THE WAR TODAY

King Victor Emmanuel will issue today a proclamation to the Italian people, stating that Italy has been driven to war and appealing for popular support for the government's policy. Another royal proclamation will be addressed to the army and navy.

Although Italy and Austria-Hungary are virtually at war, no reports have been received thus far of actual hostilities. A train which crossed the frontier from Italy, however, was seized by Austrians, who arrested the train crew. Great patriotic demonstrations were held last night in Rome and Vienna and the opening of war is expected quickly, perhaps without the exchange of formal declarations.

Aside from the Italian situation, the point of greatest interest is central Galicia, where a battle of far-reaching importance is under way. The Russians are credited with progress on both flanks of the Austro-German forces, but apparently have not been able to menace their communications. The main struggle is along the San, from Przemyśl northward about sixty miles.

Although the Austrians and Germans apparently are making slow progress, Petrograd dispatches admit they retain the advantage.

An official statement from Petrograd states that attempts of Turkish forces to advance along the Black sea coast have failed. It is said the Russians compelled them to flee, and captured two towns.

BARNES DOES NOT GET ANY TEDDY'S COIN

Verdict in $50,000 Libel Suit Is Favorable to the Defendant.

FORTY BALLOTS TAKEN

Roosevelt Thanks Jurors and Assures Them They Will Never Regret Action.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 22.—The jury in the trial of William Barnes' suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt today returned a verdict in favor of the defendant after considering for more than eleven hours the question of placing all the costs of the action on the plaintiff. It is the belief of the jury everything Colonel Roosevelt charged is true and therefore the plaintiff, not having been libelled, is entitled to no damages.

The foreman of the jury, Warren W. Summers, announced that the verdict was for the defendant, and then the jury was polled. Ten jurors answered "for the defendant," then the clerk hesitated, called the name of Edward Burns and waited. Burns, a big, rosy-cheeked republican, stood up in his seat and in a deep voice said: "For the defendant." Juror No. 12 gave the same answer.

Before the jury came in the spectators in the crowded court room were warned that any demonstration would be met with severe punishment. Except for the voice of the clerk and jurors, the room was absolutely quiet until the name of Burns was called. When he announced that he, too, favored a verdict for the former president, the court room buzzed like a dynamo with voices.

Several persons in the court room stood up and waved their hands, but there was no outburst of applause.

Colonel Thanks Jurors.
After the announcement of the verdict attorneys for Mr. Barnes objected to its receipt. The objection was overruled, the jury was thanked by Justice Andrews and fled out into the jury room. Colonel Roosevelt broke off shaking hands with his counsel and several newspaper men whom he has known for several years, and hurried to the jury room. There he thanked the jury and shook hands with each member, and said:

"In my whole life I shall work in the interest of the public and none of you gentlemen shall ever have the chance to say that I have done otherwise."
The colonel was then photographed with the jury.

After the picture had been taken the colonel turned to the jury and continued: "I am more moved by this verdict than it is possible for me to express. None of you, I assure you, will ever have cause to regret your action. I am especially gratified that such a verdict came from a jury composed of men of every political faith."

New York, May 22.—More than 2,500 passengers were booked for passage to Europe today on five steamships leaving here. The vessels included the St. Paul of the American line, with 750 passengers, among whom were more than a hundred Americans. William Marconi, the wireless inventor, who has been summoned back to Italy for war service, was one of the passengers registered on the St. Paul.

Crowds of enthusiastic Italians gathered at the pier of the Italian line steamship Stampalia, on which 800 passengers, many of them reservists returning to Italy to enlist for the war, were leaving.

The new Russian-American line steamship Czaritza carried 550 passengers and 8,000 tons of cargo for Archangel, Russia. About 250 passengers were booked for the French line steamship Niagara, which also carried mail and cargo for Bordeaux.

The Norwegian-American liner Kristianfjord, leaving for Bergen, carried about 375 passengers, most of whom were Scandinavians.

Sixty immigrants who were to have been deported to Russia today on board the Czaritza were allowed to remain here owing to the appeal which had been made to President Wilson that their deportation at this time would subject them to the dangers of war. Many women and children were in the number and the immigrants had been gathered from various Atlantic ports.

The hatters voted, however, to raise a fund for the relief of the individuals whose homes and bank accounts have been attached to satisfy the judgment.

SOLDIERS DIE BY HUNDREDS IN COLLISION

Three Trains Come Together at Carlisle, England, Fire Following.

WOUNDED ARE BURNED

Fifty-Two Out of 500 Troops Answer Roll Call After the Accident.

Carlisle, Eng., May 22.—No fewer than 300 persons were killed this morning on the Caledonian railway at Greta, near this city, when three trains collided.

The final list of dead may be considerably greater than first estimates, for it is believed many persons received fatal injuries. The total casualties probably will reach four hundred, as the list of more or less seriously injured is very numerous.

One of the three trains was a troop train, another was a local and the third was the express from London to Glasgow.

Fire broke out among the wreckage and added appallingly to the horror of the scene.

Assistance arrived quickly. The fire force was called out and after getting the flames under control the firemen joined in extricating the dead and wounded.

The adjoining fields soon had the appearance of an immense mortuary, with the dead, the dying and the injured laid out in ranks.

The dead mostly are soldiers. The troop train collided first with a local train from Carlisle and before the occupants were able to get clear of the wreckage of this accident, the express from London to Glasgow crashed into them, and locomotives and cars, shattered and splintered, were hurled about in confusion.

Fire broke out and spread rapidly through the wreckage. It was soon burning so fiercely that rescuers were driven back to wait for the fire brigades.

These were brought up with all speed, but before the fire was put out many of those pinned under the debris burned to death.

Five hundred men of one regiment were on the troop train. When the roll was called after the wreck only 52 officers and men responded. Numbers of others, however, were engaged in caring for their wounded comrades.

Some of the victims were so mangled that their rescue was impossible. Several who were extricated died soon after.

Doctors Brave Flames.
Doctors performed heroic services, braving the flames in their efforts to help those pinned in the wreckage. Dr. Edwards responded to the appeals of two soldiers fastened by the legs. Facing the flames, he amputated both legs of one soldier and one leg of the other, as this method offered their only hope of escape. One of the soldiers died from the shock.

By 5 o'clock this afternoon 73 bodies had been recovered from the wreckage.

An added hazard for the rescuers was the explosion of cartridges in the belts of soldiers imprisoned in the burning wreckage, which caused bullets to fly about. Ammunition wagons on the rear of the train were disengaged barely in time to prevent their being blown up.
