CLUB HAS CLOSING RECEPTION.

Brave Face the Harry Alinworth home, was opened Saturday evening for members of the Moline Fortnightly club and their friends on the occasion of the closing reception of the club, the oldest woman's club in Moline, when about 100 filled the pretty flower-decked rooms and were received by members of the club, to hear Prof. F. M. Fling of the University of Nebraska speak on "The British Empire."

The club has been making a study of this empire during the year just closed, beginning with the geography of Great Britain, through the Anglo-Saxon invasion, the Norman conquest, the country's various wars, protectorates and rulers, to the present day—through the struggle of the year, so skillfully touched on by Prof. Fling Saturday night, was a dream of when the program for study was made up.

Never has a more enjoyable talk been given here than was Prof. Fling's, who crowded the history of centuries into a brief space in a most convincing way. He is on his way to the annual peace conference at Lake Mohonk, N. Y.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a young girl and I live out of town. Every morning I go to high school on the car. The conductor is a very sensible young fellow, good-looking and good-natured, and he has appealed to me very much indeed. To tell the truth, I am in love with him. I know I am too young for anything like this and I try to forget him by studying, and in my leisure time I read, write letters, but I cannot seem to forget him. He has a girl whom he whistles to every day as we pass in the car, and if I were of a jealous disposition I would be jealous of him, but I am not. How can I gain his affection now that I cannot forget him by occupying my mind with something else? Or should I keep on trying to forget him and torture myself? He is always gentlemanly and helps me off the car, and seldom fails to look back and smile after the car has started. Please advise me what to do. I do not want to tell my parents, as I fear they will make fun of me.

(2) I have dandruff and oily hair. Please tell me what to do for it. (3) About a week after I manicure my nails they crack and break. I have tried putting vasoline on them at night, but it does no good. How can I overcome this?

YOURS TRULY, (1) Almost every young girl is desperately in love with some man. The girl who worships vainly is more fortunate than the one whose hopes are realized, because her love does not lead her into foolish things. There is no respectable way in which you can become better acquainted with the conductor. In time you will cease to love him, but not until other interests enter your life. Read, study and seek the companionship of your friends; it will help some. I know that you suffer from an undercurrent of him in your thoughts no matter what you are doing. But in time this will go away. I assure you, and you will come out heart-whole and happy.

(2) Use the following dandruff cure

DELICACIES. New Omelet Souffle—Pound eight lumps of loaf sugar quite coarse and pour over this four tablespoons vanilla essence. Spread sugar on a piece of buttered or waxed paper and leave on a warm corner of gas range, to dry. Take six Jordan almonds, bake until crisp and golden brown color. Then pound them rather coarse, and mix with the vanilla and the sugar. Divide yolks from the whites of four strictly fresh eggs, and put the whites into a basin with two additional whites. Stir into the basin containing the four yolks three tablespoons powdered sugar and beat the mixture with a wooden spoon 10 minutes. Add gradually the grated rind of a small lemon. Now put a pinch of salt with the whites of the six eggs, whisk to a very stiff froth and stir lightly into the yolks. Butter a mold, pour mixture into it and bake immediately, in a quick oven, 10 minutes; just before it is served, scatter the sugar-vanilla nut mixture over the top. This sounds like lots of work, but after you have tasted this once you won't think so.

MILK "TIPS." Substitute for Cream—In case cream is required in certain recipes and only milk is available, cream can be made by warming milk and adding butter to the warm milk, allowing it to melt slowly. Stir occasionally. The more butter used the richer the cream. Cool and use when needed. The only difference between cream and milk is the butter fat and by adding butter you supply this lack.

Always rinse top of milk bottles carefully before removing stopper. These are exposed to all conditions of air as the driver makes his deliveries, and may become contaminated. Unusual Uses for Milk—(a) Use milk to fasten labels to jelly glasses, fruit jars, etc., when no paste is at hand. The labels will stick tightly and will come off. (b) Milk may be used to freshen linoleum. The effect is obtained as when salt water is used on carpets or matting.

Pasteurization of Milk—Place bottle in pan of boiling water after removing cap. Use just as deep a pan as possible.

APPETIZING MEXICAN DISH. Mexican Stuffed Peppers—Roast large bell peppers till the skin turns black, then rub off the black skin in cold water. Cut around stem and remove the seeds and coarse veins. For filling: Equal parts chopped pork and beef, and one heaping teaspoon chopped almonds and raisins, for each pepper. Add salt and close end of pepper with a wooden toothpick. For batter: Beat whites and yolks separately, then mix and add a little flour to make thin batter. Have a pan of boiling lard ready; dip peppers in batter, then into lard. Remove quickly and dip again in the batter, then into hot lard and fry to a light brown, keeping the peppers covered with the lard. These may be served with or without a sauce, but the real Mexican dish requires the following sauce: Grind to a pulp the seeds of peppers, one small white onion and two tomatoes; add salt—a troy-ounce and cook 10 minutes. If tomatoes have not much juice, add a little water and small piece of butter. Serve with sauce turned over peppers in deep dish.
