WELL PREPARED FOR LIFE'S WORK

Many Moline Young People in Institutions of Collegiate Rank.

The value placed upon education by the graduates of the Moline high school is again exemplified by the large number who have this year entered higher institutions of learning. They are fortunate in that they have a wide range of choice, for the Moline High school is on the accredited list of every college, university, or professional school, which accepts students certified by the high schools which have been found to meet their requirements. ## STALLSMITH GETS FINE RECOGNITION

Former Moline Man Given High Commission in Behalf of Exposition.

WILL BOOST FRISCO SHOW

One of Four Commissioners to Make Propaganda in Antipodean and East Indian Countries.

Thomas G. Stallsmith, a former resident of Moline, and particularly well known in the agricultural implement trade, in which he was engaged, has departed for the antipodes, under commission of the State department, to take part in the propaganda in behalf of the Panama-Pacific exposition to be held at San Francisco in 1915. Mr. Stallsmith has heretofore been honored in connection with the exposition. On April 1 of this year he became chief of agriculture of the exposition, and his work proved of such a character as to commend him for further honors. In less than five months the 600,000 square feet of floor space reserved for the exhibition of agricultural implements were oversubscribed by the manufacturers of the United States, Canada and Germany. Owing to his knowledge of the trade he was able to persuade the exposition authorities to make a marked departure from the classifications heretofore in vogue at expositions and to reserve the space heretofore taken up by machinery and transportation devices for farm wagons and gasoline engines.

TO STIMULATE INTEREST.
Owing to the importance in the markets of New Zealand and Australia in the products of agriculture, it was decided by the exposition authorities to appoint four commissioners to visit those countries, and by getting in touch with the governmental authorities and commercial and agricultural interests, stimulate interest in the coming exposition. President C. C. Moore appointed as the commission, ex-Governor Alva Adams of Colorado, commissioner general; Thomas G. Stallsmith, chief of agriculture; O'Neill Sevier, New York journalist, and Major Sidney A. Cloman, U. S. A., Washington.

CLUB ON FENCE ON PHONE BONUS

East Moline Commercial Body Refuses to Help the Promoters.

DECLINES EXPRESSION

Course Expected to Strengthen Council in Demand for Bonus for Franchise.

The East Moline Commercial club met on Monday evening, and listened to the eloquence of Manager Stanton and Attorney Bollinger of the Automatic Home Telephone company, urging the club to recommend to council a resolution from its demand for a bonus of $2,000 in consideration of the granting of a franchise to the telephone company. It will be remembered that the council, at its last meeting, "passed the buck" to the club, by deciding in effect, that the council would be guided in the premises by the wishes of the Commercial club. But notwithstanding the efforts of the promoters, the Commercial club refused to accept the responsibility for the decision. The practical effect of the action of the club in passing the buck back to the council, is believed to be that the latter body will stand pat in its demand that the telephone promoters come across with some real money, as an evidence of good faith, if they want a franchise in East Moline.

The club in addition to disposing of this question considered the matter of quarters for the future, and the raising of the membership dues, which will be determined at the next meeting.

Bluff Association Acts.

The Southeast Bluff Improvement association last evening appointed a special committee to visit the city hall and petition the commissioners to provide at least temporary betterments of the streets and sidewalks in that section, the permanent improvement desired by the residents of the bluff apparently being impossible of achievement this fall.

Dealers Converted.

The retail clothing and shoe dealers, by their summer's experience with early closing, have been converted to the system for the entire year. Last spring, after considerable effort, all the dealers were persuaded to sign an agreement to close their stores evenings until Oct. 1 at 6 o'clock. Today, at a meeting of the retail merchants, an agreement was signed providing for the early closing of stores throughout the year.

FUND FOR A SITE GROWING NICELY

Half of Sum Needed to Secure Lutheran Hospital Is Subscribed.

WORKERS MAKE REPORT

Total Secured in Brief Canvass Amounts to $9,123—Plan a Quick Finish.

The noonday luncheon today of the workers engaged in the task of raising $18,000 to purchase the Barnard tract as a site for the Lutheran hospital, exemplified the value of unity and enthusiasm in a common cause. Although the canvass has been in progress only a couple of days the reports submitted showed that more than half of the sum required has already been secured, the total of subscriptions aggregating $9,123. Having secured half of the money needed, the sentiment endorsed by all, contemplates a whirlwind finish of the campaign and its completion within a very few days.

The subscriptions reported by the committees canvassing the various elements of the community showed the following totals:
Manufacturers ..... $1,260.00
Retailers ..... 2,685.00
Fraternal Organizations ..... 530.00
Physicians ..... 1,000.00
Woman's club ..... 700.00
King's Daughters ..... 160.00
Churches ..... 1,925.00
Realty and Lawyers ..... 705.00
No. 2 of Greater Moline club ..... 718.00
Moline club ..... 340.00
Several committees did not report, as their members were out hustling for the good cause, and the sums secured by them probably would bring the total up considerably.

WOMEN WARRIORS.

One That Was Made a Heroine in Spite of Herself.

There are few countries that have not at one time or another had women soldiers in their ranks—either in disguise or openly accepted despite their sex. England, France and Germany have all had military heroines. Germany, which traditionally demands of its women only softness and domesticity, has nevertheless had its full share. One of them, Eleonore Prochaska, had saved her wages as a cook to buy her man's equipment. In her last battle, when storming some heights under heavy fire, she snatched a drum from a fallen Frenchman and beat the charge as she advanced.

"You can sew, cook, wash, sing and shoot better than any of us," said the comrade at her side admiringly, "and now it seems you can drum too!"

A moment later she was mortally wounded. As she fell she called to the nearest officer, with a dying flash of pride and humor:

"Lieutenant, I'm a girl!"

Another girl, Anna Luring, only eighteen, was traced and claimed by her father after she had enlisted, but her captain refused to dismiss so fine a soldier.

A young dressmaker, Sophia Kruger, who made her own uniform before enlisting, won the Iron Cross for bravery.

Maria Weider, a farmer's wife, served, undiscovered, with her husband and was promoted to be a sergeant, although he remained a private.

An amusing contrast to these genuine gallant women is afforded by Johanna Stegen, who quite by accident won a reputation for heroism. She and a companion, Caroline Berger, were caught by chance in the fighting lines at the battle of Lamsberg. Caroline fled to her cover and hid, but Johanna, the hero of the wounded who had crawled there also.

Johanna, springing a heap of cartridges, tore off her apron and began to fill it. For she mistook them for bullets of coin. A passing officer supposed naturally she was carrying ammunition to the front and gave her orders where to take it, orders which she dared not disobey. Apronful after apronful of cartridges she carried—and the next day found herself acclaimed a heroine!

Her apron was tied to a staff and borne proudly at the head of the regiment. Men cheered her, the king praised her, and she sat at his right hand at a banquet. Later she married and was lionized by the fashionable ladies of Berlin.—London Tatler.

No Title Page in Early Books. The idea of a title page did not occur to the early printers. "The books started straight off with 'incipit' or 'Here beginneth,' without author's or publisher's name. This causes much difficulty in attributing earlier works to the proper sources." The idea of a title page with names seems first to have occurred to a Cologne printer named Therboeren about 1470, but it was not generally adopted until fifty years later. The early punctuation was very simple, consisting of an oblique line and a full stop. One of the first books to introduce the colon and notes of interrogation and exclamation was "Lactantius" printed at a monastery near Rome in 1465.—Imprint.

KNOW MAN WHO CAUSED DEATH OF LINDGREN

The local police have discovered the identity of the man who on Aug. 26 drove down and injured John Lindgren, the workman at the Rock Island's Fifteenth street crossing, inflicting injuries which resulted in blood poisoning, and terminating in the death of the old watchman. The police, however, are not giving out the name, as the relatives of the decedent have not taken any action, and the state, because of the verdict of the coroner's jury, has at present no grounds upon which to proceed. Besides, the man is now out of the city. It is understood that Mr. Lindgren's family will soon start a civil suit for damages.
