

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a very interesting young man, and I am very much pleased with him as regards his character, etc., but he has bright red hair and often wears a red necktie and red socks and when we are walking along the street the fellows laugh and jeer at him. This is very mortifying to me. What would you advise me to do? He is going away to school in the fall and he wants us to become engaged before he goes. I think we should wait until he finishes school. Will you please advise me which you think is better plan.

S. A. D.

Some of our most admired men have had red hair, so there is no need to feel sensitive on that point. If I were you, I'd buttonhole the young man kindly, though firmly, at some auspicious time, and give him a lesson in the principles of color harmony, as applied to neckwear and hosiery. Don't be afraid of him. He'll appreciate your suggestions. You are right in preferring to postpone becoming engaged until later. You will both feel easier for not becoming pledged.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I expect to begin teaching in the fall, and am wondering whether I ought to go to a summer normal school to prepare. I can do just as I like about it, as the normal work is not required of me. Please give me your opinion.

RUTH G.

It should be largely a question of your personal feelings and fitness. If the normal course would not tire you out and leave you worn and spiritless, it would no doubt be excellent for you. Bear in mind, however, that your principal aim should be to begin the school year feeling vigorous and ready for anything. You will need all your strength and buoyancy of spirit.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 26 years old, and have a good position as a stenographer at $15 a week. I am in love with a young man two years older, who is making $18. We want to get married, and each continue working as before. Should we do this, or wait a while longer?

It is not uncommon for a young wife to keep at work after her marriage, but the plan is not altogether a good one, as it keeps her out of the home. You could get along on your combined salaries, without doubt, but wouldn't it be better to wait until the husband's salary is a little larger? Much depends upon your own liking for the work of keeping a home.

CLASS REPEATS PLAYS.

THE GRADUATING CLASS OF the Villa de Chantal last evening gave the last performance of the class plays, "The Hour Glass" by W. B. Yeats and "The Twig of Thorn" at the villa chapel. The casts were very well selected and each young lady acquitted herself with much credit both to herself and to her teachers. Especial mention might be made of the work of Misses Marie Silvers and Helen Syron. The characters were taken as follows:

"THE HOUR GLASS."

A Wise Man Marie Silvers
An Angel Helen Silvers
A Fool Helen Syron
Katherine, the Wise Man's Wife Margaret O'Connell
Children Katherine Stauduhar, Margaret Maroney.

Students Josephine Hahn, Angela Driscoll, Marie Beecher, Grace Code, Katherine Maroney, Leah Potter.
"THE TWIG OF THORN."
Scene laid in the cottage of Nessa Telg, in County Galway, in the year of the great famine.

Prologue Kathleen Looney
Nessa Telg, the woman of the house Agnes McGinnis
Maurya, her neighbor Edna Rabble
Oonah, Nessa's granddaughter Margaret Maroney
Aengus Arann, a peasant Leah Potter
Alieel, a poet Marie Beecher
Father Brian, a priest Kathleen Looney

A Faery Child Florence Mulligan
Finula Katherine Stauduhar
Kathleen Margaret O'Connell
Sheila Katherine Maroney
Sheamus Angela Driscoll
Martin Helen Silvers
Tumaus Grace Code

The former is a morality play, the dominant note of which is the tragedy of a soul. The leading character is a so-called Wiseman who long ago not only lost faith in God, but by his teaching destroyed the faith of his pupils and of all who came within the sphere of his baneful influence. At this point in his career, when he is trying to solve a perplexing passage, an angel enters his classroom, bearing to him a message—its purport that the unbeliever must die within the hour and go to that hell whose existence he has denied. The vision of the angel, however, has revived the sceptic's faith and in response to his passionate and penitent appeal he is promised salvation if he can find, before the sands in the hour glass run out, one person who believes. The scene that follows is short but full of dramatic intensity as the professor seeks for a ray of belief in the souls of his pupils, his wife, his innocent children only to receive from each and all the same answer, "We did believe but you have taught us better." The sands in the upper glass are well-nigh spent when he sees Teigue, the fool, sitting on the floor, counting his pennies. In his desperation he turns to the half-witted creature with the same questions, "Is there a heaven?" "Is there a hell?" Telg wastes many of the precious remaining seconds with his witless remarks, until the Wiseman humbled by the ordeal, falls upon his knees and implores the fool to pity his agony. Then the latter comes close to the chastened man and whispers in his ear that an angel passed him on the hills one day and bade him remember the three fires, the fire that purifies, the fire that purifies forever. Even as the words fall upon the ear of the doomed professor, the last grains of sand run out. The final scene is the death of the Wiseman, with the fool praying beside him. The curtain falls upon the tableau of the awestricken students kneeling around their dead master whose head the fool supports. At the door is seen once more the angel, come to bear away the rescued soul.

The second play was introduced by Miss Kathleen Looney, the class president, who in nicely expressed words, gave the prologue.

"The Twig of Thorn" is a comedy with just a touch of the tragic in the second act, for the scene is laid in Galway, during the year of the great famine. The drama is based upon the fairy lore of Ireland gleaned by the author from the works of Dr. Douglas Hyde, William Butler Yeats and Lady Augusta Gregory. The plucking of a twig of hawthorn is the incident that sets the forces in action for it was believed that one who broke the thorn and spilled its sap would be accursed. Early in Act I there is the hint of a beautiful love story that makes up the larger part of the plot, furnishing some of the most touching scenes as well as many humorous episodes. The play was enlivened by dance and songs at the merry making of the young people who gathered to welcome Oonah, who has come from Dublin to make her home with her grandmother. Alieel, the wandering harper, brings in the romantic element and the fairy who dances in and weaves a charmed circle about Oonah with a rope of primroses, beyond which Alieel may not pass, creates the supernatural atmosphere that is intensified by the play of multi-colored lights. Florence Mulligan, daughter of Hon. George F. Mulligan of Chicago, took the part of the fairy child and her dancing was one of the beautiful features of the play.

OSBORN-BANSCHER.

MISS KATHERINE BANSCHER and Frederick Osborn were united in marriage this morning at 8 o'clock at the German Lutheran church, Rev. Ph. Wilhelm officiating. They were accompanied by Miss Lucinda Geisler and John Banscher, a brother of the bride. H. C. Landbeck at the organ played the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party entered the church, and as a recessional Mendelssohn's wedding march was played. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 431 Sixth street. Mr. and Mrs. Osborn left for a wedding trip to Chicago and upon their return will be at home at 605 Fortieth street. Mr. Osborn is employed at the Union barber shop on Twentieth street.

CLUB ANNUAL MEETING.

THE ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING of the Rock Island Musical club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. F. Robinson, 613 Twentieth street. Officers for the year were elected as follows:

President—Mrs. F. W. Reimers, re-elected.
First Vice President—Mrs. J. K. Scott, re-elected.
Second Vice President—Mrs. J. F. Robinson.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Joseph Goldsmith.
Corresponding Secretary—Miss Notavena Steck.
Treasurer—Mrs. F. K. Rhoads, re-elected.

Reports for the year were received from the various officers, all of which showed a most gratifying condition of the organization. The treasurer's report was especially pleasing to the membership. Mrs. Rhoads reported that during the year $1,941.48 had been collected from all sources and $1,616.30 had been expended in carrying on the work of the club. This leaves a balance on hand of $325.18 above all expenses. In view of the fact that the management has given two recitals complimentary to club members, the Helen Waldo and George Hamlin recitals, and that the bringing here of the grand opera star, Madame Frances Alda, was a losing proposition, the financial showing of the club at the end of the year is one that merits congratulation. The artists' recitals have been of a very high order and have in each instance cost the club large sums, and it was only through careful management that the outcome has been so gratifying and encouraging.

The program for the year's study was adopted as follows:

Oct. 1—Miscellaneous.
Oct. 15—Open recital at the First Methodist church.
Nov. 5—Ensemble meeting.
Nov. 26—The dance form and concerto.
Dec. 17—Evening program given by the readers.
Christmas recess.
Jan. 17—Operatic music.
Jan. 28—Ensemble program.
Feb. 18—Shakespearean program.
March 11—Evening costume program.
April 1—Nature music.
April 22—American music—Indian and negro.
May 13—Open recital at Broadway Presbyterian church.

HOME MISSION SOCIETY ANNUAL.

THE WOMAN'S HOME MISSION society of the First Methodist church met with Mrs. H. K. Walker, 1902 Seventeenth street, last evening with a very large attendance of members and friends. The election of officers for the coming year resulted in the following being chosen:

President—Mrs. B. Recker.
First Vice President—Mrs. C. A. Walker.
Second Vice President—Mrs. Minnie Johnson.
Third Vice President—Miss Ida Bowen.
Recording Secretary—Miss Millie Spencer.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. John Taylor.

Treasurer—Mrs. H. P. Brown.
After the transaction of the business before the society, the following program was given:

Piano—Miss Marjorie Walker.
Reading on the lesson topic—"Christian Conservation," Mrs. J. G. Woodbury.
Reading—"Signal of Warning," Mrs. V. J. Glasco.
Vocal—J. G. Woodbury.
Paper—"Conservation of Childhood and Youth of the Church," Mrs. Beckwith.

After the program the committee in charge served nice refreshments and the company remained for a delightful social hour.

LUTHERAN MEN BANQUET.

A COMPANY OF 250 TWIN-CITY Lutheran men attended the banquet given at the Augustana college dining room last evening, at which the Men's society of Zion Lutheran church was host. After the serving of an elaborate banquet, during which an orchestra furnished music, Dr. S. G. Youngert as toast master, introduced the evening's program. Musical numbers were given by the Svea Male quartet and the male quartet from Zion church, and by the orchestra. Mr. Nordgren of Moline gave an address on the subject "Ministers' Sons," and talks were also given by Prof. Jules Mauritzson and Rev. S. G. Haglund. It is the purpose of the organization of the twin-city Lutheran men to promote fellowship and goodwill among the men of the various churches of the two cities. A meeting of the same nature was held last fall, and it is planned to hold other similar meetings during the year.

SOCIABLE FOR FOREIGNERS.

AT THE Y. M. C. A. LAST EVENING the Young People's association of Broadway Presbyterian church entertained for all foreigners of the city who cared to be their guests. About 35 attended the affair, and they enjoyed a very pleasant evening. There was an

AWAKE, SHE IS JUST A STENOGRAPHER;
HYPNOTIZED, SHE SINGS LIKE PATTI

Miss Marion Graham.

Miss Marion Graham, of New York, is the object of much attention from the psychologists these days. She is not especially interesting in her waking moments, being rather shy and diffident. She has absolutely no knowledge of music, nor does she possess any musicianship. When hypnotized, however, she presents an entirely different case. Prof. Haddock and Dr. Muckey of Columbia university, and other psychologists who have taken an interest in the young woman declare that when under the hypnotic spell she can sing like Patti Schumann-Heink. They are borne out by prominent musicians who have heard her. The explanation for the phenomenon is that Miss Graham, when under the hypnotic spell, loses consciousness of everything else and is enabled to focus all her psychic, mental and vocal powers upon an ideal rendering of her song.

for an extended trip, and upon their return will make their home in this city. Mr. Knox is the son of B. F. Knox, 2014 Fourth avenue, and is associated with his father in the undertaking business. His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Peaters of Hornell, N. Y., and is a nurse by profession, being a graduate of St. Anthony's hospital.

LEE-ANTHONY.

THE MARRIAGE OF MISS DAISY B. Anthony, daughter of Mrs. May Anthony of 19 Bellevue Place, Chicago, and Dr. Herbert Wayne Lee of Davenport, took place last night at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Rev. Mr. Stone of the Presbyterian church officiating. The wedding company included about 50 relatives and close friends, and following the ceremony a dinner was served. Dr. Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee of 3020 Eleventh avenue, Moline. He graduated from the high school and from the dental department of the Iowa state university and is now a prominent dentist in Davenport. He practiced in the office of Dr. C. L. Silvis in this city for a time. Mrs. Lee has visited in the tri-cities frequently, and made many friends. After a wedding trip through the east they will make their home after Aug. 1 at 110 West Sixth street until their new residence on Pine street, Davenport, is completed.

KNOX-PEATERS.

MISS ANNIE E. PEATERS OF HORNELL, N. Y., and Harry T. Knox of this city, were united in marriage this morning at 11 o'clock at 1911 Eleventh avenue, the home of Rev. Alexander Smith, the district superintendent of the Methodist church, who performed the ceremony. They were accompanied by Miss Mary Knox, sister of the groom and Robert Zimmer of Davenport. The bride wore a tan silk marquisette over satin and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and Killarney roses. Mr. and Mrs. Knox left at noon to the corners of the table. Miss Peters will be entertained next Thursday evening when Mrs. J. Becker of Moline will be the hostess.

HEINZE-ROE.

THE MARRIAGE OF MISS FRANCES ROE and Otto Heinze, both of Buffalo, Iowa, took place this morning at 10 o'clock at the German Lutheran church, Rev. Ph. Wilhelm, the pastor, performing the ceremony. They were accompanied by Miss Martha Heinze, sister of the groom and Louis Roe, brother of the bride. A small company of relatives was present at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Heinze will make their home in Buffalo with the mother of the bride.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB MEETS.

MRS. J. HASSELQUIST AT HER home, 3427 Ninth-and-a-half avenue, yesterday afternoon was hostess to the members of the Fortnightly Reading circle. Mrs. C. I. Pedersen was the leader of the afternoon, reading chapters from "The Iron Woman." After the study meeting the hostess served lunch and the ladies enjoyed the afternoon together.

KINDERGARTEN WILL CLOSE.

BETHANY HOME KINDERGARTEN children have issued attractive invitations to their closing exercises to be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the home. A photograph of the children posing before a large flag decorated the invitation. They have prepared an interesting program for their exercises.

SWANSON-HARDER.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE OF the marriage of Miss Maude Harder and August Swanson, both of this city, which took place at Detroit June 1.

SOCIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

THE LAWN SOCIABLE THAT was to have been given this evening by the O. A. H. club of the Third Christian mission has been postponed indefinitely.

The ladies' auxiliary to the machinists will meet at Industrial Home hall Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Cox-Montgomery Nuptials Celebrated at Noon Today

MISS LOUISE R. MONTGOMERY, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Montgomery, 1022 Twenty-first street, and Sherman Cox of New York City, were united in marriage at high noon today in a beautiful home ceremony. The members of the families of Miss Montgomery and Mr. Cox were the guests at the service. Dr. W. S. Marquis of Broadway Presbyterian church, was the officiating clergyman. The bride couple was attended by the four nieces of the bride and groom, Anna Cleveland, Margaret Bahnsen and Elizabeth Stewart of this city and Olive Louise Cox of Galesburg, who formed an aisle of pink satin ribbons extending from the foot of the stairs to the front parlor, through which the bridal couple entered.

Miss Frances DeSautiers, harpist of Moline played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bride and groom took their places and while the sacred rite was performed she played Mendelssohn's spring song. The decorations of the house were beautifully carried out with pink satin ribbons, pink and white peonies in vases and baskets and pink Killarney roses, placed about the rooms. The bride wore a gown of white embroidered voile over white satin, she wore the lace veil and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her attendants were dressed alike in dainty white dresses. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to 50 guests, the bride's chosen colors being carried out in the courses. Mr. and Mrs. Cox have gone north for a wedding trip and will later be at home at Park Hill, N. Y.

Mr. Cox is a graduate of Harvard law school and is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He is vice president of the American Real Estate company of New York. His bride is a graduate of Knox college, and is a member of the Pi Beta Phi society. Since her graduation she has been at home. She has been the honoree at many pretty pre-nuptial courtesies during the past few weeks.

Guests from out of town who are here for the wedding are: Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Cherrill of Mount Claire, N. J.; Mrs. Louis C. Maxmull and Master Robert Maxmull of Dallas, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Cox and daughters of Galesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cox and daughters of Galesburg; Mrs.
