

CHICAGO THEN AND NOW.

BILL NYE WRITES ON THE WESTERN METROPOLIS.

How Loozoo, the Daughter of the Great Chief, Has Given Place to the Pale Face Beauty—Interesting Experience of the Writer With La Grippe.

[Copyright, 1889, by Edgar W. Nye.]

The city of Chicago has undoubtedly suffered a good deal by reason of the unintentionally light and flippant manner in which her society and literature have been treated by Eugene Field during the past five years.

Mr. Field has not done this maliciously, but thoughtlessly, for he has a warm heart, though rather cold feet, it is said.

He has at various times touched upon the foibles of a few of the Parvenu people of Chicago and conveyed the idea that there were more of them than there really are.

All of this has been done, however, in a pleasant spirit of banter, well calculated to awaken mirth and harmless laughter among those who were not referred to and a hollow, ghostly smile on the faces of those who were.

WHAT A HALF CENTURY HAS BROUGHT. Chicago is in latitude 41 degs., 52 min., 20 sec.; longitude, 87 degs., 35 min. w., with a lake exposure which is especially noticeable at that season of the year.

for a day at a time without jolting your soul into the soles of your boots, and you will see some handsome houses and magnificent public and commercial buildings, too.

The grippe is getting to be an old theme, and so I will touch lightly on it here. I'm just convalescing, and if it will let me alone I will let it alone.

This symptom was followed by feverish fever, cough, hoarseness, dimness of sight, loss of sleep and hair, pains in the joints, back and chest.

My wife had my revolver and gave the Tough on Rats to the delighted and overjoyed rats. I imagined that I was going to die of heart failure or softening of the brain.

Finally I lost consciousness and expected to awake in some neat and undecorated country. When I did awake it was 1890.

The boy who brings my telegrams was wished a happy New Year, the district messenger boy, fifty of him, did the same.

Then I went back to bed again. Everybody wishes me a happy New Year—but so much per wish.

The holidays in Paris are the most and sickening of the year, for then all the sad and sore eyed multitude are turned loose on the streets.

The National Flower at Last. The little 7-year-old daughter of a leading physician in a neighboring city heard the question as to what flower would make the best national emblem.

Chicago does not pity herself. She does not feel sorry for herself. She accepts her humble lot, pays the park tax on it and goes on about her business.

RAPIDS CITY.

A. J. Johnson is still confined to his home.

Mr. Johnson is a student in the telegraph office. Holidays are over and everyone is getting down to every-day life.
