

HILL TURNS DOWN OAK PARK CONTEST

Chicago Boys Want Game Oct. 18, but Macomb State Normal Is Favored.

Manager A. G. Hill of the Rock Island high school this morning passed up a game with the fast Oak Park team to accommodate the Macomb state normal aggregation. Oak Park, which last year won the championship of the country by making a tour of the coast and defeating contenders there, wants a game on October 18, on which date a game has been scheduled with the state normal school. Upon receipt of the Oak Park communication, Manager Hill immediately wired Macomb asking for a cancellation. This the down states refused, and consequently the date will stand. Rock Island has an open date on November 8, but Oak Park cannot play at that time. The squad from the Chicago suburb will be in the championship running this year, according to the predictions of the critics, and a contest with that eleven would mean something to the local boys. Students feel that the game should be played with Oak Park at all hazards, and are attempting to induce Mr. Hill to cancel the Macomb date.

EDNA MARSHALL IN "THE PRICE"

TAKE MORE TIME ON TARIFF DRAFT

Senate Tables Conference Report 24 Hours Following a Caucus.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—A threat that republican senators, including Penrose and LaFollette, might try to send the tariff conference report back to the committee as soon as it was taken up in the senate complicated the situation confronting democratic leaders this morning. Democratic senators were called in caucus today, but the purpose was not made public. Later Senator Reed, who circulated the petition for the democratic caucus, said: "We insist the senate should have time to familiarize itself with the conference report. We will take the same attitude toward currency legislation."

As a result of the caucus the entire conference report was laid aside for 24 hours by the senate. When the senate body met today the conference report agreed on by the house was presented. On motion of Senator Simmons it was laid on the table until tomorrow.

The democratic tariff revision bill left the house last night on what the party leaders hoped would be its last journey to the senate. After many hours of debate the house adopted the main conference agreement on the bill, 254 to 103, almost a strict party vote, and by this action gave its indorsement to everything in the measure except the cotton futures tax.

The democrats who voted against the measure were Donohoe of Pennsylvania and Lasaro, Morgan and Broussard of Louisiana, while Representatives Kelley of Pennsylvania, MacDonald of Michigan and Rubley of Pennsylvania, progressives, and Manahan of Minnesota, Stafford and Cary of Wisconsin and Kent of California, republicans, voted for the bill.

At the end of a short but bitter fight Representative Underwood, the democratic leader, succeeded in carrying through the Smith-Lever cotton futures tax amendment by a vote of 171 to 161. Democrats and republicans alike voted on this without regard to party and a large portion of the democratic membership from southern states joined in the vigorous demand that the whole subject be carried over to another session of congress.

In order to discuss the cotton futures tax it was necessary for the house to recede from its disagreement with the Clarke amendment of the senate. Representative Underwood then brought forward the compromise, which was adopted.

The cotton futures tax question now rests entirely with the senate. The house concurred in the Clarke amendment put into the tariff bill by the senate, but added the Smith-Lever-Underwood plan as another amendment. Unless the senate will accept this change, which has the indorsement of the president, the whole cotton futures plans will again have to be considered in the joint conference committee and again reported to both houses of Congress for action.

They have played both the Orpheum and Keith circuits. Other acts on what Manager Dolly promises to be a uniformly strong bill are Leo Pierant, the Italian accordion manipulator; Edgar Foreman & Co., in a playlet, "The Menace;" Rice and Franklin, in a comedy skit, "Won by Ten," and Volaim brothers, comedy acrobats. The engagement of "The Wolf" will end tonight.

THE MOVIES

The film feature at the Family tomorrow is "Broncho." This is a tale of early Puritan life. Priscilla is a Quakeress, living with her invalid mother. Rev. Cole is in love with her, but she turns a deaf ear to his protestations of affection. John Hart, the new schoolmaster, arrives, and boards with Priscilla's mother. John and Priscilla fall in love with each other, and their engagement to wed is hastened by the death of the mother who, with her dying breath, asks John to watch over Priscilla. The minister has blue laws passed (so-called because they were written on blue paper) among them being one providing that every one must attend church on the Sabbath. Priscilla refuses to comply with the new law and is arrested by a mob, ducked in the river on a ducking stool, and pilloried. She is held for trial and John is among the jury. He holds out for acquittal, though severely menaced by his fellow jurors. Priscilla is then ordered banished from the colony. John joins her and they determine to make their way to the Quaker colony in Pennsylvania. They meet Indians on the warpath and are attacked, and John is badly wounded. He shoots an Indian and gets his canoe. Priscilla, forgiving the wrongs against her by the Puritans, wishes to warn them of the impending attack. John's wounded leg prevents his returning with her, so Priscilla goes alone and John follows in the canoe via the longer river route.
