment. Not only must the disease be driven out, but the system which has been weakened by the ravages of the poison, must be built up before health can be restored.

S. S. S. CURED HIM.

I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards it spread over my body. These soon broke out into sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Before I became convinced that the doctors could do me no good I had spent a hundred dollars, which I had really thrown away. I then tried various patent medicines, but they did not reach the disease. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved, and was delighted with the result. The large red spots on my chest began to grow paler and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I regained my lost weight, became healthy, and my appetite was greatly improved. I was soon entirely well, and my skin as clear as a piece of glass.

68 Clinton St., Newark, N. J.

S. S. S. is perfectly safe for any one to take, and instead of upsetting the stomach as mineral medicines do, it tones up this important member and makes digestion easy. Thousands have cured themselves of Contagious Blood Poison by the use of S. S. S., and if you will write and request it we will send you, without charge, a Home Treatment Book, which will give you all necessary information for curing yourself at your own home. We will also give you free any special medical advice you ask for. S. S. S. cures by making pure, healthy blood—Nature's real remedy.
