

HALT SANATORIUM TILL COUNTY ACTS

City Commission Agrees to Await Submission of Larger Proposition to the People.

NO CONTRACT LET IN MEANTIME

Plea of Supervisor Griswold for Cooperation With Moline and County Has Effect.

After its many angles and tangles the city tuberculosis sanatorium site controversy will subside for a time, at least, until the board of supervisors and the people of the county have an opportunity to express themselves on the proposition for a county institution the fight which has been waged here for some time past will be abandoned. The city commission assumed an attitude of "watchful waiting" when the matter was brought up last evening and Mayor McConchale said that the council would give the county an opportunity to act first.

After a talk by Supervisor M. O. Griswold of Rock Island, who outlined the plan now on foot whereby the county board will be asked to submit the proposition of a county tuberculosis sanatorium to a vote of the people, Mayor McConchale said: "The people of Rock Island voted for a city tuberculosis sanatorium. The commission will not go on record setting aside the will of the people. We'll abide along as we are now until the board and county can go ahead."

In an interview later the mayor declared that the commission could not have gone on record on the matter of acceding the move for a county institution because the people of the city had voted for a city sanatorium. He said that it would look best to wait until the county board had voted for it. He also said that the county board, by taking no action, would avoid the time when it was finally decided at the polls whether or not the people of the county wanted a county institution.

The contemplated fight on the sanatorium contract did not develop last evening. Through an agreement it was decided earlier in the day to let the present controversy drop for the time being and it is hoped plans for a county institution will reconcile all factions.

Believes County Plan Will Carry.

Superintendent Griswold, in outlining the plan for a county sanatorium, discussed from his interview with Moline and Rock Island officials and physicians that he believed there would be but few votes cast in opposition to a county institution. He said: "The law makes it mandatory for the board to submit to the people or the county the question of whether or not the county shall maintain a tuberculosis sanatorium. I believe if you put it to the people it will carry. And it might be more advantageous than a city institution."

NEW TREASURER IS NAMED BY COUNCIL

William G. Johnston.

William G. Johnston, assistant cashier at the Rock Island Savings bank, was selected city treasurer by unanimous vote of the city council last night. He replaces Oscar O. Litt, of the Peoples' National bank, who has been in custody of the city's funds for the last four years. With the selection of Mr. Johnston approximately $50,000 of the city funds will be transferred from the Peoples' National bank to the Rock Island Savings. It is customary at each change in administration to name a new treasurer. Mr. Litt served four years and M. T. Rudiger, commissioner of accounts and finances pays him a high compliment as to his work.

valuation of Rock Island county property.

It is figured between $22,000,000 and $23,000,000. A two-mill tax for a sanatorium will give the county $47,000 net annum at present. The city only gets $7,200 at present per year for the sanatorium. Mayor M. R. Carlson of Moline was well impressed with the county sanatorium proposition. It has received the hearty support also of the medical men both in Rock Island and Moline. Now if the city builds its sanatorium, that knocks out any chance for a county institution. "I am going to bring this matter before the board at the September meeting."

AGAIN MISS FROST BY A CLOSE MARGIN

Another narrow escape from frost was experienced last night when the mercury went down to 45. It is possible that there was a light frost in some of the valleys though none was reported in Rock Island. In any event the freeze if there was one, did not do any damage. Warmer weather is in sight for the next few days.

CITY ATTORNEY TO HIKE A LA WESTON

City Attorney J. R. Scott intends having a "regular" vacation this year. After studying up on outdoor life generally he has arrived at west. He believes the best of them all when it comes to getting the best vacation results, pleasure and vigor. He is to take a 150-mile hike through New Hampshire and Maine. Next Thursday in company with Mrs. Scott and his brother, W. W. Scott, Davenport attorney, he will leave for Plymouth, N. H., via rail. Arriving there the party will start out on a hike and will go to Portland, Me. Enroute they will stop at Mount Washington. They will be gone two weeks.

BIG CITY LURES; PAIR STEAL AUTO

Rock Island and Moline Young Men Held for Theft of A. Greenburg's Automobile.

CONFESS AFTER ARREST HERE

Start Out for Chicago With Money Earned With Machine, But Abandon It at Rochelle.

Lure of the bright lights of the big city has spelled the downfall of two young men, one of whom resides in Rock Island and the other in Moline. The pair, nabbed by the Rock Island police yesterday, has confessed to stealing an automobile from Abraham Greenburg, 425 Fifth street. They gave their names as Ray Lancaster, Fourth avenue between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets, this city, and Charles Dauterfeld, 1614 Forty-ninth street, Moline.

At the preliminary hearing this morning they were bound over to the grand jury by Police Magistrate C. J. Smith, with bonds fixed in the sum of $1,000. To the charge of larceny which was preferred against them by the owner of the car, they made no defense, waiting the examination. The police had no trouble getting a confession from them.

They secured the car from Greenburg, who operates a jitney line, while he was in Moline Saturday evening. They abandoned it in Rochelle the same night after they had proceeded that far in the car, when a fire was punctured. They were bound for Chicago at the time and placed the machine in a garage. They continued their journey by rail.

Took Car for Hire.

Both are 24 years old. Dauterfeld returned from Chicago first. He was nabbed when he got here. Lancaster followed and he too was taken on his arrival. Following is the story Greenburg told in police court this morning.

"They came to me Saturday night and told me that they had a party to take out in a car for four hours for which they would pay $9. I agreed to pay them for their services and was to get the money I wanted for them to get back at 11 o'clock that night. They never came back. I heard them talking about going to Chicago so the next morning I called at Dauterfeld's home in Moline. His mother said she thought they were in Chicago."

Detective Tom Cox testified as to the arrest and the recovery of the machine, which is valued at $400. He with Detectives Schneyer and Kinsey and Officer Kinney made the arrests. The car was brought back from Rochelle yesterday.

Both young men were taken to the county jail. Neither was able to furnish bonds. It is said that the pair took the party on the trip Saturday night before leaving and thus secured money to finance their visit in Chicago.

COE FARM LEAGUE TO HEAR AN OREGON MAN

The Township Farm Improvement league will meet at Fairfield school house, three miles northeast of Port Byron, next Friday evening. Emil Bracker, who has been with the Oregon State university for the last two years, will give a talk. A report of the delegates to the Mercer county farm meeting, held at Albia, will also be given. An invitation is extended to all interested in the work to attend the meeting.

FARMERS ARE MONTH LATE IN THRESHING

A drive over several hundreds of miles through the best farming districts of western Illinois during the last week showed that threshing is not nearly completed, though the first of September is at hand and by all the rules the work should have been virtually completed a month ago. Thousands upon thousands of acres not only of oats, but of wheat and rye as well, still stand in the shocks. In very few cases has grain been stacked. Thousands of acres in western Illinois never will be threshed at all because the grain is not worth the effort to save it, being rotted and moulded from weeks of rain. There is practically no bright straw to be found, most stacks where threshers have been showing the color of weather-beaten stubble. Grain in nearly all cases is stained. If not actually masty when it comes from the separator.

SANTLEY HERE SUNDAY
Joseph Santley and the numerous company which has been supporting him throughout the summer at the Garrick theatre, Chicago, in the musical fantasy, "All Over Town," will be seen at the Illinois theatre in that musical entertainment next Sunday night, for one night only. Mr. Santley is now recognized as one of the foremost musical comedy stars of the American stage. Also he has attained the distinction of writing the book of his own production, in this manner emulating the success of that other author, George M. Cohan, "All Over Town," which more nearly resembles the "serge" type of musical entertainment than any other, is the product of his own pen. It tells a fantastic story dealing with the rejuvenation of an old man by the magic intervention of an assistant to the traditional ruler of the lower regions. This story, however, is frequently so aided to permit of the introduction of a diversified series of singing and dancing numbers in which the graceful and youthful Mr. Santley has the assistance of a group of charming young women even more youthful than himself. If the preliminary announcements are to be believed, much of the comedy is furnished by Frank Moulan, in the role of the amiable assistant to his aquatic majesty. This always agreeable comedian makes a distinct creation of this character. It is said. Others in the company include Miss Beatrice Allen, Miss Ruth Randall, Miss Jane MacArthur, Miss Lillian Lee, Miss Marie Callahan, Frederic Santley, Saranoff, Arthur Holt and Johnny Boyle. Further information concerning the piece sets forth that the music is by Silvio Hein, composer of "When Dreams Come True," and a series of musical comedies in which Miss Marie Cahill appeared; that there are eight scenes, and that the costumes in which the chorus appears were designed by Melville Ellis.

Your home is what you make it—a place of comfort, beauty and contentment—in which you take pride and from which you realize pleasure, or it is nothing more than a mere house, expressionless, characterless, uninteresting, cheerless, uninviting—depending upon what is put into it.
