HARRY P. SIMPSON,

An Eyewitness.
He was a nervous man. Most men are when they find themselves in a dentist's chair, but he was exceptionally so. The tooth that had to come out was quite a small affair—from the dentist's point of view. From the patient's it felt about as big as a house. He decided to have gas. The dentist, who was in a hurry to go to a tennis match, tried to persuade him to do without it, but he was determined. Then the dentist, in fervor of impatience, waited for his victim to lose consciousness, but the nervous man insisted on keeping one eye open, though he had enough gas to float an airship. Unable to contain himself any longer, the irate tooth puller exclaimed: "Let yourself go man. Shut your eye, you idiot!" Somewhere from the back blocks of dreamland the patient murmured sleepily: "Can't; it's glass!"—Exchange.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

CANNING AND PRESERVING.
Unfermented Grape Juice—To one gallon shelled grapes add one quart water. Boil, strain through flannel bag. To one gallon juice add one quart water and one pint sugar. Boil, seal while hot.
Sweet Pickle Cabbage—Take cabbage enough when it is wilted to fill two-gallon jar. Cut each cabbage into eight pieces, leaving piece of heart to each to hold it together. Make strong salt brine, pour over boiling hot, let stand twenty-four hours, then drain. Cover with cold water, let stand twenty-four hours, drain. Scald with weak vinegar with lump of alum (to make it brittle); let stand twenty-four hours and drain. Then place layer of cabbage in jar, then spices, and so on, till jar is full. Spices: Mustard, cloves, celery, nutmeg, cinnamon and teaspoon of turmeric. Take one gallon best cider vinegar, two pounds sugar; melt and pour over cabbage hot. If kept under vinegar will keep till cabbage comes again. Turmeric may be obtained at drug store; it gives cabbage a fine cream color.
Health Vinegar—Three gallons water, three pounds dark brown sugar. Directions: Boil together until sugar is dissolved. Put in large stone crock, let cool. Take large slice of bread, toast slowly on both sides; when cool, spread one side with two cakes Fleischman's compressed yeast and turn yeast side down on top of water in crock. Cover tightly. Set in warm place and when yeast is drawn to bottom of crock, vinegar is done. (Will keep pickles.) Takes about five weeks to make.

ENAMEL YOUR BED AT HOME.
First rub the matted paint smooth with fine sandpaper. Do this gently, so as not to roughen what paint remains upon the iron. If you can get it all off it will be better, for then you will have a uniform surface. This done, go all over the bedstead with white enamel paint, which is sold at paint shops and by some drug-gists. Use a broad brush and sweep it smoothly and evenly over the iron until all is covered. Let the first coat get perfectly dry before applying the second. Three coats may be necessary to make the whole of the dark iron white. The advantage of a white enamel apart from the pleasing effect is that it may be renewed when it becomes defaced and that it will be the better for each renewal.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 17 years old and have been keeping company with a young man 18 years old. He has asked me to marry him in two years. He is a very nice young man and says he loves me very much. Although I have given him occasion to be mad several times he has never got mad and is very true to me. But my mother has a dislike for him, although he is not to blame. He says in two years he will be able to keep us both comfortably. Would it be proper for me to marry him?
I used to go with a fellow with whom I quarreled. I have told him that I do not wish to have anything to do with him, but he persists in trying to change my opinion. Kindly advise me as to the best course to pursue. I love the first-mentioned fellow and don't you think that by the time I am 19 and he is 20 that I will know him well enough to marry him?
He is a Catholic and I am not. Do you think it would be wrong to marry him?
ANXIOUS EILEEN.

My dear, I do not think a girl of 17 is old enough to decide so important a thing as the selecting of a life companion. Girls of 22 or 25 are plenty young enough. Your mother loves you and wishes for your happiness. Let me suggest a very sensible course to pursue. Why call it an engagement? Just be friends. If when you are two years older you feel just as you do now and he still wishes to marry you and is earning enough to keep a wife, that will be time enough to talk of becoming engaged and married. The word engaged will make no difference; if you really love each other two years will make no difference in your feelings and you will be better able than you are now to know what you want to do. The fact that you have different religions need not necessarily make trouble, though it has done so in many cases. Years will help to straighten that out, too. If your mother sees you wish to do the wise, sane thing, and not become engaged now she will be more likely to approve if you are faithful to each other in two years—as you will be if you are really in love.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Don't you think that ten or just a few minutes after is a good time for a gentleman friend to go home. (2) Is twice a week too often to have a friend over when going to high school? (3) Do you think it proper to wear girl friends' jewelry if they have some of yours? (4) What colors are going to be worn this winter and what colors go with Auburn hair?
MRS. I AND MYSELF.

(1) I certainly do.
(2) I do not think girls and boys do their best work in school when they have dates on school nights. I strongly recommend only Saturday or Sunday engagements. Then the young people can get their lessons and get sleep enough to keep well. There is plenty of time for society later.
(3) There is nothing improper about it. If the jewelry has any value it is apt to be lost.
(4) Very dark myrtle green and dark brown "nigger head" brown, it is called, are the most fashionable colors. Auburn hair is lovely when the girl wears a dress just as near the shade of reddish brown of her hair as she can get. It is also beautiful with greens, myrtle, olive and blue. A very becoming waist would be dark green with touches of salmon pink.

these simple remedies do not relieve, a doctor should be consulted.

Good Breakfast Dish From Leftover Mashed Potatoes—Beat together one cup milk, one egg, one-half teaspoon salt, and left-over mashed potatoes. Then add one teaspoon baking powder and enough flour to make a good biscuit dough. Roll out one-fourth inch thick, cut into squares, fry in hot lard, serve with syrup or butter.
Bread Omelet—One slice bread soaked in one cup milk, yolks of five eggs, butter size of walnut, salt and pepper. Mix all together, then fold in whites that have been beaten stiff. Pour in hot iron spider and bake on top of stove until set, then put in oven and brown.
English Walnut Cake—One cup chopped walnuts, one cup granulated sugar, three-fourths cup butter, four eggs beaten separately, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon almond extract. Bake in moderate oven 40 minutes.
New Lemon Pie—First part: One tablespoon flour (heaping), one cup sugar, rind and juice of one lemon, butter size of large hickorynut (melted). Second part: Yolks of two eggs (beaten), one cup milk. Third part: Whites of the two eggs (beaten stiff). Stir in third part very carefully. This is new and delicious.
