

MISS CLIFT IN AN ECONOMY LESSON

Argus School Expert Discusses the Practical Side of Preparing Dishes.

ADVOCATES USING THE BEST

Demonstrator Charms Audience of Women at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.

There was a good attendance at the first session of The Argus cooking school which opened yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. building, with Miss Clift, an expert in cooking, as demonstrator. Miss Clift has had rather an unusual amount of experience for so young a woman in the matter of cooking and housekeeping and this, of course, makes her work much more interesting just because she knows all the little things that come up when one has to cook the dinner as well as buy it and maybe take care of two or three children at the same time. The ladies present seemed to enjoy every minute of the pleasant and profitable two hours they listened and watched.

Miss Clift is a charming woman, with a musical voice, who speaks in well modulated tones and speaks so that all in the hall will hear and understand every word, too, because her words are golden and when strung together they become words of wisdom. In discussing her lectures, Miss Clift said:

"I try to make my work practical. There are many cooks who prepare dishes for good looks but do not prepare them more than once. I try to give them things they can take right home and prepare at once and use whenever they wish. Apart from the cooking I give hints for the care, selection and handling of food materials. What I tell the cook is the result of my experience at home and training in cooking schools. I try to teach the proper kind of economy, the advantage of purchasing only the best materials and using the best utensils."

It was evident to Miss Clift's audience from the very first that she was a most excellent demonstrator and lecturer. Not one moment did she lose her head, smooth, quickly, deftly everything passed under her fingers, tripping from table to stove, to cabinet and ice box soon things evolved and with the mixing and the cooking, the delicious menu announced was ready to serve. These are just the simple every day dishes one is used to, but how different they tasted when put together in the right way.

The smothered potatoes seemed just the right thing to serve with the hare soufflé. It is very easy to agree with Miss Clift that wise combinations make a great deal of difference. It was indeed a very pleasing surprise.

CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Argus Readers.

For months Rock Island citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Rock Island residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Argus reader.

Mrs. A. J. Johnson, 410 Ninth street, Rock Island, Ill., says: "I still think as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills as I did in 1909 when I publicly recommended them. I had been suffering from weak back and pains across my kidneys. After being on my feet for any length of time, I was tired out. Doan's Kidney Pills were so highly recommended that I got a supply at the Harper House pharmacy. They gave me relief at once and three boxes made me well."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

to most of the ladies present to see how quickly, easily and gracefully Miss Clift can talk and work at the same time, never for one moment forgetting the question under way or the biscuit in the oven. Talk about biscuits; did you ever see such biscuits in your life, prepared from such a simple recipe, too. Just as light and airy as a snowflake. There was great rejoicing when Miss Clift said she would make double the quantity so that all the ladies could sample them. Every minute was full of good things, too. If there were any questions as to what could be left out, it would be hard to say, for everything seemed so fitting to the occasion. Flattering remarks were heard on all sides as the ladies filed out of the hall. The last glimpse we had of Miss Clift, who was still earnestly talking, explaining why you should not knead biscuit but handle it as lightly as possible. We are quite sure to judge by appearance, there will be a large crowd today and Wednesday and every day after. So try and be early enough to get a seat. The doors are open 30 minutes before the lesson commences. In this way, every one has an equal chance of a good seat. Don't forget a pencil and a teaspoon, for you will probably want to use both.
