

Simplicity to Rule Coming Social Season in Capital

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—Because of the democratic tastes of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and her three daughters, the capital's social leaders, simplicity will rule the social season of 1913-14 in Washington. The social seasons of years past have often been marked by an extravagant expenditure of money; but the gentleness and refinement of the Wilsons is having a quieting effect on the social life of the capital.

The wives of the eight married members of President Wilson's cabinet are in strict harmony with Mrs. Wilson. They are selecting comfortable homes and will entertain frequently, but simplicity will be the rule. Mrs. Josephus Daniels, who for a number of years was a social leader and favorite in North Carolina, will be as democratic at Single Oak, the beautiful summer home that Secretary Daniels has rented in Cleveland Park, as she was in her own residence at Raleigh. They may move into town before the winter is over, but for the present will live in the country. Secretary and Mrs. Franklin K. Lane recently returned from a two-months' trip in the West. Mrs. Lane is popular with both the old and the new sets. She is an enthusiastic member of the Congressional club. Mrs. William J. Bryan will continue to be as democratic in her tastes as her husband. The Bryan latchstring hangs out, and the secretary of state and his wife never turn away an old friend without shaking his hand and hearing his voice. Postmaster General and Mrs. Burleson are living on F street near the White House. Mrs. Burleson writes plays and short stories and is one of the very bright women of the Washington society set. Mrs. Burleson is a tiny, dainty woman, who spreads lots of sunshine wherever she goes. She leads in charity work in Washington. Mrs. C. W. Redfield, wife of Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce, is in mourning. She recently lost her mother. Mrs. Lindley M. Garrison, wife of Secretary Garrison of the war department, is not well known in Washington, but she and Secretary Garrison have taken a home on Sixteenth street and will entertain this winter.

BUSCH WILL PUTS ESTATE IN TRUST

Charitable Institutions Receive $210,000 From Late St. Louis Brewer.

SON MANAGES PROPERTY

Mansions Are Bequeathed to Widow—Restrictions Placed on Other Relatives.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 30.—The will of Adolphus Busch, filed yesterday afternoon, makes charitable bequests aggregating $170,000 to St. Louis institutions and places the bulk of the estate in trust, naming Mr. Busch's widow, Charles Nagel and August A. Busch as trustees.

Mr. Busch left a private memorandum requesting members of his family to make other donations. The attorneys made public the names of eight St. Louis institutions to receive under this memorandum a total of $40,000. This makes the total bequests for charitable purposes $210,000.

The estate disposed of by the will is estimated at $50,000,000. The trust is to be disposed as follows:

One-eighth to the widow, Mrs. Lily Busch.

Seven-eighths to be divided into seven equal shares. These shares are to be apportioned as follows:

Two shares to August A. Busch, a son.

One share to be retained by the trustees for each of the daughters—Mrs. Nellie Loeb of Chicago, Mrs. Edmee Reisinger of New York, Mrs. Anna Louise Faust of St. Louis, Mrs. Clara von Gontard of Berlin and Mrs. Wellhime Scherer, wife of Lieutenant Eduard Scherer of the German army.

$12,000 YEAR FOR INVALID SON.

The estate placed in trust includes all property except the charitable bequests and the legacy of Mrs. Busch, August A. Busch is to be president of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association. He is made responsible for the care of his invalid brother Carl, who is to be supplied with all necessities and wants up to $12,000 a year.

The will specifies that the trustees may pay at once to each of the daughters $100,000 out of her share, and that the balance shall be managed by the trustees for the daughters for the rest of their lives.

The trustees are given authority to pay to Mrs. Reisinger, Mrs. Faust and Mrs. von Gontard such portion of their shares as deemed wise. This provision does not apply to the two other daughters, Mrs. Loeb and Mrs. Scherer. Neither of these two daughters shall have the right to sell, assign or mortgage her interest in the trust estate or the income therefrom.

The income of the shares is to be paid by the trustees to the daughters in installments, and such income shall be the sole and separate property of the daughters, free from all and every interest, courtesy or control of any husband any of them may at any time have.

At the death of a daughter the share assigned to her shall be distributed in equal shares to her husband if he survive, and her children; if they are dead, to the descendants of the children.

WIDOW GETS MANSIONS.

Those named to manage the trust are given sweeping powers in the management of the property, even to the extent of making payments, divisions and distributions to the heirs without reducing the property to cash. This

MISTER J. EVERS ALSO PLAYS GOLF

Trojan Catches "Cow Pasture Pool" Fever—Archer Purchases Real Estate.

Golf has won another convert in John J. Evers, skipper of the Cubs. Yep, the scrappy Trojan is bent on treading the greens with shiny-stick in hand with all the other regular devotees of Scotland's pastime. According to his present plans John J. will introduce his version of the "hit and run" on the nine-hole course at Excelsior Springs, Mo., committing his first drive tomorrow.

For several seasons the West Side stars has been inhaling reports of the wonderful skill of Heine Zim, Chief Bender and other diamond celebrities, who specialize on the side as golfing demons. His desire to master the fine points of the game grew after hearing Jimmy Archer and Jimmy Lavender tell of their experiences on the Garfield park links during the off-days of the past season.

All this golfing fanfare, a strange line of talk to be sprung in a big league dressing room, appealed to Johnny's artistic ear and he allowed as how he would like to take a flyer on the greens. So he scouted around among his constituents and made known his intention of giving the game a tryout.

"I never had a golf stick in my hand," admitted the Trojan yesterday, while packing incidental to leaving this afternoon for the Missouri resort. "It must be a great sport, however, judging from the tremendous amount of interest taken in it by the people throughout the United States and abroad. I wonder if I'll have any luck swinging left-handed."

The Cub boss expects to take a 10-day course in the game and if he "falls" for golf, as his friends predict he will, chances are John will issue orders that every member of the Cub West Side team arm himself with a complete outfit to be used daily on the links at Tampa; where the team will train next spring.

Announcement was made yesterday at Cub headquarters that Jimmy Archer, bent on emulating Frank Schulte, the foremost peach-grower of Woodbury, Ga., had invested heavily in an orange grove in Florida and would leave shortly for the southland to preside over his broad acres. The Dublin man proposes to winter in Florida and will be on the job when the West Siders land at Tampa the latter part of February.

We'll Pay $3 If You Don't Get Thin

A mild anti-ferment—made to stop fat digestion—is now put up in tablets called Berledets.

Countless clinical tests, made by able physicians, have proved that these tablets cause fat folks to grow thin. They have also proved that the tablets are harmless. Ill effects are simply impossible.

The only effect seems to be to stop fat-forming food from digestion. Eat whatever you wish, but take one Berledet after meals.

Cause the fat-forming food—and that food alone—to pass out undigested. Then the body, which must have fat, feeds on its stored-up tissue.

The result is the same as from semi-starvation. There is no attack on the tissues. The whole aim is to starve the body of fat, and thus make it consume the stores of fat it has laid away.

Reduction comes first where the fat is thickest. It continues so long as you take Berledets. But reduction stops within 24 hours after you end the treatment.

Guaranteed
These countless tests seem to prove that these results are inevitable. Now we put a warrant in every box. It states that if three boxes prove ineffective your druggist will return your $3.

Not that three boxes can take off 50 pounds. But three boxes will show that this harmless method is a sure way to get normal weight.

Try Berledets if you need them. The ablest physicians we know now employ them. They are utterly harmless. And they are sure—so sure that we guarantee them. Write us for more information.

Berledets cost $1 per box at druggists. Sold and recommended by Thomas Drug Company, W. T. Hart, William Ullmeyer, August Helmbeck, Jericho's Drug Store, Moline, Ill.
