GEORGE GOLBERG REFUSES TO CALL DOCTOR AND DIES

Suffering With Tuberculosis Man Tries Patent Medicine Without Avail.

CORONER HOLDS INQUEST

Deceased Had Been Ill Several Months and Had Refused the Aid of Physicians.

George Golberg, aged 25 years, died of tuberculosis last night at the home of his mother, 521 Fourteenth street, after having refused the aid of physicians, and having used a patent medicine which was of no avail in saving his life.

The deceased was taken ill several months ago and at that time consented to see a physician. The doctor told him that he was suffering with tuberculosis and that the young man refused to believe it and from that time would have no further medical assistance. Golberg, at about this time, came across some patent medicine which was "guaranteed" to cure his disease and started its usage.

Medicine of No Avail.

The medicine, however, did not help his case. Mr. Golberg has not been confined to his bed during the months of his illness, but for the past several weeks he has been growing weaker every day. The end finally came last night, the mother being present at the death bed.

This morning Coroner R. C. J. Meyer held an inquest in the Esterdahl undertaking parlors. According to the evidence death resulted from the refusal of the young man to seek medical assistance and his firm belief that the patent medicine would cure him. Left to mourn the death are the mother, Mrs. Hannah Golberg, and two sisters, Charles J. and Emil Perry Golberg, both of this city.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 from the Esterdahl undertaking parlors, with interment in Riverside cemetery.

ROBBERY ATTEMPT PROVES A FAILURE

Two Mexicans Try to Steal Clothes in Plain Daylight but Clerk Stops Game.

The daylight attempt of two Mexicans to rob the Edward De Rue clothing store, 1416 Fifteenth street, yesterday afternoon proved a failure, owing to the prompt action of the clerk, Walter Martinson, who saw through the game before it had been carried out.

Martinson claims that the Mexicans came into the store and asked to look at some hats. He was suspicious of them from the start and kept a close eye on their actions. One of them made a few purchases, and while paying for them Martinson noticed the other making toward the door with something bulky beneath his coat. He did not stop to give his customer any change, but made for the man at the door, who started to run.

At this juncture, the culprit's coat became unbuttoned and six pairs of $5 pants fell to the sidewalk. He continued to run, however, and in spite of the fact that the police have kept a close watch for him, he has not been found. The other man was arrested, but later released, as there was no positive proof that he was connected with the attempted robbery.

FEVER EPIDEMIC SCATTERS PUPILS

Two Additional Deaths in Urbana Terrorize University of Illinois Students.

TOTAL OF FIVE VICTIMS

Board of Health and Local Authorities Declare Situation to Be Well in Hand.

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 26.—Although the state board of health and local authorities declare that the scarlet fever situation at the University of Illinois is well in hand, 300 students fled to their homes yesterday. Last night's Chicago train carried the largest number of fugitives.

Although no new cases were reported in the student body, two deaths carried panic to the university, Champaign and Urbana. Miss Ona Reno, a nurse in the Julia E. Burnham training school, died a martyr to her work. Mrs. Harry L. Lingren of Urbana, a bride of six months, was the other victim.

Warned that service in the isolation ward was not mandatory and also was dangerous, Miss Reno responded by declaring that she wanted to volunteer. She was assigned to the care of S. H. Cater, a student from Princeton, who died last week. The body of Miss Reno was taken to her home in Rushville last night.

Students Plan Memorial.

Champaign physicians passed resolutions reciting the heroic sacrifice of the young woman. University students began to plan a memorial to her.

E. A. Hardt, representing the state board of health, said the board had not even considered the idea of quarantining the twin cities, the situation being well in hand. Dean Clark, chairman of the university health committee, issued a statement advising students to go to classes and not to go home.

"No students are now even seriously ill," said Dean Clark, "and no new cases developed today. No students have died since the death of Mr. Cater last week. The university will not shut down. The university is not trying to conceal any facts."

All Theatres Closed.

Following a conference between Mr. Hardt and Champaign officials and physicians, Mayor Dobbins ordered all theatres and billiard rooms closed. Urbana took similar action and also shut its schools. While Dr. Walls of Champaign declared that the university should close for two weeks, to save the lives of the students, the motion was voted down. Mr. Hardt declared that to close the university would endanger the entire state.

The Urbana police rounded up a squad of students who had been exposed and took them to quarantine. Five deaths have resulted from the epidemic.
