ALEDO ATTORNEY IS ON SEATTLE SUPREME BENCH
Judge John F. Main of the superior court at Seattle and a former Aledo lawyer and law partner of Justice George A. Cooke of the Illinois supreme court has been appointed to the supreme bench of Washington to fill a vacancy caused by the death of the chief justice of that court. Justice Main is appointed to serve only until the November election and at that time will be a sticker candidate on the ticket. The late Chief Justice Dunbar was a candidate to succeed himself without opposition, and it is believed that Justice Main will have no contest for the high position. John F. Main was born in Mercer county, Illinois, in 1864; was graduated from Princeton university in 1891. He was for a time principal of the Aledo high school and later studied law at Ann Arbor, Mich., and was admitted to the bar in Illinois in 1897. For a time he was law partner of Justice Cooke until 1909, when he removed to Seattle, where he has since resided. For a time he was teacher in the law school of Washington university, and in 1909 was appointed a judge of the county superior court. Justice Main is a brother of W. B. Main and Mrs. W. T. Deen of Aledo.

There is an unusual fact in Justice Main's appointment, in that he and his former partner in Aledo should both be chosen to fill vacancies upon the supreme bench. Aledo has produced three members of supreme courts.
