STATE FAIR WILL HAVE BIG PURSES

Annual Springfield Show. With Many Novel Features, to Open Friday of This Week.

ENTRY LISTS HAVE BEEN CLOSED

Elaborate Plan of Street Decoration and Light Illumination is to Be Carried Out.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 12.—The offices of the state board of agriculture are now located on the state fair grounds, in preparation for the fair, which opens Friday.

Practically all the entry lists have been closed. The time from now until the opening will be devoted to getting the exhibits into place. Secretary Davidson reports that he is delighted with the prospects for the fair, and announces that he expects it to be the best on record.

The grounds themselves are in almost perfect condition, having been carefully groomed and the buildings, exhibits are now arriving. There will be a great increase in number during the next two days.

Many of the live stock exhibits are already on the grounds, particularly the horses. Many of the cattle exhibits are expected by today.

Race horses, too, have been arriving, and stationed in their barns on the grounds, for preliminary workouts. The racing this year will be more of a feature than ever, and there will be from five to six races a day.

$25,000 in Prizes.
A total of $25,000 in purses has been offered for the races, and special purses for $1,000 are up for the racing and trotting events.

The cattle, swine and sheep exhibits, which were barred last year on account of the hoof and mouth disease, will be back again this year, with larger exhibits and more varieties than ever before. Many of these are already on the grounds.

Secretary Conking of the Commercial association, reports that the information bureau on the court house square, will be opened next Friday, to furnish information for fair visitors.

At the bureau, records will be kept not only of lodging houses, and hotels, but of private families, throughout the city, who are taking roomers and boarders during fair week. The visitor to the city can thus more easily find his way about a place to eat, and a place to sleep.

Decorations Elaborate.
The Commercial association also announces that the day decorations will be more elaborate than ever before. The system used this year will be strings of five or six large flags, strung across the streets. One row will be in the state fair colors, of red, green and orange; the next in the national colors, and the third of American flags. These will be strung alternately, and will be placed in the main thoroughfares in the city.

The night illuminations will be on the same plan as last year, with festooned effects across the streets, with five strings to the block. These will be strung on the main streets, and are expected to be in place by Thursday night. The decorations will be in place by the middle of next week.

The state fair schools will all be in full swing next week. The girls' school opened last week, and will end its session on the opening day of the fair, when the girls prepare the governor's luncheon. The boys' school opens the day before the fair, and continues through the week. The purpose of the boys' school is to give the boys of Illinois the opportunity to avail themselves of the remarkable educational features of the fair, particularly along agricultural lines. The girls' school is a liberal education in domestic economy.

Many Attractions.
Never before have such a list of attractions been offered at the fair. To begin, not one, but four armies have been engaged. It has been announced that contracts have been signed with four European war type birdmen, who will be on the grounds for afternoon and evening flights, on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 15 and 16.

The most sumptuous exhibition of the whole fair will be, perhaps, the Theatre-Duffield production with fireworks of the ballet spectacle, "The Last Days of Pompeii." Twenty Springfield girls will be presented in the spectacle. The program likewise includes the sinking of a man-of-war by a submarine and a battle between the United States battleship and a flag ship of the Mexican navy. The fireworks will start the first Monday of the fair and will continue nightly until Friday.

As for danger, the aeroplane artists will pale in comparison with the auto polo games. The game is played on a small, light, high-powered racing car, exactly as horse polo is played. Two very able teams will compete, and their motto is "Too fast for the movies."

Educational Exhibit Interesting.
Of the special exhibits, none will be more interesting this year than the educational exhibit, which will occupy the entire top floor of the Industrial building. Its purpose is to illustrate educational methods from all the institutions in the state. One of the features will be a bee exhibit, gotten up by E. A. Baxter of Springfield, which will show exactly how honey is made, from the flower to the comb.

Besides the downtown information bureau on the court house square there will be an information stand on the grounds conducted under the state board of agriculture. This is to aid visitors in finding their way about the grounds and to and from the fair.

As an added safeguard and convenience to fair visitors, a complete system of supervision by the police will be maintained. There will be ample police, fire and hospital service, with two squads of men on the grounds, in uniform, and plain clothesmen. A hospital corps will be stationed in the exposition building.

Young Wife Dies.
(Special to The Argus.)
Muscatine, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Frances Ethel Brewer, 18 years old, died at Hershey hospital at 5 o'clock Sunday morning from hemorrhage and shock after a short illness. Mrs. Brewer's residence is one mile north of Eliza, Ill. She was born March 7, 1898, at Eliza. Her parents were Mr.

and Mrs. Edwin H. Scudder. Funeral services were held from the Union chapel near the Illinois village at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Burial was made in Union cemetery.

ROCK ISLANDERS AT WESTERN BARBECUE

Colorado Springs, Sept. 9.—Editor The Argus: We attended a barbecue today, a Masonic barbecue, given by the Royal Arch Masons of Colorado Springs to the visiting chapter Masons from other parts of the state.

The gathering was in North Cheyenne canon, on a beautiful mountain picnicking ground. The supper was served at 5, that is, that hour marked the beginning of the meal but the sun had set in a glory of color and the moon had risen in unclouded beauty before the last happy picnicker arose from a most satisfying meal.

This is what he had: lamb and beef roasted to a turn in a long trench, sweet corn cooked in great tubs on the boards covering the meat, buttered buns, cheese, pickles and coffee.

And we had "the Colorado appetite" for we had been in the open all day. The El Jebel shrine band furnished the music and when a chorus of men's voices joined in "Onward Christian Soldiers," "The Sweet By and By" and other old and loved songs you would have felt, no doubt, as we did, glad to be there.

It was a care free, happy gathering of families and of young people who staid for the evening's dance and was a striking contrast to a meeting held in Colorado Springs earlier in the week.

We were here at that time, also, and had just reached our room after dinner when speeding automobiles and ambulances passed in steady succession for over half an hour on their way to one of the principal hospitals.

The tragedy of Monday's "boxing contest" has resulted in one death and, undoubtedly, will mean lifelong invalidity for many others of the 211 who were seriously hurt.

And this fair city is in mourning that its voice of protest against that meeting was not heeded.
MRS. L. C. DAUGHERTY.

ABRAHAMS OPEN NEW DEPARTMENT

Fashionable Millinery Occupies Second Floor of Building.

Women of the tri-cities are thronging the Abraham store in Davenport this week to inspect the new millinery department, just opened under the management of Hervis S. Abraham, and have pronounced it one of the most modern and well equipped departments west of New York. The entire second floor has been remodeled and is now devoted exclusively to millinery.

A complete outfit of massive mahogany fixtures has been installed in the department, comprised of huge tables, display cases and large mirrors along both sides of the room. At the front an idea, copied from the most exclusive shops in New York, has been installed. The entire front of the room is composed of three huge plate glass windows, and here four booths have been built and dressing tables, mirrors and chairs have been placed for the use of patrons while trying on the various models. Every piece of furniture and the fixtures are of mahogany.

At the rear of the large room, another room has been partitioned off as a stock and workroom, where a number of trimmers are at work. The entire department has been done with much care and the air of elegance and exclusiveness is extremely attractive.

Hervis S. Abraham, who is in personal charge of the department, has just returned from New York, where he completed the purchasing of the stock for the new department.—(Adv.)

The Baker Pays Her Gas Bills

Two women were comparing notes the other day. "My gas bills are frightfully high," complained one. "Mine are almost nothing," laughed the other. "I let the baker do my cooking."

Women are getting away from the idea that they must bake at home. They are serving foods like Holland Rusk, which are ready to eat and save time and bother. You can eat Holland Rusk three times a day—for breakfast instead of toast or hot breads, for dinner with fruit as shortcake and for supper with creamed meats or vegetables. With Holland Rusk you can serve the old standbys in new ways that make an acceptable change.

For Dutch lunches and picnics try this: Holland Rusk Dutch Cheese Sandwiches
Spread buttered halves of Holland Rusk with Dutch cheese into which some chives and caraway seed have been mixed. You'll like this with any beverage.

Another delicious Dutch Delicacy is Windmill Cookies, baked by the bakers of Holland Rusk. Windmill Cookies are better than candy and as clean and wholesome as if made in your own kitchen. Try a package today.

Phone your gaffer for a package of Holland Rusk and try some of the many ways of serving it. Recipe book free if you write Holland Rusk Co., Holland, Mich.
